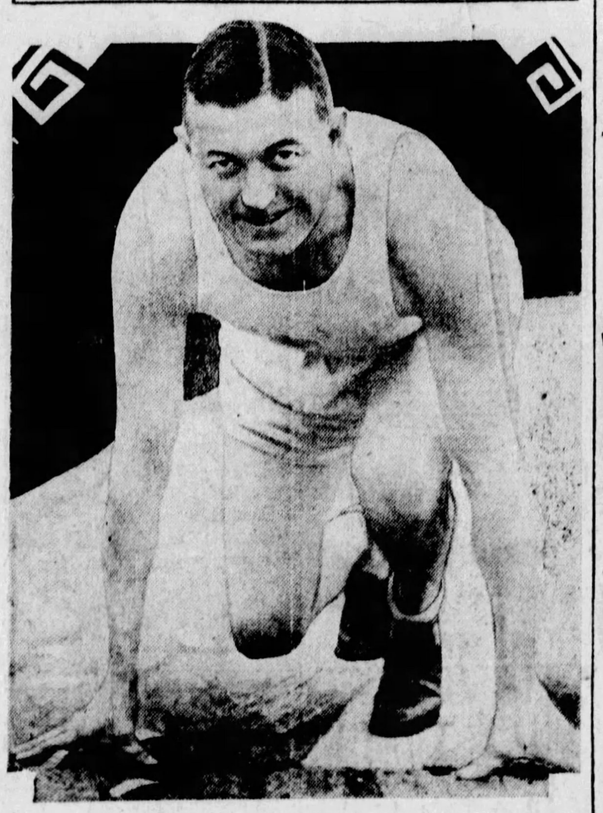
QUITS PULPIT FOR DESK



THE REV. HAROLD CUTBILL

Cutbill, known as the "Flying Parson," who has competed against most of the leading short distance runners of the country and who placed fourth last night in the Newark A. C. 1,000-yard run, announces today he's leaving his Seekonk (R. I.) pulpit to enter business.

Today

We're Nice, to Britain.
Mr. Gates, Judge Gary.
The Weeping Racket.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE Pope formally announces a pact with Mussolini's Italian government, restoring in part the Pope's temporal power, abolished by Garibaldi, and adjusting long-standing differences between the Vatican and Italy's government.

HISTORIANS will consider this the most important news of 1929.

The Pope's holdings of land will be increased and $105,000,000 will be paid to him in cash and bonds.

The new papal state will have its own coinage, railway station, telegraph, telephone and postoffice departments.

THE Federal Reserve Bank, acting as financial mentor to the people, succeeded in jarring Stock Exchange values yesterday.

At the same time, receiving sympathetically agents of the Bank of England, and discussing in a friendly spirit the establishment of a $200,000,000 fund for the British in America, our financial authorities comfort our British brothers, greatly improving sterling exchange.

NOW if British financial authorities will interest themselves in the welfare of American stockholders and speculators, everything will be gay. But they won't.

THE Rev. Mr. Gates, long business assistant of John D. Rockefeller, who died yesterday in Arizona, gave away many Rockefeller millions, and was influential in the foundation of the University of Chicago. He was president of 13 corporations controlled by Mr. Rockefeller, outside of the oil business, and always earnest in protecting Mr. Rockefeller's interests.

THE late Judge Gary, who used long ago to borrow large sums of Rockefeller money through Mr. Gates for the steel company, said:

"Gates would always begin by suggesting a loan smaller and interest rate higher than you wanted. In the end, he was always obliging."

JUDGE GARY and the Rev. Mr. Gates are doubtless conversing now in a realm where there is no borrowing, with or without interest. It must seem very strange, perhaps a little dull, to them.

COMMERCE has its romantic spots. Long Island police are rounding up a group of "weepers." These young women, impersonating Irish colleens, ring door bells and burst into tears, offering for sale wonderful old Irish lace that belonged to their grandmothers. A wholesaler in Jamaica supplies the cheapest kind of machine-made lace.

This is called the "weeping" method.

G. B. SHAW'S new play, called "The Apple Cart," describes political conditions 100 years hence. If Mr. Shaw could live a hundred years, two things would surprise him.

First, he would see a political condition of which he never dreamed, based on industrial and scientific achievement and greatly increased wealth.

Second, he would find a world in which the names of George Bernard Shaw and Rudyard Kipling would be as much out of fashion as Bouguereau's paintings are now.

JOSE DE LEON TORAL, who murdered President-elect Obregon, refused a reprieve by Mexico's Supreme Court, will be executed unless the new president, Portes Gil, should intervene.

TORAL, requesting permission to receive the last rites of the church, orders his baby, born last week, baptized Miguel Humberto, names of two brothers executed for the assassination of Gen. Obregon.

WINTHROP W. ALDRICH, of the John D. Rockefeller, Jr., proxy committee, says the Rockefeller side now has 51 per cent of the stock of the Standard Oil of Indiana and will defeat Col. Stewart in the approaching meeting.

Col. Stewart's friends deny it. They say that the stockholders will retain Col. Stewart, under whose management their company has increased in value from $170,000,000 to more than a billion dollars.

HINDUS continue stabbing Mohammedans, and Mohammedans continue shooting Hindus and knocking them on the head in Bombay riots.

Meanwhile fewer than 100,000 British troops in India, largely natives, continue ruling 300,000,000 Mohammedans and Hindus that don't know enough to drop their religious warfare.

THE so-called Spanish influenza, born of the war, continues to remind the world that war is never profitable.

In France one in five has influenza. In Prague burials are a week behind schedule. Churches hold burial services every 15 minutes, and there is a shortage of priests and grave diggers. All schools are closed.

Mexican Assassin To Die Tomorrow

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Relatives of Jose De Leon Toral will be permitted to visit him today for probably the last time. The slayer of Gen. Alvaro Obregon had not been transferred to the death cell this morning, but he probably will be sent there as soon as Dr. Jose Manuel Puig-Casaurane, governor of the federal district, has set the time for his execution. A police firing squad will execute Toral tomorrow morning inside the penitentiary.

Blind Preacher Gets One Year for Bigamy

MARION, ILL., Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Joseph M. Benton, 51, blind preacher, whose marriage to an 11-year-old girl was annulled, pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy here yesterday. He was sentenced to one to five years in the penitentiary.

Officers told the court Benton had tried to commit suicide and a constant guard had kept watch pending a grand jury indictment. Efforts to obtain a sanity hearing for Benton failed.

U. S. PROBE ASKED, STOCKS STILL FALL

By W. S. COUSINS,
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Fond hopes of the bulls in the stock market for a rally in prices went glimmering today as selling orders piled into the market, money supplies were withdrawn, and the call loan rate shot up from 6 to 9 per cent.

A feeble rally in the first hour was cheerful news for the bulls, prices of a dozen or more of the well known copper, electrical and steel stocks recovering from 1 to 4 points of yesterday's losses.

STREET STILL UNEASY

But Wall street was uneasy over the money market situation, with a raise in the New York Reserve Bank rate looming for the early part of next week, and the reserve board

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Resolutions were introduced in the Senate and House today seeking information about the recent warning of the Federal Reserve Board against loans for speculative purposes.

Representative Black (Dem.), of New York, asked that the House Banking Committee investigate the board's statement, given out Wednesday night.

Senator Heflin (Dem.), Alabama, introduced a resolution requesting the board to give the reasons for the recent increase in the re-discount rates and to suggest legislation which would tend to correct the evils in speculation complained of in the board's statement.

The Alabama senator asked immediate consideration of his measure, but it went over when Senator person were set up by Guy W. Brown, churchman and former banker and state senator of Fayette county, to cover up his operations in two Fayette banks, according to testimony today in Federal Court, where Brown is being tried for alleged embezzlement of about $150,000.

E. E. Smith, cashier of the First National Bank of Webster, one of the two banks which collapsed with Brown's arrest, told of 10 notes which Brown cashed, totaling $35,000. The notes were made out by "D. M. Feichert," who never was proved to have existed, and C. M. Swift, who eventually denied to the bank directors ever signing the notes, Smith testified. Brown had described both men as "wealthy Uniontown coal men," Smith added.

BOVE FOUND GUILTY IN TAX EVASION SUIT

After deliberating 35 minutes a jury in Federal Court today found Joseph Bove, described in testimony as holding the East End district liquor concession, guilty of defrauding the government out of more than $70,000 income tax.

Judge Nelson A. McVicar denied a motion by Attorney W. H. Coleman, at the conclusion of the government's case, that a verdict of not guilty be directed by the court.

Bove was quoted by a Federal income tax agent yesterday as saying he held the liquor concession for East End. He is charged with evading payment of more than $70,000 income tax from 1924 to 1927 inclusive.

Fred Stratman, another alleged tax-dodger, signed a plea of no defense today to defrauding the government out of $298 tax. Attorney C. B. Prichard obtained a postponement of disposition pending outcome of Stratman's trial next week in the Twenty-third Ward rum conspiracy charge. Six other of 12 defendants in tax evasion cases have been convicted or have pleaded no defense.

GEORGIA TECH GRID STAR IS INELIGIBLE

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Frank Speer, star tackle of Georgia Tech's football team last fall, has been declared ineligible for 1929, Coach William A. Alexander announced today.

The faculty committee refused to reinstate Speer, who was suspended shortly before the season ended last year. At that time, however, no official word of his suspension would be given, the authorities merely declaring the big tackle was on the "injured" list.

WALKER MAY GET LOUGHRAN BATTLE

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, may get his long-sought chance at the light-heavyweight title, if Patsy Harmon can arrange a match with Tommy Loughran, the titleholder. Harmon said today he was anxious to open his new sports arena with a championship contest March 12, and that he was trying to bring Loughran and Walker together.

Walker has been gunning for the light heavyweight title for two years. He invaded the light-heavyweight division in two matches in Chicago, knocking out Mike McTigue in one round and then beating Paul Berlenbach in 10 rounds. Both were former holders of the light-heavyweight title.

Armed Robber Holds Pursuers at Bay, Flees

An armed robber held up two women in the real estate office of J. C. Nock, 607 Sandusky street, opposite No. 46 Engine Company, and escaped with $35 after holding four city firemen and a dozen pedestrians at bay shortly before noon today.

FARRELL

Flashing a revolver, the Negro had forced Mrs. Louis Hein, of 611 Melrose street, a customer, and Miss Mary Marty, 23, of 4202 Geneva street, a stenographer, into a rear room.

Seizing a folder containing insurance policies and money from the front counter, he ran out, ignoring an open safe containing several hundred dollars.

Close on the robber's heels came the two women who screeamed for aid.

Firemen in the engine house grabbed pickaxes and started after the Negro.

The Negro ran down Sandusky street toward the river. When his pursuers gained on him, witnesses say, he wheeled around and drawing his revolver, shouted, "I'll shoot the first man that comes near me."

HUNTER

DEER

He then turned again and ran, disappearing in an alley.

Search of cellars and alleys in the vicinity failed to reveal trace of the fugitive. The folder, containing policies, but with the money gone, was found a block from the holdup scene.

In the crowd that pursued the Negro were Capt. Hugh Hunter, Engine Company No. 46, Truck Capt. James Farrell and Jean Deer, plumber, of 518 Sandusky street. It was Capt. Farrell who found the insurance policies.

$50,000 Gems Stolen From Woman in Fla.

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Police late yesterday announced that Mr. and Mrs. David L. Sacks, residents of Newark, N. J., vacationing here, reported they have been robbed of $50,000 in jewels from their hotel room. Sacks is president of Louis Sacks' Inc., of Newark, a large steel and iron firm. Mrs. Sacks reported she wore the jewels to a night club last Friday night and upon her return to the hotel, locked them in her trunk.

His wife, ill for some time, was sent to Magee Hospital. In her absence, Frank did the best he could to care for the children.

His wife was to leave the hospital Wednesday.

WIFE LEAPS TO DEATH

Frank, with his home duties, was a bit late in keeping his appointment to get his wife out of the hospital. One hour went by, then two—and Mrs. Lesjack, already depressed by her illness and the delay, could not understand.

She ran to a fourth-story window and leaped to her death.

HUSBAND FOUND DEAD

Friends in the Lesjak home were preparing funeral arrangements for the wife and caring for the motherless children the best they could, and had missed the husband for several hours.

One of the undertakers began a search for Lesjak and discovered the body. Lesjak was 45 years old. The nine children range in age from a baby to a 19-year-old son.

FANNY BRICE WEDS THIRD TIME IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(INS.)—Fannie Brice did it again this afternoon.

And after Mayor Jimmy Walker married the former wife of "Nicky" Arnstein to William Rose (Rosenberg) in his office at City Hall, the mayor kissed the bride.

"Ouch," exclaimed a cameraman.

"It didn't hurt a bit," said the Mayor.

Fannie Brice is singing in "Fioretta," musical comedy, and a wedding party will take place after the performance tonight. This is her third marriage, she having divorced Frank White and Arnstein.

The bride wore a blue chiffon velvet skirt and a costume blouse of crepe with a green and black design with tinsel thread. She wore a broadcloth coat and a kit fox fur. Her mother, Mrs. Rose Borach, attended her.

The groom was dressed in a blue sack suit. Ballard McDonald, a fellow song writer, was his best man. Jay Brennan, of "Fioretta," also was at the ceremony.

"Do I have to give you $2?" asked Rose of the mayor.

"No, I'll make Fanny do that," said the mayor.

"Suppose I give you a dollar now and see how it turns out," said Rose.

Somebody started whistling the wedding march and everybody joined in as the bridal couple scampered down City Hall stairs as the movie cameras clicked.

TWO MEN, WOMAN JAILED IN LOTTERY

The severest sentences growing out of the county vice probe were handed down bomb-like in Criminal Court by Judge James B. Drew today when he sent a woman and two men, confessed lottery operators, to jail for six months to two years.

The defendants were Mrs. Mary Shaffer, of Castle Shannon road, Mt. Lebanon, alleged owner of the so-called Louisiana state lottery; Henhy Recker, of 107 Grove street, Carrick, and James C. Murray, of Philadelphia, associated with her in a pool that was said to involve thousands of dollars monthly.

$1,000 FINES ADDED

Judge Drew also fined the three $1,000 each. They had pleaded guilty to operating a lottery.

Mrs. Shaffer declared she inherited the operation of the lottery from her husband when he died three years ago. Recker's defense was that he had promised the dying man that he would take care of and aid Mrs. Shaffer in every way possible.

STATE MONEY BILL TERMS APPROVED

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 8.—Agreement has been reached on terms of the proposed department of revenue bill, Gov. Fisher announced today.

The redraft of the bill will be introduced in the Legislature Monday night or Tuesday.

Agreement was reached in a conference which lasted late into the night at the executive mansion. At the conference were Joseph R. Grundy, Bristol manufacturer; W. L. Mellon, former Republican state chairman; Auditor General Edward Martin, present state chairman, and state treasurer-elect; State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis, Auditor General-elect Charles A. Walters, Secretary of the Commonwealth Charles Johnson, Secretary of Highways James L. Stuart and Deputy Attorney General William A. Schnader.

STORMY SESSION

The conference, it is understood, was stormy for a time, with agreement seemingly impossible until shortly before the conference adjourned late in the night. Although the conference also had been scheduled to discuss policy on gasoline tax and repeal of the anthracite tax, those subjects were not reached because of prolonged discussion about terms of the revenue department bill.

The bill will make the revenue department the central tax collecting agency of the commonwealth. The tax collecting duty is now dissipated among nearly all departments of the government.

NO NEW POWERS

The Governor explained the purpose of the bill is not to grant new powers to the state, but redistribute the present powers and regulate the procedure of government in collecting its income.

Although the Governor declined to reveal any of the contents of the bill before its introduction, his statement was taken to mean that the auditor general will not retain the tax collecting functions which he now possesses. Plan for such retention was seriously discussed last night.

WOOD AND HOLT FREED IN THEFT

DETROIT, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—The Wood-Holt case today appeared to be unraveling. With the dismissal yesterday of charges against Ralph A. Wood and Cecil T. Holt of connection with the holdup of the Sturgis National Bank last December, the affair had simmered down to the charges against Mrs. Grace M. Wood, and her alleged co-conspirators, William Thompson and Taylor Pierce, and the one-man grand jury investigation into the killing of Ambrose L. Hagerty.

Wood and Holt were freed upon recommendation of Assistant Prosecutor James T. Sloan, of St. Joseph County. They had been held in the St. Joseph County Jail at Centerville since January 25, when they were arrested in Detroit on information given police by Mrs. Wood.

Mrs. Wood, Thompson and Pierce are to appear for examination February 15, on charges of conspiracy to commit murder, in connection with the alleged attempt to kill Wood January 9.

Judge Harry J. Dingeman, who announced that he would sit as a one-man grand jury to determine the identity of the killer of Ambrose Hagerty, who was slain in front of Wood's office the night of the alleged attempt on Wood's life, said the inquiry will open Monday. Wood and Holt are to be summoned as witnesses.

HEARST VIEWS ON NEW CANAL READ TO HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—America's need of the Nicaraguan canal, both for her expanding commerce and for military defense, was stressed yesterday by William Randolph Hearst in a telegram to Representative Loring M. Black, Jr., (D.) of New York, and read by him from floor of the House. Mr. Black said:

"Mr. Hearst's wire in support of the Nicaraguan Canal project demonstrates again his enlightened vision as to the future commercial and defensive requirements of the United States.

"This canal has been thought a compelling necessity by many of our most eminent men for scores of years, and we are fast reaching the point where the pre-eminent position of our country depends upon the adoption of this new route from sea to sea."

ROUTE'S ADVANTAGES

Mr. Hearst's telegram to Mr. Black follows:

"I have been advocating the Nicaragua route for nearly 35 years. I advocated it first in preference to the Panama route, because I thought it involved fewer engineering difficulties and fewer sanitation problems and because it provided opportunity for a better canal and a quicker route, and finally because it was more easily defended and less easily destroyed in time of war.

"The question now, however, is not which is the better canal. The Panama Canal has been built and another canal is needed to accommodate the constantly increasing trans-isthmian traffic.

"There is practically no other site for an additional canal than the Nicaragua route. Consequently there is no argument as regards location. The only question is whether commercial requirements and military defense demand an additional canal.

GROWTH PERSISTENT

"The statistics of persistent transportation growth across the Isthmus prove conclusively the immediate need of an additional canal for purely commercial reasons.

"The increase in destructiveness of military forces and methods due largely to the perfection of the airplane, show convincingly the advisability of another canal as a protective measure in case of war. It is possible that both canals might be destroyed in war, but if the canals are adequately fortified and adequately defended with guns, ships and airplanes, it is plainly less likely that both canals would be destroyed than that one would be.

"There would seem to me to be very little room for difference of opinion regarding either the commercial or military necessity for this second canal. The facts and figures are so obvious and so conclusive that there could be no reason for opposing the canal except obstinate indifference to the facts and figures or unwillingness to spend the money for what is practically a commercial and military necessity.

BIG DISTANCE SAVED

"Finally, the Nicaragua Canal would save over the Panama route 559 nautical miles between New Orleans and the Pacific Coast of our country, and 360 miles between New York and our Pacific Coast. The canal, therefore, has the advantage of being of direct benefit to the three great sections of the country, the Atlantic states, the Pacific states and the Mississippi River and Gulf states.

"It is not an enterprise, therefore, which can be opposed because of special benefits conferred merely upon one section. It will prove of advantage to all sections and should have the support of the representatives of all sections.

"I have papers in various parts of the country and as far as I can determine through the contacts which these papers provide, the Nicaragua Canal project is supported very wholeheartedly by the people of all sections.

"WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST."

BLACK URGES ACTION

Commenting upon the message, Black pointed out that the Panama Canal was fast reaching its traffic saturation point and already was employed to 70 per cent of its capacity, according to official records. He continued:

"The Nicaragua Canal was originally favored over the Panama Canal route.

"Its outside cost would be at most $160,000,000, whereas the Panama Canal has already cost $412,000,000.

"The Nicaragua route is three days shorter between New York and San Francisco. Its climate is much better than that in Panama.

"It has a natural lake 120 by 40 miles, which can afford the water necessary for the operation of locks.

"At Panama such water is stored by artificial means and might readily, in case of an enemy attack, be absolutely depleted.

"We paid $3,000,000 under the Bryan-Chamorro treaty for the exclusive right to build the Nicaraguan Canal, and I believe that now is the time to initiate the work by the passage of the Edge resolution for a survey."

Childs Proxies 'Off the Arm' in Restaurant

Waitresses employed at the Childs restaurant are asking customers, if they are stockholders in the company, to vote for William Childs, present chairman of the board, at the March stockholders' meeting, when an attempt will be made to oust him from control.

They have put up a placard reading "Support Our Boss."

The Childs Company, a $37,000,000 corporation, has the same sort of fight on hand that is going on in the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

Disgruntled stockholders say that William Childs has injured the business by forcing his vegetarianism fad on the public. This he denies.

Proxy forms are served with food orders by the waitresses to such customers as identify themselves as stockholders in the company.

BEARS HAMMER STOCK MARKET

ready to "pounce" on the banks lending aid and comfort to the stock market.

There was not buying power enough in the market today to stem the irresistible tide of selling orders which crowded in from all sides, and which crowded thickest the best and strongest stocks on the board.

STEEL DOWN TO 171

United States Steel dropped 4 points to 171 under the irresistible pressure on a steady stream of selling. New York Central, in the railroad division, dropped back 3 points to 190 in a fusillade of bearish selling. General Motors was subjected to a savage bear attack and declined under 80 for a 2½-point loss.

The best that could be said was that there was no panicky confusion in the market, which functioned smoothly in a comparatively smaller volume of business, not far from 4,000,000 shares.

BEARS "SHOOT"

The bears were in control and rode the market hard from the start. There was not the slightest sign of recovery in the final period, practically all sections of the market closing at the low prices of the day.

TRADERS CAUTIOUS

Due to the closing of the board tomorrow and the public holiday next Tuesday, many traders preferred to "stand by" rather than commit themselves on either side of the market. Consequently the volume of trading fell off considerably. "Support" was not so pronounced in the market favorites.

Motor stocks were under fire from the start. Big blocks of General Motors were forced on the market at 2 points under Thursday's final prices, and the stock dipped to 80. Chrysler broke under 104 for a 3-point loss and Studebaker dropped to 88, a 2-point loss. The bears hammered hard wherever there were signs of weakening.

Though the market gradually settled down to a lower price level, the losses in individual stocks were not as large as in yesterday's blazing market.

QUIZ ON STOCK WARNING ASKED

Curtis, of Kansas, the Republican leader, suggested that the regular rules be observed.

Under the Black resolution the banking committee would be directed to summon before it "officers and employes of the Federal Reserve Board and such other persons as the committee deems to have information concerning the causes and conferences leading up to the public warning, issued by the Federal Reserve Board on February 6, 1929, against brokers' loans."

The committee also would be directed "to make inquiries of such witnesses for the purpose of advising the Congress as to the necessity for legislation to prevent the board using its powers to artificially raise or lower the markets in securities."

WARNING HELD INTRUSION

Black declared later the warning by the Federal Reserve Board was "an unparalleled example of governmental intrusion into the conduct of American business."

"The New York Stock Exchange and various commodity exchanges," Black said, "have adopted rigorous rules which may adequately reflect an intrinsic value of securities coupled with an anticipated value due to future earnings. These markets exert a steadying effect on American credit and business and represent the crucial points in application of the law of supply and demand.

"The Federal Reserve Board and its tremendous powers can seriously interfere with the price list of securities as such lists indicate true values.

"When the board was given its tremendous power over the credit situation it was hoped that it would afford facilities for a normal flow of money to reinforce the course of trade.

"It was not anticipated that it would so use its credit power as to accelerate or depress trade securities, which after all, only represent the trend of all American business."

PRAISE NATIONAL FLAG CONTEST

JAMES F. MALONE C. E. DICKEY PETER P. WALSH

PATRIOTIC FLAG CONTEST WINS PRAISE

Two city officials and a prominent educator today added their approval to the flag contest being conducted by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers. Commendatory letters were received from James F. Malone, president of City Council; Peter P. Walsh, superintendent of the Bureau of Police, and from C. E. Dickey, superintendent of the county schools.

Mr. Dickey said:

"The flag contest plan of the United States Flag Association should stimulate interest in our national emblem and the ideals for which it stands. What an opportunity is here afforded to the American youth to magnify 'Old Glory.'"

The school head also said he hoped that every high school in the county would encourage all of its students within the age limits to enter the contest.

Mr. Malone said:

"I am in hearty accord with the flag contest movement. It will unquestionably create among the youth of today a better understanding of the significance of this nation's beloved emblem; it will aid greatly toward bringing about a broader knowledge of American ideals."

Superintendent Walsh thought the first prize offered in the contest was the best that could be tendered participants in such a contest. He said:

"I believe this contest to be a very splendid way to stimulate interest in the ideals and traditions which our flag symbolizes, and feel sure that the contest will be a means of arousing the patriotism of our younger people and acquainting them with the history of our flag in view of the fact that the award for the first contest will be a trip around the world for a boy or girl."

DENBY DIES AT DETROIT HOME

DETROIT, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Edwin Denby, former secretary of the navy, and long prominent in Detroit banking, automobile and philanthropic affairs, died in his sleep this morning at his home in the Whittier apartments here. Death was due to a heart attack. He was 59 years old.

Denby, one of the central figures in the furore caused by the Teapot Dome scandal, became restless in his sleep at 5 a. m., and this awakened Mrs. Denby. He seemingly fell asleep again, but when Mrs. Denby awoke shortly after 8 a. m., she found her husband dead.

Besides Mrs. Denby, their daughter, Marian, 13 year old, was in the apartment. Their son, Edwin, Jr., is a student at the Severn School in Maryland.

Today's Flagism

The historic victory of the U. S. frigate "Constellation" over the French frigate "Insurgente" took place on February 9, 1799, this being the most important engagement in the pseudo war between France and the infant American republic. The incident went far toward establishing the maritime rights of the United States, and inspiring a new respect for the Stars and Stripes by foreign nations.

denied having any connection with the pool. He and 12 others were arrested yesterday. Horace White, 23, 5707 Harvard street, Negro, arrested as a visitor, claimed ownership of the seized lottery books. He said he had been waiting for a man named "Ell," a collector, who come every day.

Staley held White in $500 bail and suggested that he produce the mysterious "Ell." The case against Ferraro was continued until tomorrow, when both he and White will receive hearings. Six of the seven visitors, who appeared, were discharged.

COUNTY RAIDERS HIT

County detectives took a hand today in the new crusade against alleged clearing house pools begun by city police.

The city squad of county detectives, headed by County Detective James McGinley, arrested Elmer Berber, 2869 Berthoud street, Negro, alleged agent of the lottery. On information said to have been given them by Barber, a barber shop at 2171 Center avenue was raided. There John Beal, Wesley Littlejohn, Negroes, said to be proprietors of a pool, and 13 other Negroes, alleged agents, were arrested. A largen umber of books and an adding machine were seized.

SHOE PITCHERS TIED

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. 8.—(AP.)—With only four more rounds to play, Bert, Duryee, Kansas champion, and Blair Nunamaker, Cleveland, were tied for first place today in the national horseshoe tournament. Nunamaker today defeated Harvey Elmerson, 50-41, and Charlie Davis, of Columbus, O. won his only game from Harold Falor, former national champion from Akron.

ERMA PARKS KENNOY

Mrs. Kennoy, whose romance started with a boy in a Pittsburgh high school 12 years ago, is dead in Los Angeles and her husband, Franklin J. Kennoy, is accused of her murder. There are four children.

FLAG CONTEST WILL TEACH U. S. IDEALS

Two lucky youngsters—a boy and a girl—from somewhere in the United States are going to be given free trips around the world this summer. They will be the winners of the grand award in the nation-wide Flag Contest of the United States Flag Association, sponsored by the Hearst Newspapers. Many other boys and girls will receive free trips to Washington.

A liberal education without a day in the classroom is thus offered to the boys and girls of America. Noted educators agree that travel, in itself, is an education, and to few persons comes the opportunity of circumnavigating the globe without a cent of expense. No boy or girl could visit Washington and the nearby patriotic shrines without adding to their store of knowledge about their country, and this trip is another of the awards in this great contest, which is more than a contest. Finding the answers to the 75 questions about the flag and writing an essay on "Old Glory's Greatest Glory" will provide interesting and valuable instruction for the boys and girls who compete for the greatest awards ever offered in any contest.

DR. HIBBEN GIVES PRAISE

Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of the great Princeton University, and internationally known as an educator, has declared that this flag contest "has educational value."

"Not only," said Dr. Hibben, "in my judgment, will the contest be effective for stimulating a desire for more knowledge regarding American ideals and institutions, but the travel nature of the awards is an excellent idea."

Many local educators also are enthusiastic in their praise of the Special Telegram to the Sun-Telegraph.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—Franklin Kennoy, 29, former Pittsburgher, was led back to a cell today in the Los Angeles county jail, charged with the murder of Erma Parks Kennoy, 28, his wife.

"I was jealous," jail officials quoted him as saying. "I loved her, but she teased me, and I didn't realize that it was only teasing."

Twelve years ago Erma Parks met Kennoy at a high school party in Pittsburgh. On the anniversary of the day they met, Kennoy walked into their home in Los Angeles, where he had left his wife and four children, all under 8, a month before.

When he accused her of loving someone else, her laughing reply was, "What of it?"

Kennoy's parents, who came to California with the young couple five years ago, are caring for the children.

Mrs. Kennoy was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Parks, formerly of Pine Rue avenue, Elliott, who left here about six years ago for Los Angeles.

Kennoy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kennoy, also lived in Elliott, where his mother, for years, was an active political worker.

Arnold Gridders Feted at Banquet

The second annual banquet of the Arnold Independents football team was held last evening at the Arnold M. E. Church with 150 guests present. John Hunger was toastmaster for the occasion, and the following addressed the gathering: F. Horton, Louis Claster, Max Rosskamp, manager of the Springdale Amicus; Ted Biryk, of the Pittsburg Sun-Telegraph; Rev. J. Ford, Coach Tom Tannas, George McGuiston and T. Smith, of the New Kensington Dispatch. Manager Jimmy Hess presented gold footballs to all members of last season's squad. Election of officers and songs by the Reader quartette concluded the affair.

PLAN ACTION TO MODIFY STATUTE

Traveling salesmen, prejudiced against the city because of being deprived by the Blue Law of opportunity for recreation on Sunday, have spread the word from coast to coast that Pittsburgh is a "dead town," according to A. H. Berleyette, secretary of Fort Pitt Council No. 171, United Commercial Travelers. This has had a bad effect on business, he said, for people have gained the impression that the city is not only an unpleasant place in which to live but is backward commercially.

The 12,000 traveling salesmen who have their homes here and who leave the city every Monday morning to cover their routes, have a hard time combating this hostile propaganda, Mr. Berleyette continued. Loyal to the city, they would like to praise it with the enthusiasm with which traveling men from New York, Detroit and Cleveland "boost" their home towns. But everywhere they are confronted with monotonous iteration with the statement, "Pittsburgh is so dead that there are only four things a visitor can do on Sunday—eat, sleep, read the paper and go to church." And they have no answer.

SUPPORT WETTACH BILL

"The four things that can be done in Pittsburgh" has passed into a sort of sneering byword, known to the traveling fraternity the country over, Mr. Berleyette said. And these men have transmitted their own unfavorable opinion to the business houses that they represent and those with which they have transactions.

"It has unquestionably had an adverse effect on Pittsburgh's commercial progress," Mr. Berleyette declared.

Pittsburgh traveling salesmen are hoping that the Wettach bill for modification of the blue law will be passed by the Legislature. A resolution indorsing the measure will be presented at the regular meeting of Fort Pitt Council, which has nearly 700 members, in the Moose Temple tomorrow night, and Mr. Berleyette said he had no doubt it would be adopted.

"OPEN" SUNDAY OPPOSED

"We do not want a wide-open Sunday," he continued. "We are opposed to the opening of the stores. Sunday should continue to be a day of rest. All we want is to be freed from the legal shackles that make it impossible to go to a ball game or a concert. Pittsburgh, lacking a beach, has greater need of opportunities for entertainment on Sunday than many other cities.

"These things will not prevent people from going to church on Sunday if they want to. Depriving people of recreation on Sunday is not making it easier for them to go to Heaven. It is a man's character that determines that.

"I am sure the people of Cleveland, which has no Blue Law, lead lives just as decent and clean as those of the people of Pittsburgh. Go to the movies in Cleveland on Sunday and you will find family groups whose very appearance shows they are respectable folks of high ideals."

WHOLESOME RECREATION

The feeling of the traveling salesmen in regard to the Blue Law is shared by 98 per cent of the people of the community, in Mr. Berleyette's opinion.

The traveling men of this generation, he pointed out, have high standards of morality. They will compare favorably with any portion of the citizenship. A generation ago, he said, traveling men had a different reputation; but all that has changed, due to the high standards required by modern-day salesmanship.

GUILTY, NOOSE FOR NORTHCOTT

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Feb. 8.—(INS.)—Gordon Stewart Northcott, alleged slayer of little boys, today faced a sentence of death on the gallows, following his conviction of first degree murder by a jury here last night.

The verdict automatically carries the death penalty.

The young Canadian was found guilty on three counts of slaying little Walter Collins and the young Winslow brothers, Lewis and Nelson, and dissolving their bodies in quicklime on his chicken ranch near here.

When the verdict was announced Northcott sneered, then mumbled a "thank you."

CHANGES HATS, ELUDES POLICE

GEORGE LYONS

Lyons, 26, 702 West North avenue, demonstrating to Capt. Block, North Side Police Station, quick changes of hats—of which police found a dozen—through which police report he escaped capture after a holdup. Police believe he used the ruse often.

Held as an alleged member of a holdup gang, George Lyons, 26, of 702 West North avenue, North Side, early today described robberies he had committed, the police say, and a clever ruse he used to escape detection after his holdups. This ruse, police at the North Side station declare, helped him to escape arrest Wednesday night after he had been chased by Carrick police.

A dozen hats found in the young man's room, police say, were part of the scheme he used. With a cap in his pocket, he would wear one of the hats while holding up his victim in the street, and while fleeing would toss aside the hat and don the cap, the police say. The hat found in the room had been stolen from the store of Sol Mintzer, at 410 Federal street, last Thursday, Capt. Anthony Block said.

Yesterday Lyons entered the Carnegie Police Station and asked for lodgings, saying that he was from Butte, Mont. He was searched and a revolver found in his possession, Carnegie police say. When questioned further he said that he lived at the North Side address. North Side police were notified and upon searching his room, discovered the hats hidden under a bed. The prisoner was then turned over to the city police.

Lyons told of his activities and of how, on Wednesday night he had outwitted Carrick policemen, the North Side officers say. He and a companion were attempting to rob a gasoline station in Carrick, when they saw police approaching in an automobile, Lyons is alleged to have confessed. The pair leaped into another car and sped away. While crossing the South Twenty-second Street Bridge the two are said to have tossed aside their hats and donned caps. A moment later they slowed down and permitted the police car to pass. The officers peered into their machine and then sped past, believing they had missed their robbers, according to Lyons' alleged confession.

VARE FILIBUSTER LOOMS AS REED BLOCKS ISSUE

Draws Minute Insects As Profession

SMOOT CARRIES HOOVER PLANS BACK TO CAPITAL

PENNSYLVANIAN BLOCKS VOTE QUIZ REPORT

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Rumblings of another filibuster over the Vare case such as that which marked the adjournment of Congress two years ago were heard about the Capitol today, following a circular letter written by Senator David A. Reed, of Pittsburgh, to his colleagues in the upper chamber, asking that judgment be deferred in the fight to deny a seat to Senator-elect William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania.

CALLS PROBE UNRELIABLE

Every member of the chamber was in receipt of a communication today from the Pittsburgh senator, inclosing a memorandum on the Pennsylvania election of 1926 which he said would convince all of the "thoroughly unreliable" character of election investigations.

The circular letter was taken to mean that Reed does not intend to permit, if possible, a vote on the Vare report which is to be presented by his distant cousin, Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, Democratic chairman of the "slush fund" committee. The Missouri senator may offer his report as a privileged matter any time.

OUSTER REPORT SEEN

It is regarded as certain that it will recommend that Vare be denied a seat because of enormous expenditures in the 1926 Republican primary.

The Pennsylvania Senator's effort to prevent action on similar moves by the "slush fund" body two years ago was met with high success. Deliberations of the Senate were tied in a knot by the filibuster he conducted in the closing days of the session.

WILL PREPARE FOR EXTRA SESSION

By GEORGE E. DURNO,
International News Service.

The gentleman entrusted with the responsibility of speaking for the nation's next executive was Senator Reed Smoot (R.) of Utah. For the last four days, he has been a house guest at Belle Isle. He has been the only congressional leader to put in an appearance during the preinaugural vacation here, and he came by special invitation. He departed fully equipped to detail Mr. Hoover's legislative likes and dislikes.

Primarily, Smoot is going back to prepare for the special session of congress Mr. Hoover will call soon after March 4. Tariff and farm relief are to be the two subjects taken up, and because of the vital key positions they hold in the president-elect's economic scheme, the latter is determined they shall be handled according to his lights.

The message the Utah senator is carrying back is that there shall be a general review of the tariff, but no general revision.

It was a message with which he personally had no sympathy four days ago. For when he first arrived he told the correspondents he expected a general revision. Just before his departure, he told them, however, that only schedules clearly needing revamping would be touched.

That is the Hoover tariff policy. In fact if he could have it, the only schedules revised would be those which have direct bearing on farm relief.

HOMESTEAD MAN CHARGED WITH EXTORTION

John Regan, 35, 124 Eugene avenue, Homestead Park, was held for court by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today on a charge of extortion. Bail was fixed at $1,000. Regan is said to have obtained $77 from Mrs. Theresa Roell, 2740 Shelly street, South Side, and Mrs. Vera Shablisky, mother and sister, respectively, of John Roell, 17, and Andrew Panko, 17, 2812 Shelly street, on promising to "fix" police charges against the boys.

The boys were arrested when one of them displayed a revolver. The following day Brandon held them for court on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. East Monday Brandon deemed he had been too harsh, as it was the boys' first offense, and took up with District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner the question of paroling them.

Regan is said to have interested himself in the case and, according to the women who appeared against him, promised to have them released if they paid him $100.

Bible 300 Years Old Willed by Man To Son

A German Bible, said to be more than 300 years old, was handed down to his son by Fred Meng Jr., of 131 Kendall avenue, Bellevue, in his will which was filed for probate today. Mr. Meng specified that the Bible shall remain in the custody of his son, Otto, unless Otto and his two brothers agree on its disposition.

Mr. Meng leaves a $15,000 estate to the three sons, Otto, Adolph and Fred J. Meng. Otto is named executor.

SUZANNE AVERS SHE'LL MARRY BALDWIN

NICE, France, Feb. 8.—(INS.)—Suzanne Lenglen and Baldwin M. Baldwin sought seclusion today beneath the sunny skies of the French Riviera.

They are going to be married, but don't like to talk about it. There are complications. Baldwin has a wife in the United States from whom to hopes to be, but has not yet been, divorced.

Accompanied by "Mama" Lenglen, they led reporters a merry chase across the United States to the Pacific coast and back.

Then they boarded a liner for Europe. At the dock Baldwin's attorney unwittingly let the cat out of the bag. He stated that Baldwin wanted a divorce so that he could marry Suzanne.

Finally the temperamental Suzanne gave in.

"For heaven's sake! Yes. We are going to be married. Baldwin has applied for a divorce in the United States and we are waiting until it is granted. I hope this will prevent further annoyance."

AUTOIST FREED IN DEATH CASE

Sidney Schreiber, of Third street, Duquesne, was found not guilty, but ordered to pay costs, by a jury in Criminal Court today in the death of Nicholas Wiesen, 66, of West Eleventh street, Homestead. Wiesen was fatally injured when struck by Schreiber's automobile on the Brown's Hill road September 5, 1927. He died four days later. Schreiber was charged with involuntary manslaughter. The defense held that the aged man stepped from behind two other cars into the path of Schreiber's machine.

GIRLS WHO TOOK AUTO FREED

Helen Gardner, 25, 907 Irwin avenue, and Helene Zimmer, 19, 518 Taylor avenue, were discharged by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today. They were detained yesterday after having taken an automobile belonging to John Ott, 835 Manginn street, and driven to Johnstown without his consent. They told Brandon that Ott had promised to drive them to Johnstown, and that when he left them at Fifth avenue and Grant street to telephone they started off alone. They said they wrote him a letter from Johnstown telling him where the car had been left.

Two Prisoners Die Of Pneumonia Here

Pneumonia caused two deaths among prisoners at the Western Penitentiary during the past 24 hours. John Christie, 25, Erie County, serving a 7-to-14-year sentence for burglary, died early today of influenza-pneumonia. He was committed to prison February 25, 1928. Frank Lewis, 30, Cambria County, serving a 3-to-6-year sentence for burglary, died late yesterday of lobar pneumonia. He was committed September 13, 1924.

Robber Flees Police; Believed Wounded

A Negro robber was believed wounded by police this morning during a chase which followed his attempt to enter a building at 2135 Wylie avenue. Several shots were fired and bloodspots were found in the alley in which the Negro was last seen running.

Patrolmen James MacAfee and Joseph Walto detected the man attempting to force a window in the rear of the Wylie avenue building.

HOBO KING ABDICATES; SAVES DAY FOR EDITOR

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(INS.)—Ah, sighed the city editor, the news report looks very ponderous today, what with Coolidge considering the cruiser bill, the stock market cutting up again, and the vatican effecting a definite reconciliation with Italy.

What, no features! Nothing light and breezy?

Thereupon, one of Uncle Sam's employes laid an official-looking piece of mail on his desk. Tearing through a red seal, bearing the words "Hobo Seal," he read:

"Dear Editor: I hereby call an official convention at 9 a. m. sharp at Pershing Square, Los Angeles, on January 1, 1930, for all the hoboes to meet and elect a new king.

"I will resign as king on the evening of the fourth of October, 1929. At present I am on my way to Alaska. Kindly place this on the wires for me.

"Signed, J. Leon Lazarowitz, Esq.

"King of U. S. A. Hoboes."

WORKS BUREAU OPENS BIDS

Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, today opened bids on a number of improvement projects. The director will award contracts next Wednesday, he said.

Major projects include structural steel work for the East Street Bridge; grading Reynolds street playgrounds in Frick Park; tearing down Aiken Avenue Bridge and constructing Lincoln Avenue Bridge.

Pittsburgh Women Admit, Defend Loquacity

Pittsburgh women may be great talkers, but they contend that their conversation is not lacking in quality and good sense. Their defense was made in repartee at a meeting of the League of Women Voters held in the Congress of Clubs to greet their state president, Miss Gertrude Ely.

"Politics is largely a matter of conversation, and so women should be good politicians," declared Dr. Thomas H. Reed, director of research of the Metropolitan Plan Commission, in a side remark to his address on the possibilities of Pittsburgh's proposed metropolitan district charter.

"Let us remind Dr. Reed," said Miss Ely as she rose to make her address, "that while we women admit that we are great talkers, there is quality in our talk."

B. F. Gimbel New Drygoods Official

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—The National Retail Drygoods Association elected Alfred B. Koch, of Toledo, O., president.

Ice Solidly Packed In Upper Allegheny

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Feb. 8.—Rivermen expressed fears today for the safety of lowland residents in the event of a sudden warm spell and excessive rain sending the Allegheny River on another rampage, with heavier and thicker ice formed from Natrona to Franklin.

For long stretches the river is frozen solid from bank to bank, enough in places to walk across.

GIRL SKETCHES INSECTS

Catalogue this profession as another which woman has entered to conquor—scientific artistry.

And Pittsburgh's representative—although perhaps there are more than one—is Miss Ruth Isensee, a member of the department of zoology staff at the University of Pittsburgh, and also connected with Carnegie Museum.

Her job is to know insects, to photograph them through a microscope and also to sketch them so that each exterior characteristic is evident.

That sketchers are common is obvious, and that scientists are fairly numerous is also true. But scientific illustration demands a knowledge of both lines. Insects so small that they are barely noticeable are the subjects for Miss Isensee's sketches. She uses a microscope to enlarge them so that they are clearly visible. It is through the different exterior characteristics that scientists are able to study the insect world for the eventual benefit of humanity and knowledge. Miss Isensee simply helps them to make insects more easily understood.

Much of the young woman's sketching and photography is for Dr. R. T. Hance, head of the Pitt zoology staff, although she sketches butterflies for Dr. Andre Avinoff, of the museum, and other scientists as well. She is a graduate of the University of Colorado.

Male Attire Causes Allegheny Prom War

MEADVILLE, Pa., Feb. 8.—(AP.)—A controversy hinging on the matter of tuxedos is engaging the attention of co-eds and the men students of Allegheny College. The annual junior "prom" is set for tonight and the girls want it to be entirely formal. The boys are equally determined that the affair be only semi-formal, with the men dressed as they please.

It is rumored that many of the girls will refuse to attend. Then there was another rumor that the boys will "import" their partners if necessary.

Congressmen Hear Mental Rating Called Low

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—The intelligence of congressmen became a subject of debate in the House yesterday.

Representative Kopp (Rep.), Iowa, discussing the reapportionment measure, passed recently by the House, said that one of the college professors who testified before the Census Committee on the bill, had said the most "untutored" mind could understand the mathematical method employed. Another college professor, Kopp declared, had testified that the average congressman could not understand it.

Slayer Asks to Wed Daughter of Victim

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—From the cell where he awaits execution, Joseph Reginald Victor Clarke, known as "the boy with 100 sweethearts," made application to the home secretary for permission to marry the daughter of the woman he murdered, but failed to get permission.

His desired bride is Mary Agnes Fontaine, a former sweetheart, whom he was charged with attempting to kill after he had killed Mrs. Alice Fontaine.

ZIVIC CLEARED IN RUM CASE

"Pete" Zivic, local boxer, was acquitted today of a charge of violating the Snyder act. Judge John H. McCann, Cambria County, directed that a verdict of not guilty be returned in Zivic's case and suspended sentence in the case of Andrew Stojnic, his bartender, tried on the same charge, on payment of the costs. The court ruled that no testimony was produced against Zivic. The case dated back to October, 1924. There were only two witnesses. Zivic was represented by Attorney Samuel Saraff and the county by Assistant District Attorney Roy Clunk.

Opera Stars Provide Girl Chance for Fame

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(INS.)—Four years ago little Serafina Di Leo had nothing but a battered violin and high hopes. Tonight the girl—now 16—will sail aboard the liner Majestic, bound for Italy and fame as a grand opera star. Giovanni Martinelli and Mary Garden discovered that Serafina had a remarkable voice and are sending her to Europe to study.

SON'S WIFE SUES DOCTOR FOR $100,000 HEART BALM

Another chapter was added to the brief but exciting married life of Elmer J. Thompson, Jr., and Elizabeth Thompson in Common Pleas Court today, a chapter that finds the young wife suing her husband's parents for $100,000 on the complaint that they destroyed his affection for her.

The defendants in this suit are Dr. Elmer J. Thompson, of 3645 Perrysville avenue, and his wife, Emma Thompson. Their daughter-in-law charges that three weeks after the marriage her husband's parents prevailed upon their son to abandon her. Later, she avers, a child was born and she has been left without her husband's assistance.

The younger Mrs. Thompson reports they were married in Wellsburg, W. Va., on January 28, 1928, and that on February 21 her husband quit her.

Mrs. Thompson's suit follows a suit for annulment of the marriage which Dr. Thompson filed in Wellsburg recently.

The doctor boasted he would effect a separation and he succeeded by making improper statements to her husband, the wife complains.

TRAFFORD BANK SUSPECT ACCUSED IN NEW HOLDUP

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Eddie Motes, 26, of Fairmont, W. Va., arraigned here on charges that he was one of four men who robbed the Trafford City National Bank of $13,000 last November, at the same time was identified by several persons from Fairmont as having been one of the men who held up and robbed a drug store there last Saturday night.

Motes was arrested here Tuesday when he came from Fairmont to visit Sam Succi and Patrick Trader, also charged with robbing the Trafford bank. Police had been on the trail of Motes ever since the robbery. A fourth man is still at large.

With Motes on the journey from Fairmont was John Trader, brother of Patrick. He, too, was identified as one of the drug store robbers. He will be taken to Fairmont today, having waived extradition. Motes was held for trial here on the bank charge.

The proprietor of the Fairmont drug shop, L. D. Emery, was forced to hand over $170 to the hold-up men.

Michael Succi, brother of Sam, and Mrs. Vida Swisher, who also came here with Motes, and were held pending an investigation, were released last night.

James Motes, 45, father of Eddie Motes, was arrested yesterday at Marianna, Washington County, in connection with the Trafford robbery and also is in jail here. Police said they believed the father was the "brains" of the gang which held up the Trafford bank and that his home at Marianna was their headquarters. He will be questioned.

Greenville Couple Married 60 Years

GREENVILLE, Feb. 8.—A sixtieth wedding anniversary was celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. R. L. McGinnis, of Main street. Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis are 82 and 77, respectively. They were married at Clinton, Pa., in 1869, and are the parents of seven children.

Gardner Squad Raids Hotel in Liberty Ave.

County detectives entered the city yesterday for the first time in several weeks and raided the Lafayette Hotel, Liberty avenue. Two slot machines were seized, according to the reports, and Charles Scheiner, alleged proprietor, arrested. Scheiner is to be arrainged before Alderman George Anderson on a charge of maintaining gambling devices, according to District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner. Until the recent grand jury investigation, the county detectives made no raids in the city but turned over all complaints to city police.

Coal Operators Meet To Study Convention

A meeting of the program committee of the sixth annual convention of Practical Coal Operating Men will be held in Pittsburgh today under the chairmanship of Paul Weir, of Chicago. The committee will consider suggestions from practical coal operators as to the topics to be discussed at the national convention, which will be held at Cincinnati May 13 to 17. The National Exposition of Coal Mine Equipment is to be held simultaneously with the convention.

Laborite Elected To Curzon's Seat

LONDON, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Labor won the South Battersea seat, last held by a Conservative, Viscount Curzon, who recently was elevated to the House of Lords on his succession to the title of Earl Howe. Both Ramsay MacDonald, Labor leader, and Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, and a Conservative, had spoken in the election campaign.

W. Bennett, the Laborite, said his victory was a good omen for the approaching general election and showed the indignation of the electors at the inefficiency of the government in dealing with the unemployment and coal mining problems.

Musician Leaps To Death; Blame "Nerves"

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Feb. 8.—Too close application to violin study is believed responsible for a nervous breakdown which led Glen Singloub, 23, to end his life. Singloub jumped from the Fifth street bridge over Connoquenessing creek.

His body was found on the rocks 200 feet below the bridge.

He was a well-known local musician, and had been perfecting himself at a conservatory in Cleveland, O.

"A House Without a Radio Set Might As Well Be a House Without Windows"

THE radio possesses an importance and value not fully realized. You hear sailors telling of rescues at sea, or the President urging economy on the nation, or reminding you that prosperity is good only if spirituality is mixed with it.

MUSIC played in England is heard in Alaska, children wait for the hour devoted to them, and special programs are prepared for children in public schools.

To exaggerate what the radio will do for education and general enlightenment is impossible. A house without a radio set might as well be a house without a window.

ARTHUR BRISBANE, always an advocate of better living, suggests in his article just how important a place the radio has in the home. Brown-Dorrance Electric Co. makes it possible for every home to have a radio by offering this astounding radio value with a year to pay.

PITTSBURGHERS SAIL TO VISIT MAYAN RUINS

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Mrs. George E. Vincent, wife of the president of the Rockefeller Foundation, today was on the liner San Jacinto, bound for the ruins of the ancient Mayan civilization in Yucatan.

Included in Mrs. Vincent's party, which sailed last night, were her daughter, Mrs. Maxwell E. Foster, of Boston; Hope G. Yandell, of Greenwich, Conn.; Anne Shiras, of Pittsburgh; Elizabeth Demarest, historian of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, and Dr. Frank B. Edmundson, of Pittsburgh.

Miss Shiras, mentioned in the New York dispatch, is a graduate of the Yale Drama School and resides at 4841 Ellsworth avenue. She is searching for material for a new play. Miss Demarest, the historian, is to delve into the history of early Mexico and Dr. Edmundson plans to add to his knowledge of tropical diseases.

TEMPERANCE CALLED NATION'S PROBLEM

LEADERS STIRRED BY 'DRY' EVILS, LAUD HEARST PLAN

From Paris, Walker Coleman Graves writes from the Guaranty Trust Company, in connection with the prohibition upheaval in the United States, a comparison of the way the moderate Frenchman and the "cut-loose" American drink in the French capital, due to the latter's escape from potable poisons at home, and adds:

"If I injure, murder, steal from, or interfere with the rights of another, that is crime. But in the case of prohibition the crime and trespass upon the individual's liberties are by the government.

"The government presupposes that an American individual lacks the intelligence and character to regulate his personal appetite and conduct; therefore 'prohibition,' the violation of which is called a crime.

"How can such violation be a crime? The mere possession and taking of a drink of alcohol has not injured another, nor has it injured the individual himself, until he by over-consumption of the liquid has trespassed upon the rights of another or has so degraded himself as to be a regrettable personality in the community.

"If the kind of alcohol, or alcohol percentage now used is causing this condition, it is limitation and moderation that is needed. The law should apply to manufacture, but never should our government presume that our people lack intelligence or character and then itself commit a crime of trespassing upon liberties which the constitution guarantees."

Thousands Agree

The Graves comments are among almost countless thousands of similar expressions by Americans in every sphere of activity on the temperance prize contest conducted by the Hearst newspapers as the result of the $25,000 capital prize offered by William Randolph Hearst for the best practical substitute for prohibition.

By careful, conservative estimate the temperance contest headquarters at No. 220 South street, New York, has already received in one month of the competition which ends April 30, more than 6,500,000 words on the evils of prohibition and how to end these evils.

Phelps Phelps of the National Republican Club, New York, who represented the Tenth Assembly District in the State Legislature at Albany for five consecutive terms and was a candidate for Congress in the last election, submits a plan to substitute temperance for prohibition and observes:

"Mr. Hearst is to be heartily congratulated for the great forward step he has already taken in education on this subject, by forcing people in every part of the nation to think about the deplorable conditions under prohibition."

Other views, expressed in interviews obtained by the Hearst newspapers, follow:

James D. Phelan

James D. Phelan, formerly United States Senator from California:

"I trust some Moses will answer Mr. Hearst's call and lead the country out of the wilderness of crime and disaster, a condition created by misled morons and cowardly politicians.

"Our nation is ill. And, strange to say, its illness is a result of a misguided attempt to cure it of an earlier malady. Despite the talk of politicians, the lawmakers prefer to kill rather than to cure the sick, a practice worthy of some benighted heathen nation; not of the United States.

"Mr. Hearst's generous offer of a $25,000 prize will help concentrate the minds of thoughtful people, deeply concerned in the welfare of their country, on the unfortunate situation caused by the Volstead act. Unfortunately for the hopes of those who wish for a speedy remedy, the United States is composed of many elements whose problems are different according to geographical location.

"The Southern states, for example, have a problem of their own. The whites there wish to keep the Negro in subjection, so they endeavor to give them no possible access to alcohol, which has its justifications.

"The Middle Western states are less drastic in their views and the Far Western states are more liberal. It can be seen that though the problem, per se, is a single one, the remedy must take cognizance of the different attitudes.

"One solution would be to relegate the question to the several states, so the law will reflect the sentiment of the community and, therefore, be enforceable. Another solution is federal supervision of manufacture and sale. All are agreed that the present law has broken down and any modification must, in my opinion, differentiate between use and abuse."

Father Edward Wheelen

The Rev. Father Edward Wheelen, S. J., president, St. Ignatius College, San Francisco:

"I think Mr. Hearst is doing a fine thing for the country by creating an award for the stimulation of thought on the subject of temperance. Although many people in private and government positions have refused to admit the fact, the present condition under the Eighteenth Amendment is definitely a problem; a problem made more serious by their wilful neglect to recognize it as such.

"The Legislature and the government have been side-stepping this problem by refusing to admit its existence. But, whether or not they admit it, the problem remains. Therefore, it is with hearty approval that I view Mr. Hearst's effort to get the best minds in the country working to bring about a different situation.

"By creating a tangible goal, Mr. Hearst has done a fine thing which should certainly result in the discovery of a practicable plan to remedy the present state of viciousness."

Curtis W. Barker

Curtis W. Barker, director of the Rochester, N. Y., Bureau of Police:

"The Hearst prize offer should bring prohibition and law enforcement to the front for final disposition, and for this reason the people should do all in their power to make the prize contest a success.

"Most important is the task of getting all the people interested, and taking the subject out of the hands of the dry fanatics and the confirmed wets, and getting it where it will attract the interest of the great middle group, sitting on the sidelines, laughing at the absurdity of the present situation."

Thomas H. Green

"Excess of law is a bad thing and we are getting pretty close to such a situation today. People are resenting it. The frailties in the prohibition law should have been ironed out long ago in the 10 years of its existence, but today the inconsistencies are as many as ever and the whole situation is just as complicated.

"We should therefore welcome Mr. Hearst's offer of a $25,000 prize for a prohibition substitute. I sincerely hope that earnest-minded and serious-thinking individuals having the social, moral and civic interests of the country at heart will acquaint themselves with the details of the prize contest as outlined in the Hearst newspapers and give their best consideration to the solution of the problem as embodied in the Hearst proposals."

Fred D. Budd

Fred D. Budd, sheriff of Monroe County, N. Y.:

"There is no one better able to appreciate an effort to bring about a state of law enforcement than those charged with police duties. As sheriff of Monroe County the great and almost impossible task of strict enforcement of prohibition has struck me above all as a paramount issue.

"Somehow a solution of this question must come, and come quickly. The American people have never failed to dispose of a problem, once convinced that it is a menace to existing institutions, as is our so-called prohibition.

"I certainly believe Mr. Hearst is on the right track and his prize offer will lead to a plan to give the country true temperance, which is what the people really desired when they anticipated the coming of prohibition."

7 Rules of $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and Federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

3—This contest will close on April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

The Choral Society of the Young Men and Women's Hebrew Association, with Harvey Gaul directing, gave a varied and interesting program in their auditorium last evening. David Cohen contributed several violin numbers, and the vocal soloists were chosen from the chorus. There were some very good voices among them.

If this chorus did nothing further than sing their racial songs thereby bringing to our public a treasure of infinite value and beauty, we should rest content. If they sang these same songs only to perpetuate them in Hebrew families, then the patrons of the chorus should be grateful. They are simple traditional tunes, tinged with the melancholy of a wandering race and Oriental languor. It is not at all strange that the chorus sings these songs best of all the program.

These singers have improved decidedly since their last concert, and especially in musical values. Harvey Gaul's influence is strongly felt in the restraint he placed upon their tone, and the lovely flexibility in both rhythm and tone with which he moulds every song.

A fine audience heard the concert, and approved most heartily.

The Subject Before the House: FURNITURE!

Of common accord, thousands of people seem to have decided that this is the year to make home improvements. The interest in this year's February Furniture Sale surpasses all previous experiences! The first day's business, this February, was more than double the same day of a year ago. The reason for all of this is to be found in the beauty and style-rightness of the furniture here, the unusual values, and the widespread public attitude toward home modernization. Take your Saturday half holiday, to see this Exposition of New Furniture and the extraordinary values which it brings.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

TANK WAR

By JULIE RANDOLPH ELAN

MISS BETSY was a pocket edition of a Southern gentlewoman, numbering only five feet in stature, but possessing keen brown eyes and a ready smile.

The only heritage from her ancestors was an aging mother, a tiny farm and a crossroads store. But Miss Betsy was not one to complain of her lot.

The store did not enjoy the same patronage which it had during her father's lifetime, because former customers in shiny new or second-hand cars, as the case might be, rolled nonchalantly past to the better-equipped stores of the village, disdaining her utilitarian stock for practically every need of the farmhhouse and farm.

What rendered her position even more precarious was the presence of another store conducted by a bachleor Yankee, John Snyder, directly across the road, when there was scarcely enough business for one. Miss Betsy's father, who held the vantage point right in the V of the fork, had keenly resented the intrusion of the newcomer, but competition in his day had not been as deadly as it was to Miss Betsy's meager trade.

Another grudge Miss Betsy had against John Snyder was the fact that he had been quicker than she to sense the trend of the times, and had a gasoline tank installed first.

Miss Betsy had immediately written the company, requesting that they install a tank in front of her store also, but they stated that the location did not justify the maintenance of two tanks. Finally after very diplomatic correspondence on the part of Miss Betsy, they agreed to install a tank conditionally, with the stipulation that she evidence a sufficient volume of business.

In due time the new red tank flaunted its color dazzlingly before her store, and Miss Betsy from a corner of the porch cast a roving eye in the direction of John Snyder. She gloatingly surmised his discomfort at her innovation, but if he were discomfited, he gave no sign.

Now Miss Betsy waited with bated breath for her first customer. One—two—three cars approached, and her heart turned triple flip-flops, but each time the car stopped before John Snyder's tank.

The fourth car, containing Dan Wright, an old servant of Miss Betsy's family, came to a hesitant stop before her tank, and she trotted proudly forth, reaching valiantly for the nozzle of the heavy hose which hung above her head. Dan essayed to leave his car to assist her, but she waved him back. She could feel John Snyder's lazy, but keen blue eyes upon her, and she wanted to show him that she could wait on her own trade.

She glanced covertly over her shoulder at John Snyder, then as swiftly averted her eyes. He was lounging on his porch steps, calmly muching a sandwich, consisting of a sardine between two soda crackers. Such shiftlessness!

All afternoon Miss Betsy was on the alert, but every car rolled over to John Snyder's side and not a car to her side.

When it grew dusky and she retired to her stronghold of brightly shining lamp chimneys, it was poor satisfaction to think of John Snyder making other sardine sandwiches by murky lantern light.

Business continued to be slack at the new red tank, but Miss Betsy anticipated one particular Sunday, the beginning of the Shady Grove colored revival meeting. The Negroes had continued to patronize the crossroads store more than the whites, and Miss Betsy boasted proudly that she had many colored friends.

And on this day of days the cars stopped at his tank—even those belonging to good colored friends of Miss Betsy's. While Miss Betsy did wait on them behind the counter, it must have seemed distinctly out of keeping to the stalwart Negro men to summon the eagerly watching southern gentlewoman from her shady porch of a Sunday to perform a menial task for them. How much easier to call on John Snyder by the roadside!

Miss Betsy's religion and some qualm of feminine delicacy prevented her from taking a stand on her store porch on the Sabbath, but she watched the dusty road burning in the hot sunlight until her eyes ached. Only two cars stopped at her tank the entire day.

As she turned away, John Snyder stared at her, then blurted:

"Evening, Miss Betsy."

She bowed stiffly, tears hot against her eyelids. He needn't bother to speak to her out of sympathy.

Finally, after her mother had gone to bed, she stole out furtively and sat on the edge of the store porch. She felt certain her gas tank would be taken from her now, and her steady little shoulders slumped dispiritedly, for it was quite dark and she was sure no one could see her.

"There, there, Miss Betsy," John Snyder was towering over her, his pipe at a brave angle, and a big hand almost ready to pat her shoulder, if she had not started violently. She waited belligerently. She could not trust herself to speak.

"I—I've been wondering if maybe we couldn't consolidate our gas tanks—there—there's not enough business for two." He was kind enough not to say for which of the two.

Miss Betsy was too amazed to reply, and he repeated futilely:

"I—I've been wondering."

"We've got a freezer half full of ice cream round at the house and chocolate cake—won't you come around and eat a bite?"

"I don't mind if I do," John Snyder responded slowly.

Miss Betsy, remembering the many sardine sandwiches, added fried chicken and loaf bread to the repast, and the partnership bade fair to reach a successful culmination.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Guard Against 'Flu' and Pneumonia

Don't fool with a cold. Use tried and safe method to fight "flu" and colds.

Medical authorities have issued warnings against a recurrence of the recent "flu" epidemic, similar to the second wave which followed the terrible scourge of 1918. They advise everyone to take no chances with a common cold, no matter how trifling it may appear.

Do the right thing now—take a cupful of steaming hot Bulgarian Herb Tea, twice a week during these longer months. It will assist nature to quickly up colds, and will fortify your system against the "flu" peril. Bulgarian Herb Tea is recommended by druggists everywhere.

"KONJOLA RESTORED MY HEALTH," SAYS PITTSBURGH LADY

States That One Bottle of Famous Medicine Gave Splendid Relief From Nervous Indigestion.

What a world of hope and cheer there is for all who suffer and who would be well again, in the countless indorsements from men and women who have found their first and only relief in this new medicine, Konjola. The files of this modern medicine fairly overflow with the glad statements of those freed from the clutches of stomach trouble, weakened kidneys, sluggish liver, constipation or rheumatism, neuritis or nervousness. Konjola is not a medicine of promises, claims or theories—but is a medicine that brings results and accomplishments — it strengthens and invigorates the ailing organs—preparing the system for the ever-welcome tenant, new, glorious and lasting health. What Konjola has done, is doing and will do for you, is being explained daily, by the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Company, formerly McCulloch, Penn avenue and Sixth street, this city, where he is meeting the public daily. It was his happy experience to hear the grateful statement of Miss Betty Craemer, 111 Burr street, Mt. Oliver Station, Pittsburgh, who had a most remarkable restoration to health through the use of Konjola. Miss Craemer recently said to the Konjola Man:

MISS BETTY CRAEMER

"Konjola restored my health after all other medicines and treatments failed. If I had not had actual experience with Konjola I would not have believed that a single medicine could work such wonders. To begin with I had a nervous disorder of my stomach that caused gas and all of its evils. Whenever I ate anything heavy, bits of the food rose into my throat, leaving a very sour taste. From this condition my disposition became irritable and unruly. I had little hope that anything would help me because I tried several medicines and failed to find one that benefited me.

"I had been reading and hearing so much about the amazing accomplishments of Konjola that I went to the Konjola Man to find out about this medicine. He merely told me what it had done in cases similar to mine and pointed out wherein Konjola gave wonderful relief in even more chronic cases. With renewed hope I started the treatment. It seemed to me that from the very first dose a radical change took place. The gas bloating disappeared and the fermentation ceased. I realized that Konjola contained real merit and wouldn't think of missing a dose. I took two bottles in all and can safely say now, that I am free of all terrors of nervous indigestion. My disposition is better and all signs of nervousness are ended, I have heard that Konjola is called the medicine with more than a million friends. Well, all that I can say is that it deserves fifty millions."

Upon such cases does Konjola rest its foundation of success. Not only does Konjola bring glorious relief from the most stubborn cases but in most every instance the benefits are lasting and sure. It is said that no sufferer can afford not to give Konjola a chance.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Company, formerly McCulloch, Penn avenue and Sixth street, this city, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine. Free samples given.

BOY SCOUT CHIEF TO BROADCAST BIRTHDAY MESSAGE

SPECIAL PROGRAM TO MARK NINETEENTH ANNIVERSARY

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

JAMES E. WEST, chief executive of the Boy Scouts of America, will speak through KDKA tonight at 8:15 o'clock. A special program from New York will mark the opening of the nineteenth birthday celebration of the organization.

"Flow Gently, Sweet Afton" will be sung by a mixed quartet at 6:45 o'clock over WJAS. The beautiful, lilting charm of this composition has always appealed to us.

Two programs at 8 o'clock look pretty good. A French romance will be bared by the Crystal Gazer over WJAS. A tenor will sing the "Love Tale of Alsace Lorraine."

Kermess music will be featured in the Cities Service concert through WCAE. The Cavaliers will sing "Where the River Shannon Flows."

"LOVE'S SWEET SONG"

"Loneliness" will be contrasted with "I Know What It Means to be Lonesome" in the Then and Now concert over WJAS at 8:30 o'clock. A trio of violin, trumpet and guitar will play "Love's Sweet Song," from "Sari," over KDKA at the same hour.

Tonight will find Mary and Bob at a seaside resort in Florida at 9 o'clock, WJAS; while the globe-trotting quartet will make "whoopee" on the Evening in Paris program at WCAE.

The Wrigley Spearmen are a little premature with a program that brings "Violets" and "A Bunch of Roses," KDKA at 9 p. m.

Gus and Louie have finally mastered their tubas enough to attempt solos; WCAE at 9:30 o'clock.

At the same hour, over KDKA, Colin O'More, tenor, and Jessica Dragonette, soprano, will sing a duet, "Love Has Wings," from Kalman's "Sari." An Oriental Dance, from Herbert's "Wonderland," will be played.

VARIETY IN CLASSICS

"Crossing the Bar" is on the Choral Singers' program over WJAS at 10 o'clock.

The music lover will find most everything in a classical concert through WCAE at 10 p. m. The Fritz Bruch String Ensemble will play a prominent part.

Once again the American Singers will be heard at 10:01 o'clock over KDKA as the Challengers Quartet.

Everything's "hotsy-totsy" in the Minute Men concert, a WJAS feature, at 10:30.

KQV will offer Tracy-Brown's Orchestra in a midnight concert.

NEURITIS?

Few diseases cause greater suffering than painful Neuritis or Rheumatism. Authorities state that Neuritis is often the result of excessive acids, poisons and waste materials accumulating in the system. Relief can be obtained by restoring normal functioning of the organs of elimination—especially the kidneys. Mountain Valley Water from Hot Springs, Arkansas, is extensively used to successfully combat the pain of Neuritis. It is a pleasant-tasting, natural alkaline water and comes to you with all of its mineral and medicinal properties intact. You use it here just as you would at Hot Springs, Arkansas. If you want relief, try it now, or phone for additional information and booklet. You have everything to gain.

"KOLSTER Radio advertising must never make extravagant claims," was the principle laid down at Kolster's first advertising meeting years ago. ¶ And Kolster has stuck to this principle ever since—but Kolster owners have not. ¶ Their word-of-mouth advertising has been as generous as the quality in the radio. ¶ Ask any Kolster owner and you will get this convincing reply, "Yes, Kolster is a fine set." Then ask your dealer for a demonstration and let your decision rest on merit alone.

Man Lighting Burner Is Injured in Blast

Burned when a gas explosion blew out the side of his home yesterday, George Frantz, 39, of 28 Superior street, Duquesne, was reported in a critical condition today in McKeesport Hospital. The explosion occurred in the basement of his home when he is said to have struck a match to light a gas burner which had been blown out.

Come to a Specialist If Your Teeth Need Pulling

Painless Dentistry

"An Actual Fact"

Says DR. SHOR

GUARANTEED 15 YEARS

By the aid of Sweet Air it is possible to drill, fill, crown, treat and positively extract teeth and not hurt you the least bit; no matter how badly your face is swollen, how sore your jaw may be, or how fiercely your tooth is aching, Dr. Shor can relieve you without pain. The most sensitive person can forget their fears and depend upon Dr. Shor. The effects of Sweet Air have robbed the dental chair of its horrors—with Sweet Air it is simply impossible to hurt you.

CATERS TO PLAIN PEOPLE

Dr. Shor caters to the plain people, the kind that Abraham Lincoln said "God loves, because He made so many of them." Rich people can pay the prices of the exclusive dentist, who does work for only a few, but the average man can't pay exclusive prices. Dr. Shor could have an exclusive practice, but he prefers an extensive practice, making a small profit from many people, instead of a small practice and big prices.

No charge for Painless Tooth pulling when other work is done.

WORK GUARANTEED FIFTEEN YEARS

Dr. Shor guarantees all his work 15 years. This guarantee is as good as a Liberty Bond, as the Doctor is a man of his word. His standing in the community is attested by bankers, business men and prominent people. If, however, any fault, no matter how trivial it may be, should develop, Dr. Shor stands ready to make good. Your work will be done over if necessary and without question. Dr. Shor will be at Pittsburgh to stay, as he knows the value of the good will of satisfied patients.

AN INVITATION TO THE PUBLIC

Dr. Shor wishes to extend a general invitation to the people to call and accept his offer for a free examination. His office is equipped with every appliance known to dental science.

CITY BOOSTING PLAN READY

A publicity program, one of the five objectives adopted by the Chamber of Commerce several weeks ago, was discussed by the board of directors last night. Newspaper advertisements, pointing out the advantages of living and working in Pittsburgh, will feature the program. The drive will be sponsored by individuals and corporations who have pledged themselves to bear the cost of one or more advertisements.

A Pittsburgh period, extending over 14 weeks, will be started March 2. This will mark the beginning of a series of radio programs to be broadcast every Saturday night. John H. Nicholson, chairman of the general publicity committee, made his report to the board last night.

Baby Burned Falling In Hot Water Boiler

Burned when she fell into a boiler of hot water, Evelyn Syovanek, 2, of 616 Armor avenue, Homestead, is reported in a serious condition in Homestead Hospital today. The accident happened in the basement of the child's home where the mother, Mrs. Mary Skovranek, was washing.

Aluminum Heat Treatment Explained

An address on heat treatment for strong aluminum alloys was delivered last night by E. H. Dix, Jr., metallurgist in the research bureau of the Aluminum Company of America, at the monthly meeting of the Pittsburgh Chapter, American Society for Steel Treatment. The meeting was held in the United States Bureau of Mines Building.

News From Movie Capital Combined With Notes About Amusements

BEAUTIES FROM :-: LATIN-AMERICA :-: WIN MOVIE FAME

And after Dolores' success in "What Price Glory" nothing could keep Mona Rico in her Latin-American home.

Then came Raquel Torres from Mexico and to a place of movie note in "White Shadows of the South Seas."

Mona Maris next heard the call way down in Argentine and hurried to Hollywood.

Newman Film Shows British Lawmakers

Pictures taken in the House of Lords and the House of Commons in London were shown last night in Carnegie Music Hall by E. M. Newman, traveler. In his talk on London, Mr. Newman explained that only recently the barriers to cameramen had been removed at the British government buildings. Still and motion pictures, as well as colored views of London, were shown.

IF RHEUMATIC EAT NO SWEETS

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly, keep the feet dry, avoid exposure, and above all, drink plenty of good water and avoid eating sweets of all kinds.

Rheumatism is caused by body waste and acids resulting from food fermentation. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this waste and acids, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste matter, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus often ridding the blood of rheumatic poison.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

DANCE SHOW IN STAGE BILLS

IN the Pitt, beginning Monday, dancing programs will be given by the Duncan Dancers. The group consists of Russian girls from the Isadora Duncan Moscow school, and is headed by Irma Duncan. The program for the opening night is given to Schubert and Chopin melodies. Each program will conclude with the ensemble's "Impressions of Revolutionary Russia."

Virginia Fox sings the leading feminine role in "Rose Marie," which will begin a week's engagement in the Alvin next Monday night, playing the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees. Rudolf Friml and Herbert Stothart collaborated in writing the music, and Otto Harbach combined his talents with Oscar Hammerstein II in preparing the book and lyrics.

Opening Monday evening, the Nixon will house a play that embodies both comedy and drama. It is called "The Other Man" and is the work of Vincent Lawrence. William Boyd and Edna Hibbard will play the leading roles, assisted by Pat O'Brien and others par excellence.

Toto, clown, will be one of the featured acts on the bill in the Davis next week. He will present "Revue a la Minute," in which he is assisted by a large company. Jack Osterman and Irene Franklin are other acts on the program.

School Teachers To See Chic Sales

A special preview of the Abraham Lincoln memorial film, "Marching On," of which Chic Sale is the star, will be given for principals and teachers of the Pittsburgh public schools in Sheridan Square Theater at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning. Dr. Davidson, superintendent of schools, and Dr. Hollinger, in charge of the department of visualization, have been invited by the Harris Amusement Company, and through them the invitation has been extended to the principals and teachers of all the schools in the district.

Composer-Pianist In Concert Tonight

RACHMANINOFF, Russian composer-pianist, will give a concert in Carnegie Music Hall tonight under the management of May Beegle. His program will open with Mozart's Sonata No. 14, followed by two sonatas by Scarlatti, one in D-minor and one in C-major. Schumann's "Carnival" and three Chopin numbers also will be offered. Of the shorter numbers, Mr. Rachmaninoff will give his own "Moment Musical," and the "Liebesfreud" by Kreisler-Rachmaninoff.

Injured in Crash, Sues Railways Co.

Her spine fractured and deformed, Helen Oakes Grove, 201 South Neville street, has filed suit for $50,000 damages in Common Pleas Court against the Pittsburgh Railways Company. The accident occurred March 3, 1927. She was riding in the automobile of R. K. McKee, which was struck by a street car while crossing Franks-town avenue, on the Washington boulevard. She claims the motorman failed to observe a safety stop when he came to the boulevard.

National Girl Scouts' Leader to Work Here

Marie Aftreith, secretary of the Girl Scout Nature Bureau of National Girl Scout headquarters, will arrive in Pittsburgh today. She plans to work with Allegheny County Scout leaders in practical methods of presenting a nature study program.

Two evening conferences, preceded by dinner meetings Friday and Saturday at the Downtown Y. M. C. A. are planned.

JANET GAYNOR AND FARRELL TOGETHER AGAIN, WITH BORZAGE DIRECTING

By DOROTHY HERZOG.

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate).

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 8.

SEEMS Charlie Farrell and Janet Gaynor are together again in a cinema. Direction, Frank Borzage. Being the "Seventh Heaven" triumvirate. The picture is orphaned as to title. But Janet wears shabby shoes, ditto dress, cotton stockings, a wistful expression, and slobs of dirt on her face. Charlie promises to clean her up before the final reel.

Charles Farrell

Charlie is enthusiastic these days over his house in the Yuluka Lake district, not so far from the First National studio in Burbank. Said house is English-Normandy architecture outside. Inside, a combination early American, Cape Cod, and English. In that particular residential section, a law ordains all houses be Spanish architecture. Charlie had to get the neighbors to sign a petition making it possible for him to go non-Spanish! And the house is all paid for, which pleases Charlie pink. And scant wonder. "Big Boy" Williams, one of his pals, is among those who trek over for the evening.

HOWARD GREER, fashion director, says:

"Colleen Moore finds vermillion affeta complimentary to her coloring and sprightly temperament. At a recent opening, she wore an ensemble of this vibrant color. The coat is shirred from the neck to the hip-line, thus moulding the figure, and then sprang into three saucy frayed tiers which gave much the same effect as a bouffant dress. The accompanying dress was vermillion velvet, with straight bodice and tiered skirt.

Colleen Moore

Frances Marion, years ago, built a gorgeous mansion atop a plateau overlooking the village and other townscapes. There she and her husband, Fred Thompson, lived in luxurious happiness, and pretty soon Fred, Jr., came along to enjoy it, too. Thomson, Sr., passed away shortly before Christmas last, and Frances is now anxious to depart the home of haunting memories. She will sell it for $700,000, and 'tis cheap at the price. The beautiful pipe organ in the music room alone cost $60,000. The stables, which will house nine horses, cost $40,000. The swimming pool, also a round five-figured sum. As yet, there is no purchaser, but a nibbler has bobbed into view.

SCREEN SCRIBS—Janet Gaynor and Lydell Peck, her unofficial San Francisco fiance, strolling across the Fox lot together. . . Patsy Ruth Miller recovering from the "flu" and moving into a new apartment house overlooking Sunset boulevard. Said A. H. owned by Mabel Willebrandt, enemy of the bottle. And it's all lit up. The A. H. Not the bottle. . . Jack Warner, the Vitaphone man, walking across the lot sporting a pair of spats and denying he has a cold. . . Fay Compton, erstwhile British actress, gone Hollywood, lives across the street from Evelyn Brent. . .

Dorothy Brent.

When Dorothy Parker, poetess and scribe, was in Hollywood drawing her weekly stipend from M. G. M., she learned—among other immortal tidbits—that Cecil B. De Mille collected emeralds as a hobby. Came a day when strong voiced men were looking for De Mille, but no C. B. In or out of sight. Whereupon Miss Parker piped up in dulcet tones: "Maybe he's hiding behind an emerald."

Newspaper Girl Weds Film Director

Miss Ruth Taylor, former newspaper girl, and Paul Sloane, film director, were married in Yuma, Ariz., Wednesday, it was announced here today. Miss Taylor is now appearing in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" at the First National studio.

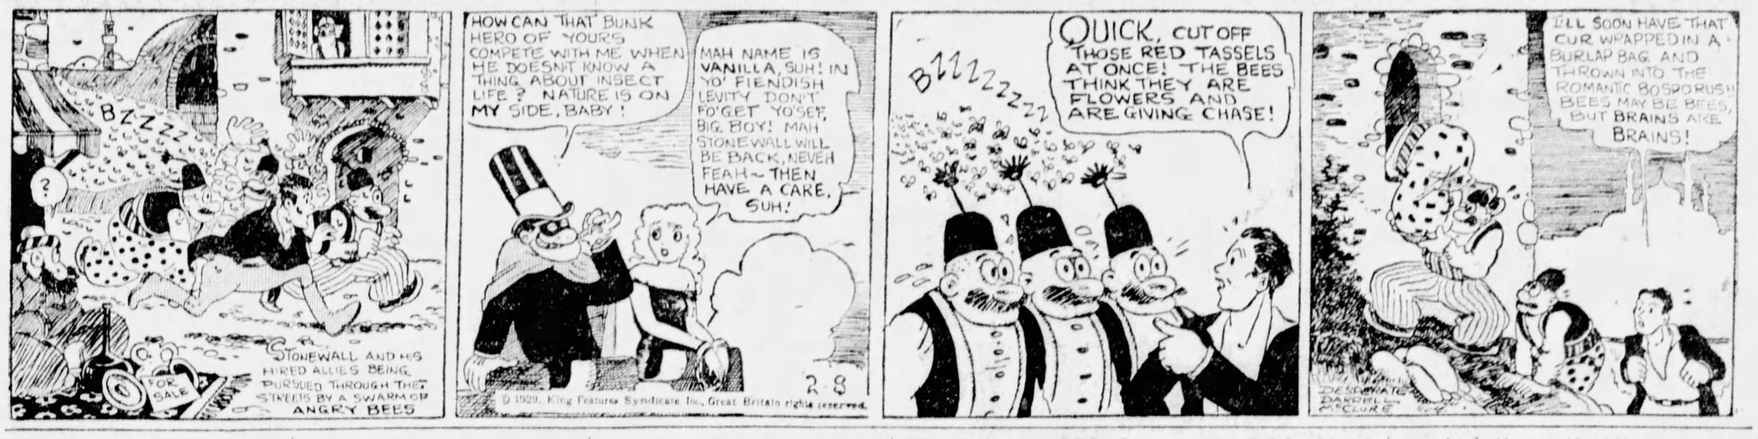
VANILLA AND THE VILLIANS



A Clipped Bouquet

Four Rum Violations To Merit Life Terms

DENVER, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Violators of the state prohibition law convicted four times would be sentenced to life terms under a measure approved by the Colorado State Senate.

By a vote of 17 to 16, the Senate adopted yesterday an amendment to an "habitual criminal" bill including such a provision. Originally, the bill would have exempted prohibition law violators.

Girl Hurt as Sled Is Struck by Auto

Eleanor Smoose, of Ferree street, Coraopolis, is in Sewickley Hospital, suffering with injuries received last night when a sled on which she was riding was struck by an automobile in Montour street. Miss Smoose was riding with Theodore Almacy, 18, of Montour street, who was cut and bruised. William Burrows, of State avenue, Coraopolis, was the driver of the automobile which hit the sled, police say.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer, when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

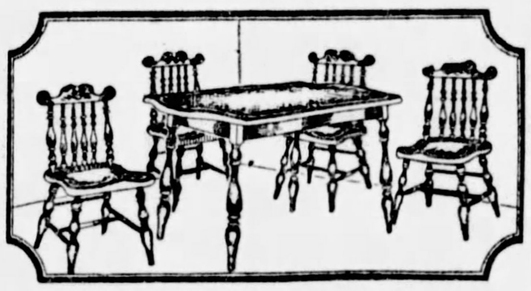
When Is a Home a MUSEUM?

The answer: When it's cluttered with antique furniture of value only for sentimental reasons . . . when its furnishings include drab, uninviting pieces prized as "heirlooms" but long since valueless from the standpoint of adding comfort or beauty to the home. When obsolete furnishings bestow upon it a sombre, antiquated air.

Savings Now From 15% to 50%!

This is the month for economical improvement of the home. Now is the time to act—to re-dress the home, to bring it up-to-date! Now is the time to save as never before! Reductions all through the store on the lowest furniture prices in this city—Pittsburgh's greatest values made possible because 28 May-Stern stores buy as one!



Extension Table Group; 5 Pieces

Divorce for Snoring

ONE of the reasons advanced by a woman for seeking a divorce from her husband at Newport, R. I., was that when he took her to a theater he fell asleep and snored so loudly that people laughed at them.

How to Keep Well

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.

Are Doctors Living Longer These Days?

DR. COPELAND

WITH young people the thought of death is rarely permitted to enter the mind. As we grow older there is increasing interest in the obituary column.

I confess I never fail to run over such lists of casualties in the medical profession. In each of the weekly issues of the "Journal of the American Medical Association" is a page headed "Deaths." During one week recently there were so many that it required four columns of type to list the names of departed doctors.

I had a curiosity to see exactly how these medical men died. Even though it is a gruesome subject, I believe you will be interested. Perhaps, too, this analysis may be made the basis of some comments that will help you to stave off the evil day of death.

In this list I found 77 names. The average age at death was 68 years. There were 30 names of men 70 years or more, the oldest being 94. The average age of those under 60 was 59 years.

I feel encouraged. It was only a generation ago that the average doctor in active practice died at about 40. If this week's record is typical, I am convinced doctors are living longer than in the old days.

Now let us see what were the chief causes of death. Only a limited number of obituaries included this information. But, as recorded, the chief disease was of the heart and blood vessels. Half as many died of pneumonia and from the effects of accident. The same number were swept away by cancer. Next came brain troubles including hemorrhage. Small numbers died from liver complaint, diabetes and typhoid.

At least half these deaths were due to preventable ailments. Doctors are the last men in the world who should neglect the precautions which are known to be effective in warding off certain diseases.

You know the old saying about shoemaker's children—that they are always without good shoes. The same principle applies to the doctors. In their enthusiasm for the cure of their patient, they do not give thought to their own precious bodies.

It is probable that attention to bad teeth or tonsils, diseases of the gall bladder, or neglected constipation, might have kept from the heart the poisons which caused it to fail. Who knows, too, what can be done to escape cancer by living well regulated lives? It is probable that lowered resistance is an essential factor in developing this dreadful disease?

"Physician heal thyself," said one of old. I wish it might be possible to make the doctors think of themselves. They are so important to large numbers of their respective communities that we hate to see them neglect to take to themselves the wise advice they give others.

It is positively wicked for you to overlook the simple precautions which add years to your life. You can't cheat Nature. You'll get caught sure as fate. Begin now to live right, to eat right, to get the rest and sleep you need.

You can avoid heart disease, brain hemorrhage, liver trouble and lots of other ailments. The way to do so is to regulate your habits and practices. This is the time to start.

You will excuse me for speaking about this uncomfortable thing, death. But I want to encourage you all I can to escape medical attention for years at a stretch. That should be your aim.

Answers to Health Queries

L. S. Q.—I am 16 years old and rather short; how can I increase my height?

A.—Get plenty of outdoor exercise. Eat plenty of good nourishing food, including milk, eggs, fresh vegetables and fruit. Avoid constipation and sleep as many hours as possible in a well-ventilated room.

S. M. Q.—What causes a pain near the heart when a deep breath is taken?

2.—What causes the feet to swell?

A.—This may be due to a little indigestion. Your diet should be corrected and the intestinal tract kept clear.

2.—Perhaps a circulatory condition is responsible. Sometimes heart or kidney trouble may produce swelling. Consult your family doctor for a thorough examination.

The Changeling -:- By Madge Geyer

THE dictionary says that a changeling is "anyone subject to change; fickle; inconstant." And how true this is when you watch the girl of your heart for awhile. At first she's the sweetest, most demure little thing you've ever met. Then, away she flies South and the first thing you know she's a laughing, dancing, water sprite. Gay, teasing, languorous, pensive—all these in turn you see under the Southern skies.

Then—off she flies North! And what a change! Skates, skis, toboggans, sleds—everything fast and exciting with the sparkle of the snow in her eyes and on her hair. Her cheeks are like roses and gone is the dainty sprite who so captivated your fancy in the Southern clime.

And then she goes home and again is the demure, sweet thing you first met: Truly a changeling! Inconsistant, never knowing her own mind for one single second. But withal, the loveliest, most adorable thing in the world. Only her heart is the same, for when Love takes it into his keeping, then the changeling outwardly, is the same, but in her heart she is the constant, loving, companion of whom you've ever dreamed.

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Sinister Shadow of Leslie Creeps Across Mary's Path

"ANYBODY else want to see the moonlight on the ocean?"

Harry Underwood's big jovial voice seemed to fill the veranda. He was in the highest spirits and I knew that Lillian in their drive to the ocean had shown him her appreciation of the new car and of his thoughtfulness in planning for Marion's return to school in it.

"Not tonight, thank you," I returned promptly, telegraphing a signal to Katherine to refuse also. She caught the cue and added her negative to mine.

"I'm not going to ask you, Dicky-bird," Mr. Underwood said. "I'm simply going to tell you to come arunning. I'm restless tonight, boy, and I craves company. So flex your lifting muscles and get yourself out of that chair. If you bribe me big enough, I'll even let you drive the new boat."

"No, sweetheart, thank you just the same," Dicky drawled as he rose and sauntered to the door. "I've never taken a bottle from a baby yet and I shan't begin tonight. Come along, you half ripe filbert. But I warn you that after the first hour I'm going to sleep."

"I told Harry to get Dicky out of the way," Lillian said when they were out of hearing. "They're both wide awake and good for hours of talk, and if they were here it wouldn't be just the thing to leave 'em flat, while we foregathered for a confab. And as for waiting till they were through for the evening—nothing doing. I'm dead and buried as it is. But I feel as if I ought to hear the dope Madge has about Mary, which, of course, you're in on, Katrina, and I want to spill some stuff on my own to you both. So suppose we come up to your room, Madge? There's a dandy breeze from that side, and it's far enough from the girls so they can't possibly hear us. What do you say?"

"That the motion is carried as far as I'm concerned," Katherine rose leisurely. "I haven't the faintest notion what all this is about, but I shall be glad to listen."

"I'm ready to go up immediately," I said, and in another five minutes we were in comfortable negligees in my room with the door safely locked against intrusion.

"You first, Madge," Lillian said when we were seated. "Mine can wait."

With a few words of explanation to Katherine about my finding Mary's check and bankbooks and turning them over to Dicky, I went on to a rapid recounting of what Dicky had found in the books, of the subterfuge we had employed to get the books into the stair hiding place and of Katie's aid in preserving it. Last of all I produced the summary Dicky had made of the figures in the check book and handed it to them.

They studied it in silence. Katherine was the first to speak.

"Looks bad," she said, her face troubled. "Now who on earth do you suppose this mysterious 'Janet Rawdon' can be? Do you suppose she's an emissary of Jack Leslie's?"

"I thought of that," I said, "and it seems the most plausible explanation.""

"Save that for your last guess," Lillian admonished. "Not that Jack Leslie wouldn't be capable of just such a stunt, if he dared. But Noel and Hugh Grantland put the fear of God into him so completely on that night that I don't believe he'd ever try to pull anything—not while they're alive. And I happen to know—I've never told you this before, Madge, because Hugh asked me to keep it secret unless it became necessary for you to know—that Hugh furnished the money to ship Jack Leslie to Australia and promised him a monthly allowance if he'd stay there indefinitely. Jack doesn't like work enough to risk losing that snap by coming back here."

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

What Modern Women Fear

EVERY woman has a rival in man's heart—but it isn't always another woman. It's the interesting and fascinating creature he sees in the looking-glass.

* * *

The hot jealousy which one woman feels toward another is a mild emotion compared to the burning envy she feels, when she discovers that a man can have a perfectly good time, all ALONE—without ANY woman! That he can enjoy himself WITHOUT her!

HELEN ROWLAND

A man—and this is the galling thought!—can have just as wild, thrilling and glorious a time at a stag party as at a mixed affair.

* * *

He can get just as excited, enthusiastic and joyous over his secret societies, his initiations, his fraternal reunions and his poker parties as over a masked ball graced by all the houris.

His banquets, his smokers, his Rotary luncheons, his conclaves, his baseball and his golf are all more vitally interesting to him when there isn't "a woman around" to spoil them.

THAT is the bitter pill! We women may enjoy our luncheons, bridge parties and little club meetings in a tepid sort of way—but the real fun and excitement of life doesn't begin until the MEN come down for the week-end.

* * *

Man may no longer be an economic necessity in this day of efficient women; but he is as necessary as the breath of life to our amusement and enjoyment. And the most hilarious party without him, is just Hamlet with the Dane left out!

A lot of women can "get along" on a campaign trip without a man—but there is no real heart or fun in it. But a man on a hunting or fishing trip is blissfully happy all by his loney; and he considers a woman around nothing but excess baggage—not to say a darned nuisance or a painful pest.

* * *

This is the cold appalling fear that grips every woman in her secret heart. SOME day, man may discover that she is not essential to his happiness; that she is not a NECESSITY, but only a little luxury, after all!

* * *

Some day, he may wake up to the fact that he can not only amuse himself without her, but can fry an egg, sew on a button and fill a hot-water bottle all by his little self.

* * *

That he can find the aspirin and the extra cover, and coddle his own headaches or nurse his own colds! Yea, even that he can put the studs in his own shirts, fix his own bath, find his evening clothes, and keep the moths out of his winter overcoat!

* * *

Oh, terrible thought for woman! That man should ever discover that he can GET ALONG WITHOUT her!

* * *

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Not "Significant"

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it correct for a girl in her senior year in high school to invite a young man from a different school to her school's promenade?

2. Who should purchase the tickets?

3. I would like to know the significance of a girl's wearing a young man's signet ring?

L. S. K.

YES, unless there is a tradition or custom against doing this.

2. The girl, who is the hostess.

3. The usual significance is that the girl feels very "romantic" in wearing a boy's ring, whether or not he wishes to have her attach so much importance to it. And usually, too, it is very unbecoming to her hand. In other words, there isn't any significance to this unless the boy and the girl have decided to have it significant.

When Guests Arrive

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When guests arrive should one take their wraps or show them where to put them?

PEST.

IT is better, if it is just as convenient, to show them where to put their wraps. And when a man is calling on a woman she should never take his wraps—she should indicate to him where to put them.

Horoscope

Saturday, February 9

ACCORDING to the astral configurations for this day, a lively and enterprising state of affairs should obtain. With the lunar trine to Mars there is a high incentive to initiative and aggressiveness, with a desire to launch large and bold projects and to stimulate the going concerns to high pitch. There is a sign of new contracts, some change in employment and small anxieties and postponements, but with resolution and deliberation all may be made to flourish eventually. Personal anxieties are seen.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of fine activity and initiative, with possible new business and contracts, some change of employment, accompanied by small anxieties and delays.

A child born on this day may be resourceful, aggressive and enterprising, and despite many small obstructions should succeed in life.

All may do what by man has been done.—Young.

Household Hints

To Save Time

If the things to be used together are kept in close proximity, much time will be saved and many steps spared. For instance the tea should be kept near the canister, the bread knife near the bread board.

An Ironing Hint

Smoothness and glossiness can be obtained when ironing starched pieces by stirring the starch with a paraffin candle three or four times while boiling and just ready to remove.

To Remove Stains

The yolk of an egg will remove mud, coffee, or chocolate stains from any piece of material. Apply with a piece of flannel, beginning at the outside of each stain and working with circular movement toward the center.

To Soften Water

Lemon juice softens water and renders washing less difficult. It helps to remove dirt and grease, whitening and freshening white clothes. Do not use in washing colored fabrics.

CHURCHES HOLD MISSION RALLY

One hundred and ten Lutheran churches in the Pittsburgh district were represented last night at the annual meeting and rally of the Lutheran Inner Mission Society in the First Lutheran Church, Grant street. Prof. H. D. Hoover, of Gettysburg Lutheran Seminary, was the principal speaker. Places of honor went to 75 volunteer workers and 100 members of the women's auxiliary, who assist the society staff of nine paid social workers.

Prof. Hoover declared the first work of the church was to give a helping hand to the underprivileged. He said that church members too often had their sermons so refined for them that there was no food value left. After the address of Prof Hoover five were elected to the board of managers for three years. They are William P. Siebert, J. A. A. Geidel, Dr. G. Arthur Fry, the Rev P. J. Mackensen and Mrs. J. W. Schreiver.

800 PUPILS GET TRAFFIC ESSAY REWARDS TONIGHT

Eight hundred school children will receive prizes tonight for successful participation in the essay contest sponsored by the Better Traffic Committee. An elaborate program will mark the meeting in Memorial Hall, at which time scholarships to local universities and cash prizes will be announced.

Frank L. Duggan, vice chairman of the committee, will speak, as will Dr. R. M. Sherrard, associate superintendent of the public schools; the Rev. Paul E. Campbell, superintendent of parochial schools; Director James M. Clark, of the Public Safety Department, and President James F. Malone, of City Council. Walter Rosenbaum, chairman of the education subcommittee of the traffic group, will be chairman. Mr. Malone will present the prizes.

Three scholarships will be awarded by representatives of Duquesne University, the University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Institute of Technology. One feature of the meeting will be the attendance in a body of the Junior Safety Council. These children are charged with directing traffic in and around the schools.

EDISON AND FORD TO SHARE WORKSHOP IN EXPERIMENTS

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 8.—(AP.)—There is every indication that a certain little table here eventually will become famous as the work bench of Thomas A. Edison and Henry Ford.

Edison is using the bench for his experiments in search of a domestic rubber supply, while Ford, who arrived at his winter home here yesterday, will share it in experimental work about which there was some secret, although it is believed he expects to work out plans for the improvement of aircraft.

Ford successfully eluded a throng of townspeople on his arrival yesterday, and hurried on foot to the Edison workshop, where he was welcomed by his old friend and former employer.

The Ford and Edison winter estates here are separated only by a river.

The famous friends Monday will hold a reunion, which will be attended also by Harvey Firestone and President-elect Herbert Hoover. The occasion will mark Edison's 82nd birthday.

5 Companies Answer Alarm for Bus Fire

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Feb. 8.—Five fire companies answered the call when a fire alarm was received from a Yelloways passenger bus along the Darlington road. A score of passengers had climed out in panic. Damage was small.

SPOUSE OCCULT, ASSERTS WIFE SEEKING DIVORCE

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(INS.)—Witchcraft, the "evil eye," faith-healing and spiirtualism—these, says Mrs. Mildred Hurster, 27, are but a few of the obsessions that have driven her to sue her husband, William, 35, for separation.

Hearing on her motion for $60 weekly alimony and $400 counsel fees was set for February 14.

The Hursters were married June 16, 1924, in Los Angeles. Mrs. Hurster said that on Labor Day, 1927, when one of the wheels of their automobile fell off, her husband accused her of attracting evil spirits, who were responsible.

Commerce Chamber To Banquet Tuesday

John Emmet Edgerton, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, will be the principal speaker at the annuall goodfellowship dinner arranged by the council organizations of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce in the chamber Tuesday, February 12.

Edgerton's subject will be "Goodfellowship in Business."

Credit Leader Tells Of Fight on Frauds

A fund of $1,750,000 for a national campaign to fight business frauds is being planned by the National Association of Credit Men, according to Frank D. Rock, president of the association, who spoke last night to members of the Credit Association of Western Pennsylvania in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. Mr. Rock said that for the first time in history, the forces of honest business in the United States have the commercial criminal on the run.

Second Suspect Held In N.S. Store Robbery

Suspected of being the robber who escaped arrest during a holdup in the meat market of Jacob Moretsky, 527 Taylor avenue, Wednesday night, James G. Carney, 26, of 209 Pennant street, was arrested last night on a suspicious person charge.

Police say that Albert Kaechler, 45, of 603 West Diamond street, was arrested running from the store at the time of the robbery and that his companion escaped. When questioned, Kaechler is alleged to have implicated Carney.

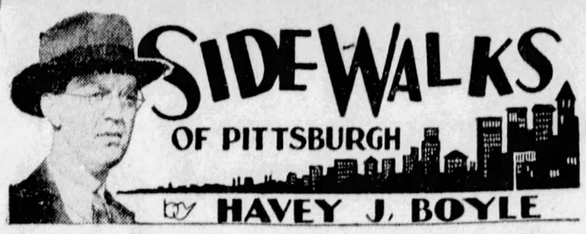
FIND CLUES TO ALLEGED RUM RING HEAD



THE proprietor of an Elliott neighborhood movie house has beaten the high cost of movie music by installing a radio in his cinema emporium. It is surprising, too, how well the music on the air blends with the action of the picture. Only on one momentous occasion did the synchronization cause a bit of a flutter among the spectators. The plot of a certain picture stressed the point that at 5 o'clock (with the hero looking anxiously at the clock's hands) something awful was going to happen and just as the fateful hands of the clock creeped to 5 o'clock the radio man was heard saying: "When the gong strikes it will be exactly 9 o'clock."

Inquiry in Wylie avenue will reveal a nurse employed by a physician who has a reputation for occultism. She is a reputed mystic who is said to have a peculiar gift for telling people just where and how they lost valuable articles. I plan a visit to her in the near future as I am still curious to know what became of the 15 points I lost on a certain baking stock. I have searched high and low for them, but they are still nowhere in sight.

I bought this bread stock about the time, if you remember, when the nation suddenly quit eating bread and took to cheese-cake or something else. The man who sold me that stock remarked logically, I thought, "You see, everyone eats bread," but in the light of my experience I am ready to testify that people nowadays eat oil and copper and roller bearings. Out of the 4,851 stocks listed everyone took a rise except the bread stock I was interested in. But I am not discouraged. I still have a pretty big interest in a big silver mine in Nevada—if they ever find it.

A CORRESPONDENT sends in two items he saw in a newspaper. The first item said that a man got seven years for embezzling $1,000,000. The second item said that another man got life for stealing some beans. He asked me to comment on this. My only comment is that the man who stole the beans, if ever pardoned, should steal his next batch in the jurisdiction of the judge who gave seven years to the $1,000,000 embezzler.

Strange things happen where embezzling occurs. You remember the bank clerk who stole $10,000 and squandered it. He visited his lawyer and told him he faced disgrace and arrest. He couldn't return any part of the money and the bank was sure to prosecute him. Said his lawyer: "Could you steal another $10,000?" The clerk said he could "Well, steal it and bring it to me" This the clerk did and the lawyer then went to the bank officials and said: "One of your clerks has stolen $20,000 from you. He still has $10,000. Now, if you prosecute him and put him in jail I question whether you will get a cent back. But if you promise me you'll let him alone and give him a chance to pay off I'll get him to return one-half of the $20,000 he has stolen—at once." To this the bank officials agreed. Now this probably never happened, but it shows what wide-awake fellows those lawyers can be. A lawyer tells the story. I am happy to say it was not a Pittsburgh lawyer who thought this up. I think the man lived in Idaho.

THE tallest Shriner and Elk in the world often has been written up in Pittsburgh. His name is Bob Keenan. He is a prominent figure in conventions and parades. He works in the Court House and he is well and favorably known. His father seldom has been mentioned. His father, a little, gray-haired man, takes tickets at a Carnegie theater. A retired railroad engineer, he takes tickets to help put in his time.

To Annapolis

J. SEAMAN LEWIS

Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Lewis, 47 S. Linwood avenue, Crafton, has been notified that he has received an appointment through Congressman Guy E. Campbell to Annapolis. He starts in June. He is a freshman at Carnegie Tech and a Crafton High school graduate of last spring.

P. & L. E. READY ON $1,000,000 PROGRAM

South Side terminal extensions for the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company estimated to cost more than $1,000,000 will be started soon as a result of City Council giving approval yesterday to tentative plans for widening West Carson street from Smithfield Street Bridge to Chartiers Creek, McKees Rocks.

Legislation fixing street lines and providing for the mutual exchange of land necessary to align the street will be presented to Council in the near future. When the ordinances are passed finally, the railroad company will award contracts and begin construction in about a month, officials said.

BEGINNING IN SPRING

The company's projects will include warehouses and freight yards between Carson street and the present right-of-way from Smithfield street to the Point Bridge.

Approval of the plans forecasts a beginning early this spring of the widening and repaving of Carson street between Steuben street and the city line at McKees Rocks. Council has a $300,000 appropriation to apply on that improvement.

The widening and repaving of the balance of Carson street will not be begun "for the next two years or until traffic demands make the work imperative."

CONFERENCE HELD

Council's approval was given at a conference with Director Edward G. Lang and Chief Engineer Charles M. Reppert, of the Department of Public Works; Tom M. Reed, chief of the city's Engineering Bureau; Chief Engineer U. N. Arthur and Frederick Bigger, of the City Planning Commission; C. M. Yohe, assistant to the president of the New York Central Lines, and A. R. Raymer, chief engineer of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company.

The conference was a response to a letter from Yohe asking Council's decision relative to establishing street lines to guide the railroad company in locating the proposed warehouses.

TWO REPORTED TO HAVE MADE CONFESSIONS

While the search continues today for Tony Dell, 30, of the Boulevard of the Allies, reputed leader of a gang of whisky thieves, who escaped from the Rankin Police Station yesterday, Police Chief John W. Morris, of Swissvale, followed up more tips as to the headquarters of the gang.

Ray Danner, 29, Bates street, and Herman Molden, 42, of Coltart square, arrested with Dell while trying to get into Allen's drug store, 2019 Noble street, Swissvale, have confessed to scores of whisky thefts in Braddock, Swissvale and Homewood, it was said.

The two men also have promised to find the "cutting plant," where drug store whisky was cut with alcohol and later sold to bootleggers, it was said. Chief Morris visited one place in the Hill district yesterday, but was unable to find any signs of the "plant." He would not say where the clues he is following today would lead, but was optimistic as to their outcome.

ARCHITECT KING WINS OUT

Charges against William H. King, Jr., whose selection by Mt. Lebanon Township commissioners as the architect to draw plans for the new $175,000 municipal building was protested by residents of the community, were aired last night at a mass meeting in the Washing Public School. King and the five commissioners were present. The architect produced 10 well known contractors and architects to disprove the charges that he was not a capable architect.

At a recent mass meeting a citizens' group had voted to have his appointment held up because complaints had been made concerning work done in the past by Mr. King.

Her Parents Barred, Wife Asks Divorce

Mrs. Margaret V. Fencil, 24, Sixth street, Braddock, a stenographer, declared her husband, William S. Fencil, 23, did not allow her to see her parents and locked her out of the house when she had been to see them, testifying in her divorce case before Judge Frank P. Patterson, in Common Pleas Court. Upon this occurrence, in September, 1924, she left him, only a few months after their marriage. The couple have one child, born after the separation.

Fire Damages House And Routs Occupants

The home of Mrs. Louise House at 112 Parkhurst street, North Side, was damaged by fire early today and Mrs. House and other occupants of the dwelling were routed. Damage will be about $2,000, according to District Chief Martin Loebig. According to the police report, the fire started in the kitchen and spread to the rear of the second floor.

Wilkinsburg Police Begin Fund Drive

Plans have been started for the seventh annual Wilkinsburg police fund drive which is to climax this year in a ball and reception May 2 in Sparton Hall, Wilkinsburg. Lieut. Belmont Pugh and Sergt. N. A. Fulton are in charge of the affair. The 1929 police fund year book, which contains names of patrons, is being arranged now.

COUNTER SUIT IS FILED

Dr. Richard L. Ertzman, 528 Greenfield avenue, has filed a counter suit for $75,000 damages against Mr. and Mrs. George Wagner, Randall street, for injuries sustained in a collision between the doctor's car and the Wagner machine December 1, 1928, at Winterburn and Alger streets. The Wagners sued the doctor about a week ago, claiming $50,000 damages for Mrs. Annie Wagner, who suffered bodily hurts. The Wagner car was driven by a chauffeur, while Dr. Ertzman drove his own machine. He claims to have been hurt all over his body and to have lost considerably by being unable to practice his profession while his hurts were healing.

$28,000 Estate Left To Three Daughters

Dramatic Club Elects Officers

ISSUE OF BONDS CERTIFIED

Notification that Quarter Sessions Court has certified both questions of the Stowe township's special bond issue election of February 5 is in the hands of the township commissioners today.

The first question was for the increase of the township school district's bonded indebtedness to the extent of $150,000 for the purpose of erecting, enlarging, equipping and furnishing school buildings. The certified count was 658 for and 207 against, a winning majority of 451.

The second question involved various improvements throughout the district, for which $200,000 was authorized. The first item was $25,000 for a sewer system. Sixty-five hundred dollors were authorized for the construction of concrete steps over the right of way from Island avenue to Park way. The rebuilding and repairing of the footbridge over the P. & L. E. tracks from Island avenue to Nichol avenue at a cost of $15,000 was authorized in the third item. The fourth was $15,000 for funding the floating indebtedness, while the fifth was $135,500 for general improvements. This question had 358 majority.

Smith Addresses Swissvale Rotary

Attorney John Smith was the speaker at this week's meeting of the Swissvale Rotary Club, held in the First Methodist Episcopal Church. He talked on ethics as applied to the legal profession. Edward McCrady and W. L. Dowler were guests at the meeting.

Bus Driver Held As Check Passer

At a hearing before Justice of the Peace M. T. Gorham, E. M. George, of Export, former bus proprietor, was held over on a charge of having passed worthless checks amounting to almost $500. Charges were preferred by George E. Beech, Constable John Pavlic told the justice that George is also wanted by

Bellevue Vetoes Overcoats for Policemen

Burgess W. J. Longmore, of Bellevue, has declined to approve a resolution passed by the borough council to provide overcoats for patrolmen, and has asked that action be deferred until next fall. In notifying council of his attitude the burgess complimented the police force, but stated that he desired that data as to the practice of other boroughs be carefully considered before such a step was authorized. He has written to nine other boroughs and the City of Pittsburgh for information on the subject.

Veteran Dies

GEORGE E. LONG

Mr. Long, 58, veteran employe of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, is dead in his home, 1231 Franklin avenue, Wilkinsburg.

RALLY PLANNED BY HOLY NAME

Twenty-four Catholic churches of the North Side and North Boroughs district will join in a Holy Name rally Sunday night in Allegheny Carnegie Music Hall, under auspices of the Diocesan Union, Holy Name Society. The Rev. F. J. McCabe and the Rev. Charles Moosman, deans, will have charge of arrangements.

The following parishes will participate: Annunciation, Ascension, St. Andrew, St. Francis Xavier, St. Cyril, St. Gabriel, St. Joseph, St. Leo, Nativity, St. Cyprian, St. Peter, Regina Coeli, Sacred Heart, of Emsworth; Assumption, of Bellevue; St. Ambrose, St. Boniface, Most Holy Name, St. Mary, St. Nicholas, St. Wenceslaus, St. Teresa, of Perrysville; St. Aloysius, Reserve Township; St. Athanasius, West View, and St. Alphonsus, Wexford.

Haysville Council Appointment Made

E. W. McLaughlin last night was appointed to fill the vacancy in Haysville Borough Council. He takes the place of C. E. Hoover, one of two councilmen who have not attended a meeting of the body since their election last year. Mr. Hoover moved out of the community a short time after the election. Council did not act to fill the other vacancy.

Swissvale Plans Washington Tea

The Philanthropic Society of Swissvale is planning a Washington tea for February 22, to be held in Odd Fellows Hall. Mrs. F. S. Sanderson, of 2107 Columbia avenue, is in charge of the ticket sale.

GAS TAX TOTAL $22,508,826

HARRISBURG, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Collections of the three cent gasoline tax for the last half of 1928 totaled $12,037,295, bringing the amount for last year to $22,508,826.

State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis, in announcing the figures, said the money collected represented the consumption of 753,027,312 gallons for the 12 month period. Of the six month's collection, $2,017,821, representing approximately one-sixth of the total, is returnable to the counties where collected.

"These figures," Mr. Lewis said in a statement, "bear out my estimate made October last when I stated that the receipts would be approximately $22,470,000." The treasurer then said that the gas together with other revenues would make unnecessary the proposed $50,000,000 highway bond issue, which was defeated.

BLVD. HEARING AT EMSWORTH

Emsworth property owners along the proposed route of the Ohio River boulevard attended a public hearing held by the Borough Council last night. No serious objections were made to the location as projected by county engineers, according to borough officials. Because of differences between the county and the North Boroughs as to maintenance of the boulevard, final action on the route ordinance was postponed until February 21. By that time it is expected an agreement will have been reached.

Swissvale League Will Hear Van Horn

C. E. Van Horn will address members of the intermediate league of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Swissvale Sunday evening, which has been designated as "Scout Ninght." Dorothy McCay will be the leader for the evening. Scout pledges and rules will be given by boy scout members of the league. Ralph Leighty will give a musical program.

Postal Association Arranges Dance

Pittsburgh Post Office Clerks' Beneficial Association, branch of the United National Association of Post Office Clerks, will hold its annual mid-winter dance Saturday evening in Moose Temple, Penn avenue, John J. Kraus is general chairman.

SCHECK BACKED IN MT. LEBANON

C. W. Scheck, chairman of the Mt. Lebanon Township Commissioners, who is named in proceedings started by District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner as having sold gasoline to the township, has gained the support of many residents of the community. At a mass meeting last night in the Washington public school, a committee was appointed to call upon Gardner and ask that the proceedings be dropped.

According to the District Attorney, it is illegal for an official of any municipality to sell supplies to the borough or township. Scheck, a garage owner, had supplied, it is said, gasoline.

CHURCHES PLAN INSTITUTE

Several Bellevue churches are planning to unite with the Bellevue Presbyterian Church Sunday night for the opening service of a church school training institute which will continue until Tuesday night. Dr. Frank McKibbin, professor of religious education, University of Pittsburgh, will speak at the initial meeting on "What Is Worship."

Other speakers listed for the institute include Dr. C. C. Kinter, professor of psychology, Pennsylvania College for Women; the Rev. A. J. R. Schmaker, director of religious education, Pittsburgh Baptist Association; Miss Margaret Carter, of Wilkinsburg; Dr. Charles N. Boyd, Pittsburgh Musical Institute, and Mrs. Archie Holman, of Bellevue.

ASPINWALL BOYS PROUD TO SERVE SUN-TELEGRAPH

Mothers of the newsboys who deliver the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to subscribers in Aspinwall uphold them in their refusal to drop the Sun-Telegraph in favor of another evening paper.

This was learned at a party given for the boys last night by Harvey H. Cochran, Sun-Telegraph agent in Aspinwall, at his home, 104 Center avenue.

The Sun-Telegraph boys are well paid for a few hours work after school, but the mothers say it is not the money involved that makes them want their sons to remain loyal, but the principle of the thing.

The mothers' wishes are in full accord with those of the boys, all of whom have remained faithful.

The Aspinwall boys come for the most part from well-to-do families that do not need the youngsters' earnings. The boys carry the Sun-Telegraph—and the Sun-Telegraph exclusively of the Pittsburgh evening and Sunday papers—because they want extra spending money and take pride in earning it themselves.

Civic Club Calls Bloomfield Meeting

The Bloomfield Civic Club, recently organized, has called an open meeting to be held February 15, in the auditorium of the Friendship Park Methodist Episcopal Church. Taxpayers of the district are urged to attend this meeting as the trolley situation and other matters important to the community will be considered. A number of prominent speakers will discuss the problems.

N. S. COMMERCE CHAMBER FAVORS NEW HIGH SCHOOL

The North Side Chamber of Commerce has thrown its strength to the side of North Side residents seeking a new building to replace the present Allegheny High School, it was announced at a meeting of the chamber last night.

A petition, signed by more than 2,000 North Side residents, was presented to the Chamber by Chester I. Green, chairman of the educational committee. Mr. Green said the petition was being circulated in the district and he hoped that the Chamber of Commerce would "get behind" the movement. The Chamber voted to act favorably on the request.

Two hundred and twenty new members were inducted into the organization at last night's meeting. This marked the end of a four weeks membership drive. John O'Neill received first prize for bringing in 50 new members.

F. E. Tencate, vice president, was in charge of the meeting last night. He introduced George Herde, who gave a talk on the income tax and explained the workings of that law.

Fire Chief Escapes In N. S. Auto Crash

District Fire Chief Martin Loebig and his driver, Charles Urban, had narrow escapes from serious injury this morning when their automobile was struck by another machine while they were en route to a fire. The accident occurred in Foreland street when the car of Gustave Just, 38, of 856 Spring Garden avenue, hit the Chief's machine. Loebig arrested Just on a reckless driving charge.

The fire to which they were en route was in an automobile at the Stockton Service Station, Park way and West Diamond street. The damage was $25.

Sail Rafael Back

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.

Just been all day over at the airplane show here in New York. It's be'in' put on by the aero branch of the American Legion. And they have done a real job. Don't miss it.

These airplane guys are all thinking for themselves. They have hundreds of different shapes, makes and models. Why, I don't think the Eighteenth Amendment spurred on drinking any faster than Lindbergh's trip has aviation.

The man that travels on the ground next summer, he just don't deserve to get nowhere.

Yours, WILL.

ASPIRIN

For sore throat, there's a swift and sure way to soothe away the inflammation. Every singer knows the secret! Dissolve Bayer Aspirin tablets in pure water, and gargle. Nothing in the whole realm of medicine is more helpful in cases of sore throat. And you probably know how Aspirin dispels a headache; breaks up colds, relieves rheumatic pain, neuralgia, neuritis, lumbago! Just make certain to get genuine Bayer Aspirin: it has Bayer on the box, and on each tablet. All druggists, with proven directions.

For TONSILITIS and SORE THROAT

Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

"I'M THE GUY" CONTEST ENDS TOMORROW

I'M THE GUY judges his last set of wisecracks tomorrow. Then off for the sunny South, a swimming suit, a straw hat and a much-needed rest. Yes, I'M THE GUY'S all tired out and he says that to his knowledge no city ever has responded to his contest as Pittsburgh has.

Thousands upon thousands of Pittsburghers have written lines for I'M THE GUY. The actual number is still uncertain as today's wisecracks are still to be counted.

I'M THE GUY probably will announce the total number tomorrow.

The last set of I'M THE GUY winners will be announced in the Sun-Telegraph tomorrow.

$5 PRIZE WINNER

"I'm the Guy who put 'o' in snow and left 'ns' in slush." By Gertrude B. Bishop, 277 Welsh avenue, Wilmerding.

$1 PRIZE WINNERS

"I'm the Guy who borrows ten from flatten when I'm flat." By W. B. Grusch, 1907 Meadville street, North Side.

"I'm the Guy who was able to lift a ton after taking a tonic." By Edward G. Vogel, Box 185, Natrona Heights.

"I'm the Guy that showed action when the dentist performed an extraction." By Mrs. J. W. Boellaard, 52 Flora avenue, Leechburg.

"I'm the Guy that starts a row in a crowd." By Mrs. Helen Kyle, 146 Short street, Whitaker.

A PRACTICAL POPULAR APRON FROCK.

The fronts of this model are reversible, so that the garment may be fastened from left to right or from right to left. A small vestee squares the line of the V neck opening. The pockets are serviceable as well as ornamental. Belt sections hold the fulness of fronts and back at the waistline. Dotted dimity in blue and red is here pictured.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: Small, 34-36; medium, 38-40; large, 42-44; extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure. To make this model for a medium size will require 3¾ yards of 36-inch material. To make belt, pockets and vestee of contrasting material, will require ½ yard. The width of the frock at the lower edge is two yards.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

DOCTOR GAVE HER MIXTURE TO STOP COUGHING SPELLS

Coughed So Bad People Stared—Began to Worry Family.

HAWKED AND SPIT UP PHLEGM EACH MORNING

"A person with a bad cough is a fool not to see their doctor right away," declares Mrs. D. R. Shadweil. "I coughed in church, in the office where I work and at the movies so bad people would stare at me. Mornings I was a nuisance around the house, coughing up phlegm and mucus. At night I breathed through my mouth and mornings my mouth was dry and tasted awful.

SAW HER DOCTOR

"Our old doctor met me on the street and noticed I coughed every minute or so. I told him 25c cough remedies did no good and I couldn't take cod liver oil. He laughed and wrote down the name 'Linonine' and told me it was a nice-tasting Flaxseed mixture with Eucalyptus, etc., far better than Cod Liver Oil and quicker, too.

WONDERFUL RESULTS

"Only the bigger downtown stores had Linonine but it's worth going miles to get. My cough loosened up and vanished almost like magic. Since then a dozen friends who were wheezing and coughing around have taken Linonine and even the kids in the neighborhood like to take it when they get a cough or cold. It builds you up, too."

A cough is a nasty, annoying thing to have and dangerous, too, this time of year. A 50c or $1.00 bottle at home does the work. Well stocked druggists have Linonine, made by the nationally known Kerr Chemical Co.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Pittsburghers' Exodus To Winter Resorts In Full Swing

NOTHING much but traveling these days, is there? There is tomorrow's wedding, of course, with Sally Todd, daughter of the James Neales, of Pembroke place, becoming the bride of Tyson Nimick, son of Mrs. William Howard Nimick, of Fifth avenue, in the Church of the Ascension. And as I told you before, Mrs. James Todd, of Sewickley, is giving the rehearsal dinner tonight.

As for the travelers, there are plenty of them, it seems. The Thomas J. McKays, of Morewood avenue, for instance, are planning to go abroad with their sub-deb daughter, Elizabeth. They will sail, I understand, on April 13 on the Roma. Elizabeth, by the way, is to be a debutante in 1930, I hear, too, that the George S. Olivers, of Ellsworth avenue, are in New York, stopping at the Ambassador Hotel.

The T. Howe Nimicks have left for a trip to Nassau, in the Bahamas. They sailed today on the Munargo, and expect to remain some time in the South. One of this season's lads is going south shortly, too. This is Louise Evans, and she and her mother, Mrs. Henry Oliver Evans, of South Negley avenue, are planning to leave on Sunday to spend several weeks in Palm Beach, Augusta and Pinehurst. They will return home early in the spring.

Then Mrs. James Dickinson Rhodes, of Sewickley, is leaving to spend a month in New York. She and her daughter, Mary, are planning to sail on March 8 for Barcelona, Spain. Their arrangements include a visit in the Balearic Islands and later a motor trip along the eastern coast of Spain. They will return home in July, I believe. The David M. Kirks and their daughter, Mrs. Robina Kirk Quinby, of Sewickley Heights, have left for the South, too. They will be at their winter home in Palm Beach for the remainder of the season.

Also away from home just now is Mrs. Edward J. House, of Beechwood boulevard. She has been traveling abroad, and at present, I understand, she is in Switzerland. And Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lewis, of Aylesboro avenue, are in New York for a few days.

On the list of travelers, too, are Richard K. Mellon and Malcolm McGiffin, president of the Rolling Rock Hunt Club, who sailed today for a hunting trip in England and Ireland.

GETTING away from the topic of travelers, let me tell you about a few changes that have been made in the Junior League marionette show plans. The performance will be given Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the parish house of the Church of the Ascension, you know. Mrs. George M. Laughlin III has taken Miss Grace Fagan's place in charge of the properties, and instead of Miss Priscilla Hall, Mrs. Kent Hanson will serve as one of the puppeteers. Mrs. Charles L. Snowdon, Jr., is general chairman, with Mrs. Herbert A. May assisting her, and Mrs. W. L. Jones, Jr., is director. Mrs. Oliver J. Keller is in charge of music and Mrs. Verner Wasson, of diction, while Mrs. Joseph M. Scribner is in charge of marionettes.

THE marriage of Miss Kathryn Virginia Weddell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Elihu Weddell, of Scottdale, and Dr. William Jay Fetter, of Pittsburgh, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Weddell, of Scottdale, was solemnized Wednesday night at 7 o'clock in the Weddell home by the Rev. George W. Haden, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Scottdale.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in ivory satin with a veil of rose point lace held with orange blossoms, and she carried white roses, orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Stella Weddel, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, appearing in sweetheart blue taffeta and carrying yellow tea roses, while another sister, Miss Marianna Weddell, as bridesmaid, wore peach taffeta and carried butterfly roses. Martha Louise Hankins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hankins, of Uniontown, as flower girl, wore a frock of pink tulle and carried a basket of spring flowers. Dr. William Weaber was best man and the wedding music was played by Will Wentzel, of Greensburg and Pittsburgh. A reception followed the ceremony in the Pleasant Valley Country Club.

Dr. and Mrs. Fetter have left for a trip to Havana and upon their return will be at home in Beechwood boulevard.

MR. AND MRS. M. J. M'MAHON, of Ingram, have left for Florida, and will remain in Miami and St. Petersburg until spring.

Then on the following day the club will have a benefit bridge party in the Hotel Roosevelt under the general chairmanship of Mrs. E. B. Heyser, with Mrs. Walter R. Fleming as co-chairman. Assisting on other committees will be Mrs. Joseph B. Drake, Mrs. Richard Arthur, Mrs. Bushnell, Mrs. George J. Campbell, Mrs. D. Edwin Miller, Mrs. Robert T. Alexander, Mrs. W. W. Allen, Mrs. Laura Z. Charlton, Mrs. John S. Sloan, Mrs. C. A. Brooks, Mrs. S. B. Heppenstall, Mrs. M. R. Moxley, Mrs. C. S. Hutchinson, Mrs. H. J. Fox, Mrs. Sylvester J. Snee, Mrs. D. F. Harrison and Mrs. S. J. Corbett.

MISS NOEL FRANCIS, of the "Pleasure Bound" cast at the Alvin Theater this week, has been invited to attend the Pi Beta Phi benefit bridge tomorrow in McCreery's dining room. Miss Francis is an alumna. In charge of the card party is Mrs. Ray H. Finger, who will be assisted by Miss Fern Wein, Mrs. William W. Steel, Miss Lois Jacobs, Miss Emily A. Lane, Miss Anne Potter, Miss Helen McElravy, Miss Marie McSwigan, Miss Jeanne King, Pitt chapter president, and Miss Mary Burke, Pittsburgh Alumnae Club president. These hostesses are to greet the guests: Mrs. Walter F. Rittman, Miss H. Vera Trimble, Miss Margaret Hotham, Miss Margaret McConaghey, Miss Sarah Fulton, Mrs. W. A. Wellinger, Miss Sarah Hannan, Miss Catherine McCullough, Mrs. H. C. Johnston, Miss Elizabeth Webster and Mrs. Roy Slocum.

MRS. EDWARD O. TABOR will present a program of folk songs at the February meeting of the South Hills College Club, to be held at the Beech home, Washington road, Mt. Lebanon, tonight. Hostesses are Mrs. G. R. Fisher, Mrs. H. A. Bowman, Miss Hazel Duffy, Mrs. R. H. Frank, Miss Gertrude Humphrey, Mrs. W. B. Hamilton, Mrs. B. C. Hinkley, Miss Eva Hoover, Miss Eva McKenny, Mrs. O. C. Nichols and Mrs. H. G. Shrewsbury. The club will have a bridge luncheon for the benefit of the scholarship fund at the Food Craft Shop on February 23.

MRS. JOHN M. PHILLIPS, chairman of the American home department of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, will address the Sheraden Parent-Teacher Association on Tuesday evening at a meeting which will be open to the public. Mrs. Paden Hissom will play violin solos, accompanied by Miss Violet Hertzler, and Miss Ruth Malcolm will sing.

STAID 20TH CENTURY CLUB GAY CABARET FOR DAY

THE auditorium of the Twentieth Century Club on whose stage have stood peers of the realm, men of royal lineage and the most distinguished representatives of the arts and sciences, scarcely recognized its staid, conservative self yesterday when it was made the setting for an afternoon of arrant nonsense. At the same time this was very clever and decidedly original nonsense that the drama committee presented in combination with the dancing class and the junior members of the club.

The guests were (presumably) being entertained at "Oline's Little Club," of which Mrs. H. Allen Maclesney was the proprietress, Mrs. Jacob Simpson Payton, Mrs. Sidney Hammond and Miss Eleanor Grier were the hostesses and Mrs. William Booth the very efficient "Louis." From time to time distinguished guests such as "Jimmy" Walker, Charlie Chaplin and Ethel Barrymore arrived in the persons of Mrs. C. B. Monro, Mrs. Leonard K. Guiler, Miss Edith Cole, Miss Grace Fagan and Mrs. Alexander Murdoch, while Mrs. T. C. Clifford was the "big butter and egg man."

Of the program that was offered, three impersonations by Mrs. Carroll Miller were quite distinctive. In a most original and vastly amusing way Mrs. Miller burlesqued in gesture, appearance, speech and manner, three celebrated men who have lectured before the club within the last season or two. Mrs. Leonard K. Guiler and Miss Cole did Ring Lardner's "A Strange Intermission;" there was a Floradora sextet, Miss Betty Guiler, Miss Louise Evans, Miss Nancy Allderdice, Miss Helen West, Miss Katherine Schley and Miss Harriet Wainwright; Miss Anne B. Watt, Miss Jane McEldowney, Miss Janet McKinney and Miss Nancy James as "the Alberta Day Hash Girls" did a clever dance; Miss McKinney and Miss McEldowney were a pair of "colored" tap dancers; Mrs. Samuel Brainard West gave a graceful exhibition of toe dancing; there was an old-fashioned tandem bicycle song and dance number by Miss McEldowney and Miss West, and a marathon dance act by Miss Eda McCoy and Mrs. Mary Jones Sherrill. Miss Bessie Johnston and Mrs. Albert Pettit were the overalled stage hands.

Associated Charities Vote on New Name

A proposition to change the name of the Associated Charities of Pittsburgh to the Family Welfare Association will be voted on at the annual meeting late today at 435 Sixth avenue. A re-statement of the object of the organization also will be considered in a referendum of the membership.

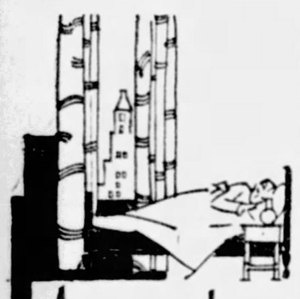
At the same time it is proposed to change the charter to conform with the organization's status as a member agency of the Welfare Fund of Pittsburgh.

CHURCH BUDGET $1,116,000

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—A $1,116,000 budget for the fiscal year 1929-30 was adopted at the closing session of the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church yesterday. Of this amount, $967,525 will be used for general purposes of the board and $148,475 will go to the theological schools.

General administration was allotted $53,500, while $50,000 was provided for co-operative work with other boards, and $7,500 for the men's commission work. The balance will be divided between the educational institutions and religious education.

The board voted to drop Iowa University, of Fayette, Ia., from the list of Methodist Colleges because of its refusal to enter a merger decided upon by the upper Iowa Conference of the church.



An extra hour's sleep Oh, it's nice to get up in the morning, but—what a relief not to spend an hour on the street car, train, or bus getting to the office!

FLAG CONTEST OFFERS EDUCATION IN U. S. IDEALS

plan of the United States Flag Association and the Hearst Newspapers, and it is expected that flag contests will be conducted in many of the public high schools and their equivalent in private and parochial schools in this territory, as well as by patriotic and civic societies.

AGES 14 TO 18

Flag contests may be conducted by any of these units, provided they have at least 25 contestants between the ages of 14 and 18—that is, who were born between June 14 (Flag Day), 1911, and June 15, 1915. A boy or girl whose eighteenth birthday falls on June 14 of this year, is eligible to compete. Boys will compete only against boys and girls only against girls, although schools and organizations so desiring may conduct one contest for both boys and girls, provided at least six of the 25 contestants are either boys or girls. Identical awards will be given both the boy and girl winners.

In the case of the school or organization flag champions, these awards consist of the "Old Glory Medal" of the United States Flag Association and life membership in the society in which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was the first member—the Order of the Flag, of the United States Flag Association. Runners-up will receive handsome testimonials of honorable mention. These school and organization flag champions will have their papers judged by prominent men and women, along with those of other champions in this territory, and from them one boy and one girl will be chosen to represent this region in the national contest in Washington, where the winner of the grand national award—a free trip around the world—will be chosen.

TOUR OF HISTORIC PLACES

While on their free trip to Washington, the regional champions will be taken on a patriotic pilgrimage to Fort McHenry, Md., where Francis Scott Key was inspired to write the Star-Spangled Banner; to Philadelphia, where they will see the Liberty Bell; Independence Hall, where the Declaration of Independence was signed; the Betsy Ross House, where the first American Flag is said to have been made; to Valley Forge, America's most inspiring patriotic shrine; to Mt. Vernon, George Washington's home; to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, and to other spots of historic interest. Chaperons will accompany the boys and girls on all of these trips.

The cruise around the world will start from San Francisco on June 28. The national champions will be furnished with a complete wardrobe that will include evening dresses for the girl and full dress for the boy; trunks, hand luggage, and all necessities for travel. All expenses, including tips, laundry and incidental expenses, will be paid. Both the boy and the girl will be given $200 in spending money for the trip, and arrangements will be made for them to send cables and wireless messages to their homes each week. The chaperone who will accompany them will be a woman of national prominence, who has traveled and who will be able to help them get the most out of their trip.

NO EXPENSE ATTACHED

All of these awards are being furnished by the Hearst Newspapers.

Any school or organization that has not yet received an invitation to conduct a Flag Contest from the United States Flag Association need not wait for such an invitation, but may communicate directly with the Flag Contest Editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. All information will gladly be furnished, as will all supplies necessary to conduct a contest, free of cost. Boys and girls who are interested in this unusual opportunity are urged to talk to their teachers, the heads of their Scout troops, the heads of the American Legion posts, or Legion auxiliaries, or any other patriotic organizations in their localities. They also should talk to their friends about it and urge them to become contestants. The work in this contest will prove interesting, instructive, and, above all, will give the boys and girls of the United States a new insight into the ideals and institutions of their country.

Waynesburg Co-ed "Boyless" Prom On Tonight

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Feb. 8.—Waynesburg College co-eds will defy custom, tradition and male students this evening, when they stage their first annual co-ed prom, which no boys will be allowed to attend.

Although the girls state that they are just anxious to stage something new, the boys declare the dance is being staged as a disciplinary measure against them because during the last few months they have been escorting non-college girls to college dances. A record attendance is anticipated by members of the Alpha Gamma Theta Sorority of the college, under whose auspices the prom is being held.

CLEAN and disjoint a young chicken. Boil each piece in melted butter or pork drippings, then roll in flour which has been well seasoned with salt and pepper. Place a few strips of salt pork in cup of cream, and season the sauce to taste. And there you have a real old-fashioned Southern dish, and one that is guaranteed to make you wish Sunday came twice a week, instead of just once.

BAKED rice and cheese will supply the "tang" that a chicken dinner usually needs. And it is, incidentally, a most popular dish. Put a cup of rice in a double boiler, add three cupfuls of milk, and cook until tender. Make a sauce with two tablespoons of butter, two tablespoons of flour, one-half teaspoon of salt, pepper and paprika to taste, and another cupful of milk.

Now add one-half pound of American cheese, which has been rubbed through the grater, and stir until the cheese has entirely melted. Butter a baking dish, and arrange cheese sauce. Cover the top with buttered crumbs, and bake until brown.

Put the chicken in the pan and set in a hot oven.

When it begins to brown, add about one-half cup of boiling water. Baste frequently until well browned. Then cover the pan and let cook gently about one hour, or until the chicken is tender. Serve with the following sauce:

Melt 2 tablespoons of butter, stir in 2 tablespoons of flour, and form to a smooth paste of the mixture. Add about ¾ of a cup of scalded milk. Allow it to cook until thick, stirring carefully to prevent scorching.

Now bring in gradually a half cup of cream, and season the

You'll pass your tea cup more than once for a drink of this matchless beverage

The right way to make tea
Pour freshly boiled, bubbling water on the tea-leaves.
Steep for five or six minutes.
Always serve with milk or cream.

AND what a beverage it is! Rich, fragrant and steaming hot, every cup of Tetley's sends an invigorating warmth through and through you. There's tea to cheer you up!

Economical? Tetley Tea is economical. But quality is not sacrificed to maintain that economy. The finest tea leaves from India are used, as they have been for over 100 years, to make Tetley one of the world's finest tea blends. Tetley Tea costs no more than ordinary blends, either, because it brews stronger and goes farther.

Try a cup today—brewed the Tetley way. Your grocer has it in pound, half-pound and quarter-pound packets, and in tea-bags for individual service.

If Hosiery Fades
No Matter How Carefully Washed

Simple Way To Stop Fade and "Soap Eat" Even When Ordinary Laundry Soap Is Used

The problem of washing filmy chiffon hosiery has been finally solved. Delicate color tints that formerly faded—no matter how carefully washed—now come through many washings without perceptible sign of fading or "soap eat." Even when ordinary laundry soaps or powders are used.

Under the new method described here, even faintest pastel colors in fine lingerie or delicately tinted hosiery hold fast, according to recent tests, for as many as 50 washings, without noticeable fade or wear.

The method is very simple: To each tubful of water (or washer filled to the water line) you merely add 2 tablespoons of a preparation called CLIMALENE and use just ONE-FOURTH the quantity of soap you ordinarily use. Then proceed with washing as usual. (For small wash basin, use 1 teaspoonful of CLIMALENE.)

This preparation is used by experts to stop fade and soap eat. It acts by converting hard, or semi-hard water to rain water softness and to dissolve grease and dirt. White clothes, washed this way, never grow yellow—but wash pure white. Delicate colors hold fast. You can easily get it at any grocery store. Two sizes, 10c and 25c. Just ask your grocer for CLIMALENE.

An Accomplishment of Importance

IN days gone by fresh fruits and green goods were scarce and high priced during the winter months. For some time this condition has gradually been changing until today the selection is just as good in Winter as Summer and the prices are about the same.

The chief contributions of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company in bringing about the present favorable condition has been: First, to make fresh fruits and vegetables available to almost everyone thru our large number of neighborhood stores, and Second: to offer this merchandise at such low cost that everyone can afford it.

Efficient operation is chiefly responsible for the low prices. Full cars of goods are purchased direct from the producers and shipped directly here, saving time and money, which is reflected in our fresh merchandise and low price.

Earliest Christmas Hymns

THE earliest of all Christmas hymns was written by Prudentius, who was born in 348. The English version, "Of the Father's Love Begotten," is still sung in the Church of England.

Smoking Prohibited Behind Scenes

SMOKING "behind the scenes" is forbidden to film actors and actresses in several of the biggest British studios, partly because of the risk of fire and also because it dulls the eyes of the smoker.

WHO'S GUILTY???

CAN YOU SOLVE THIS DETECTIVE STORY?

The Lady Killer

By Evelyn Johnson and Gretta Palmer

IT was the bane of Wilbur French's life that he had not been born a gentleman. In this day and age, when an ex-newsboy may aspire to the presidency, it seems a trifle out of order to lay the blame for any lack of achievement upon the humbleness of one's beginnings, but Wilbur's resentment against his father was positively morbid. For French Senior had had the bad taste to be a country veterinary, and he had christened his only son Bill. This name had been dignified to Wilbur, and aspirations towards gentility had suggested selecting the vocation of dentistry in preference to the elder French's calling. Later Wilbur was to realize that dentistry was not, after all, the most elegant profession he might have chosen.

In the large city he had decided upon as the setting for his assault on the smart set, he soon found that his talents, his dubious title to "Dr." and his fancied resemblance to Adolphe Menjou brought him very little social advancement. After three years in the metropolis, he was forced to admit that his conquests had been among shop girls rather than among leaders of the 400. He still had his office on the parlor floor of a brownstone house in a drab locality, with his living quarters back of the office. Wilbur was really a despicable little creature and it seems a shame that he is to have the principal—if silent—role in this story.

FOR Wilbur was murdered. Master George Simpson reluctantly dragged himself into Dr. French's office for his 9 o'clock appointment one Saturday, and had the poetic satisfaction of finding his torturer lying in a welter of blood with all his nasty implements in an orderly row in their locked case awaiting the arrival of the miraculously rescued George. George rushed out of the office and told his thrilling tale to Officer Sweeney. That arm of the law took one glance at the scene of carnage and tore off for headquarters.

Sergt. Twill arrived at the dingy brownstone house a few minutes later, armed with a notebook and abetted by two assistants. An examination of the body showed that the little dentist had been murdered by a single stroke of a sharp instrument that had severed his windpipe and jugular vein. He had evidently been adding an even more blinding luster to his pink, impeccable nails while awaiting the reluctant George, for he was seated close to the window, with a set of manicure instruments spread out on the little white enamel instrument case at his elbow.

"He had been manicuring his nails," said Sergt. Twill astutely.

"Ah," said the lighter-haired of the two neophytes admiringly.

"MURDERED by one of his own instruments evidently," said Twill omnisciently. The blond assistants looked at him adoringly but the dark one tried the instrument case which was securely locked, and dug into the victim's pockets while Twill looked on with frowning disapproval.

"What's eating you, Mike?" he asked coldly.

But the dark young Irishman with difficulty dragged a large bunch of keys out of the dentist's right-hand hip pocket, found the key to the instrument case, and observed triumphantly, "Well, if anybody could get that key without his knowing it, I miss my guess."

"Maybe you're right," said Twill, but he did not seem overjoyed at the keen dispatch of his assistant.

"And it certainly wasn't one of these little manicure gadgets," went on the enthusiastic Mike, not heeding his senior's unfriendly aspect. "Hooray," he yelled dropping to his knees, and pointing to a small bloody object. It was a safety razor blade. He picked it up gingerly with the little dentist's own tweezers, and whipping a large magnifying glass out of his pocket, examined his find carefully. He looked disappointed. "No finger prints," he said. "It's too much covered with blood." "No finger prints anywhere," he added after a brief search.

"Look here, Sherlock Holmes," said Twill nastily, "buzz off to headquarters and see if we have any records of this guy while I interview the other people in the house. We don't need no sleuthhounds on this case."

THE assiduous Mike looked at him reproachfully, but left, only pausing to glance at the stricken Wilbur's appointment book.

"No appointments before the kid who reported the murder," he stated irrepressibly.

"What of it?" asked his superior furiously.

"That would indicate that it was not a patient," said Mike and fled.

Twill drew himself up, and resumed his former godlike aspect, while his blond assistant goggled dotingly. The sergeant spent half an hour searching the room, then turned to the body. He examined the murdered man from all angles, but could discover nothing noteworthy in his aspect. Wilbur's face looked a little startled, and his position seemed to indicate that he had made a consulsive effort to rise when attacked, but had died instantly.

"Someone he knew," said the glorious Twill.

"Yes," said Mike, bursting into the room, "and I am sure of it, because there is a paralyzed woman over across the street who has been looking out of her window since seven and swears no one has come into this house, except one man, who went into the barber's on the ground floor and that has a separate entrance. Of course the dentist would not be up manicuring his nails before seven, and he hasn't been there all night because the light was not on, and the barber says that French did not come in until 11 last night, anyway."

"BARBER?" said Twill, and nudged his blond assistant knowingly.

Then he remembered his position. "Who told you to interview invalids?" he asked Mike furiously. "Come along while I do a little interviewing and keep your face shut."

They began with the barber. He lived back of his shop, he told them, he and his wife. It had been a hot evening so they had sat in front of the shop until almost midnight. The doctor had come in at 11. They had gone to bed, and had heard no disturbance. They had opened shop at 8:30, one customer had come to the shop and they had seen no one go in the door that led upstairs until the little boy had come. They did not know the dentist. He was a snooty guy, and had snubbed them repeatedly.

"Dio," said the barber furiously, "who was he to be so fine? He would not even get his hair cut here. Little dog," he snarled, and his eyes gleamed fiercely.

The three representatives of the law left.

There were two doors. They tried the right-hand one. A tousled head greeted them. The police explained their mission. Two clerks lived in the apartment. The one who opened the door called his roommate.

"THAT dentist was a great one with the ladies," said the man who opened the door, while they were waiting for his friend to appear. "An awful snob. Took Maizie, the roommate's girl out to dinner once and decided that she wasn't grand enough for him. Nearly broke Maizie's heart, and the seamstress next door was crazy about him, too. But lately he'd taken to going out with a swell girl with a car. I can't understand it, myself. Maizie had turned down my roommate and he was all broken up about it. He seems a little queer lately, too."

Twill looked delighted. "Does he use a safety razor?" he asked casually.

"No," said the garrulous clerk, "we both use a straight razor. It takes a professional or an old timer to use those things nowadays."

"Never mind," said Twill hastily, "just so he didn't have a safety razor. Had either of you been out the night before, or this morning?"

They had had dinner and come in at 9 and gone to bed early. They had heard no disturbance, and neither had stirred from the room until the roommate had gone to take a bath in the bathroom, which was on the same floor, at about a quarter to nine.

Twill looked meaningly at his blond neophyte.

Had they heard any one else moving around? he asked.

Only one other person going into the bathroom, the clerk said; it might have been Miss Schultz, who had the room next door, or the artist on the top floor. The dentist and barber did not use this bath. He and his roommate had slept late because their office was closed on Saturdays during July and August.

JUST then a young man came into the stuffy little sitting room from the bedroom adjoining. He was very thin and pale. "We came to ask you if you knew anything about the murder of Dr. French," began the tactful Twill. The young man fainted.

When he was able to talk, he told them exactly what his roommate had said. Their stories tallied perfectly.

Twill and his minions proceeded to Miss Schultze's. She was a cold, calm little thing, with a hard repressed manner, and Mike found it hard to believe that she had been one of the dentist-Don Juan's conquests. She could tell them nothing. She had had her supper in her room, she had heard nothing all night, she had not left the room, and she had started working at nine.

"Chief," said Mike excitedly.

"Now I've stood enough," said that worthy. "You get out of here, and I'll have you broken for an interfering, fresh, insubordinate whippersnapper. Go back and report at h.q."

"Thank you, madam," said Twill, and he and his satisfactory blond assistant went up to the top floor.

The young commercial artist who lived there was still asleep.

They routed him out, and obtained the information that he had been on a party and got in at two. He hadn't stirred since then or heard a thing. He didn't know their little dentist and didn't want to. Twill's silent partner had been looking around the room. He stopped before the desk which was covered with drawing materials.

He then made his first and last conversational contribution.

"Look," he said, and held up some safety razor blades.

"What about it?" said the artist, "I use them all the time in my work, cutting out drawings and things. I hope your dentist wasn't murdered with one of those."

"He was," said Twill.

Solution of Yesterday's "Finger Prints Can't Lie"

DR. MARCUS murdered his wife to prevent her from giving away his state secrets. He broke into his own poison-cabinet before his departure for Europe and placed the strychnine in a bottle from which he wiped his own finger prints. He had photographed the finger prints of Mary, had engraved them and transferred them in the positive onto a pair of rubber gloves. Wearing these gloves, he handled the bottle, leaving traces that corresponded to Mary's own hand. His instructions to his wife about the medicine insured that she would not take the poison until after he was well on his way to Europe. During the four years that elapsed before the detective reached him, he entirely changed his appearance by inducing to a marked degree a disease called acromegaly, which can be brought on by eating enormous quantities of pituitary extract. Such changes as a gain of several inches in height and unrecognizable heavier features are a result of this disease.

Cash Awards for Best Mystery Story Solutions

EVERY day the Sun-Telegraph will print a mystery story on this page. The correct solution, written by the authors, will appear the day following the publication of each story except the one printed on SATURDAY.

Each SATURDAY there will be printed an original, or PRIZE STORY, by the same authors, the solution of which is in a sealed envelope. Prizes will be paid only on stories appearing on that day. Everybody is invited to send in their solutions of the SATURDAY PRIZE STORY. For the best three solutions in point of accuracy, brevity, clarity and completeness, the following cash prizes will be awarded:

FIRST PRIZE .....$10.

Three prizes of $5 each for the next three.

Contestants for the PRIZE STORY AWARD will have from Saturday morning until the following THURSDAY night at 6 o'clock, to send in their solutions. Letters postmarked after that time cannot be accepted, as judges must be able to render their decision on the prize winners in time to make the following Saturday's editions, when the correct solution of the PRIZE STORY, along with the names of the winners, will be printed with another PRIZE STORY for you folks to tackle.

Address your solution to the Mystery Editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl

Story by Lloyd Mayer :-: By John Held, Jr.

"My dear, I'm simply SEETHing with SPLEEN at this point—I mean I'm ACtually FIT to be TIED because I've never seen anything LIKE the way the macerations of DESTiny deFEAT me at ev'ry TURN, no less! HONestly, my dear, it's got my NECK out because I SUDdenly resolved to try this LEAPing OVerboard stunt again, my dear, because I couldn't b'LIEVE that this BAsil WEALTHington person wouldn't imMEdiately leap in after me, forgetting he couldn't SWIM in the exCESS of his anXiety for my SAFety and then I could have rescued HIM, my dear, and everything would have been simply SWISS but, DRAT the luck, the SECond he saw me vaguely disaPEARing over the side of the YACHT, my dear, he just comMANDed ARab and NOIsy and PHWHEN and BULL to DASH to the RESCUE, which they proceeded to DO so RAPidly, my dear, that I could have placidly DROWNED half a dozen times in suCCession if I'd WAITed for THEM to help me out, so I had to SWIM back to the yacht mySELF after YEARS of WAITing in VAIN for BASil to DO something heROic—can you COPE with it? And then ARab explained why he and the GANG hadn't rescued me, saying wouldn't they have been suckers to do anything about it considering I could SWIM better than ANY of them? REALly, my dear, I'm HONestly WEAK with WOE about the situation at this point because this BASIL WEALTHington simply SLAYS me with this complete inDIFference to my CHARMS, my dear! I mean he wasn't even LOOKing when I came out of the water, do you know what I mean?"

NANCY DEANE

By Roy L. Foley

CHAPTER XXIX.

"FIRST of all, what I want you to do is this. I want you to check these two lists to be sure that no name has been omitted from either. When you have done that I will show you what else is to be done."

Mrs. Montgomery Deane's rather puffy, heavily jeweled hands flashed in and out among the papers on the highly polished mahogany table. Nancy could look down toward these hands and see the face of the woman, too. For the table was so beautifully polished that it mirrored her grandmother's reflection as beautifully as a glass. The polished surface was kinder to Mrs. Deane than a mirror. Its deep, dark depths reflected a very handsome, beautifully coiffured, gray-haired woman, an aristocrat, that is if an aristocrat is to be defined in terms of manners, of gowning, inflections, poise, demeanor.

"You're the girl Mr. Wescott sent from his office?" she remarked when Nancy was ushered into her presence by the black-gowned, white-aproned maid.

She pronounced the word "girl" as Nancy had never heard it pronounced before, as though it were spelled "gar-u-l." She turned to answer some question of the maid almost as soon as she had said it, and while her back was turned, Nancy had an impish urge to mimic her, to mock her, to try to say the word gar-u-l. Like that.

Her grandmother! No. Ten thousand times no! Nancy could not believe she was anything to her, or that she ever could be. She had seen women like this in the movies, faultlessly gowned dowagers with their puffy hands, jewels, narrow bands of black velvet tied high about their throats.

As Mrs. Deane stood there, talking to the maid, Nancy absorbed every detail of her dress. A grandmother, indeed!

To her mind Mrs. Deane was about the furthest thing from her idea of a grandmother that she could think of. In her brief career as a model she had learned the difference between a gown and a dress. She had learned what exclusiveness in women's clothes meant. And she knew that this woman was gowned, not merely dressed.

The black velvet throat band, the diamond earrings, how ridiculous they would look on Mother O'Day. Maggie O'Day's poor, terribly old-fashioned taffeta dress, her best dress, how ridiculous would Mrs. Deane look in that. And yet they were mothers both, and one was a grandmother to Nancy.

After the greeting, which was neither cold nor warm, simply impersonal, Nancy had been asked to sit at the great mahogany table. Whatever the maid had said necessitated Mrs. Deane's leaving for a moment, just long enough for Nancy to look about the large and richly furnished drawing room. Its background was red, a deep, dull red, the carpets, hangings. There was a bright red Chinese chair beside the fireplace. It was the only piece of red furniture in the room, yet how beautifully it contrasted with and set off the rest of the dark furnishings. The walls, the very "oldness" of the furniture, the fact that things looked as though they had been there always, and as though they had life and were serene in the knowledge that they were the right kind of things. The whole house seemed to breathe security, sureness.

Mrs. Deane returned, entering so easily, so gracefully, that she was half way across the room before Nancy noticed her. Even her walk was a well bred walk. Most of the women Nancy had known had waddled or limped, or strode, or minced. Mrs. Deane did none of these things. If her entrance was to be described at all, she sailed, gracefully, quietly.

"Now my gar-ul, if you will check these lists, I'll leave them with you for a half hour or so."

Nancy nodded assent and watched her grandmother go out. If that grandmother could have looked back, she would have thought the gar-ul from Mr. Wescott's office a very strange person, for she didn't turn to her work for a long time. She only stared into the fireplace, not seeing the birch logs arranged so well within it, the faintest suspicion of moisture around her lashes.

She could not believe what she was seeing. It was incredible, almost terrible to think she was in her father's own house, doing work for her father's own mother, and she was a "gar-ul" to that mother.

"She treats me as though I were a piece of furniture, or an adding machine," Nancy thought.

What had she anticipated? Well, for one thing this woman's manner, her voice, made Nancy feel humbled and she felt ashamed of herself for the feeling. She picked up her pencil and started comparing names on the lists.

A half hour later Mrs. Deane returned, followed by a woman Nancy knew was Mrs. Wescott. Of the two, Nancy liked Mrs. Wescott the better. Both women were in the 60's, but Mrs. Deane looked younger. Nancy's sharp eye told her that the cosmetician, the hair dresser, the masseur were responsible for that.

Mrs. Wescott, though a lady, surely, was not so smartly gowned as Mrs. Deane, and wore fewer jewels. As Nancy had expected, she looked like her son. They had the same black eyes. Mrs. Deane left again and Nancy did not see her until it was time to leave.

For nearly two hours she sat working, the silence broken only when she had to ask a question, or was given some direction by Mrs. Wescott. All the time the urge to stand up and scream, to fling her pen across the room, welled within her. She wanted to get out of this house, away from these people whose ways she didn't understand.

They were women, who should be kind and sympathetic, interested in a girl of her age. And they were as indifferent as though she weren't breathing the same air. They were the kind who acknowledged no beauty in people out of their class, outside their circles.

How they were blinding themselves to things, the real things, that were so close to them. As close as the distance that separated them from the "gar-ul" from Howard Wescott's office. Caroline Glendenning-Deane son's child this was, and a girl to whom Louise Wescott's son, Howard, had been making love.

It was for this little girl that Howard Wescott had so solicitiously helped find an apartment, that was clean and quiet and pleasant! That she might learn her secretarial duties quickly.

Whatever imp of fortune it was who brought these three people into the same room must have laughed with a wicked glee.

"I believe that will be all for today," Mrs. Deane said at last. "You may go now."

She rang for the maid and turned to converse with Mrs. Wescott.

The maid brought Nancy her black felt hat, her coat. She held the coat so that the women should not see the worn lining. She might have spared herself the effort. Neither of them looked up as she stood before the mirror to pat her hair and give a dab of rouge to her cheeks. She hardly heard them answer when she said goodby. It was such a restrained, toneless goodby she uttered. Nancy didn't know her own voice.

Once outside she started to run. She felt she must fly from that house as far as her legs could carry her. She was pent up, suffocating. She was exhausted when she ran up the three flights of stairs at The Carmondy and into the untidy room of Ginger Varden.

"Jimminy Gee, thought you'd never get here," Ginger said. "Vic and Jerry have been ringing the telephone off the wall. Collette's going to throw another party tonight. Just a few friends. Vic wanted to go out to Sewickley first. You know—that place where we stopped once. He's got to see somebody in that big house off in the trees."

Ginger said this, mockingly, with a jerk of her thumb over her shoulder. Nancy knew what her inference was. The house back in the trees was Vic's source of supply, the "factory" where he left orders for his customers.

"Ginger, I can't. I'm going home tonight. I've got to catch the 8:15 train. Something has happened."

"You've got to go home?" Ginger dropped her magazine with its cover of blazing colors.

"Well, if you don't get the steam heated pajamas for bein' a surprise baby. You've got me going sideways half the time. Why, kiddo, in the short time I've known you more things have happened to you than happened to me in six months. An' you just a country kid. Say, what's the rush act now?"

"Ginger," Nancy said. "Something very unexpected has happened. My mother needs me. I can't tell you what it is. But I must go."

"Mystery Mamie!" Ginger exclaimed and leaned back on her lounge with all the airs of a movie actress as she picked up her magazine. She knew how to mind her business and it looked now as though she were going to mind it with a vengeance.

"Don't be offended, please," Nancy asked. "I'll probably be back in a few days and then I'll tell you all about it. Ginger it's something so near to me that I can't let it go. It's about something that nobody in the world knows but Mud and Darry and I. Don't you understand, Ginger?"

Ginger got up from her lounge and came over to Nancy to put her arms around her.

"Sure, kiddo, I know. I understand. What you want to do is your own business, only it's a little disappointing, that's all. I'm all set for a party if ever I was, and, well, it seems that we four have been having such a good time lately. You've been so nice and sort of decent, since he's met you, kiddo. Jerry likes you too, and so do I. You sure are a different kind of kid than any of us have been used to. There's something about you, Nancy. You seem better'n us. At least I feel that way. And yet you never try to pull any high hat stuff. It's just something. I feel I don't know what it is."

Ginger shrugged her shoulders and gave up as though this trying to analyze the feelings she and Vic and Jerry had toward her was almost too much of an effort. Ginger wasn't the kind of a person who was given to thinking things out. She depended on her instincts, her intuitions, her wits, to get along in this world. She was quick to sense anything "high hat," as she put it, and if anyone gave the slightest hint they thought themselves superior she became a tigress. A glint would come into her eyes that had something of meanness in it. She was either for you tooth and nail, or she was against you. There was no middle ground with Ginger.

The telephone rang again.

"What will I tell them?" Ginger asked, sure that the call was for Nancy.

"Tell them I can't go, that's all there's to it," Nancy said.

Ginger took her literally.

"Nancy can't go, that's all there is to it," she spoke into the telephone, imitating Nancy's tones and laughing to herself. Vic evidently would not take no for an answer and said that he would be right over to get his own answer.

Ten minutes later Vic was in the room, demanding, pleading, commanding, using every means he could think of to make Nancy change her mind. His insistence began to get on her nerves. She began to hate him.

"Go! Please go, or I'll scream," she said at last. "I've told you I simply cannot go out with you tonight—that I have to go home. I wish you'd leave this room so that I can get dressed."

Vic swung around. Ginger dropped her magazine again. She kept still, perfectly still, sensing that something was going to happen. She could see the blood mounting in Vic's face. She had seen him angry before.

"You'll scream, will you?" Vic answered.

He began walking across the room toward Nancy. He reached out his hand to grasp her by the arm, but Ginger was there first. She jumped in between the two.

"You keep your hands off," Ginger said. "Can't you see she's all wrought up? She's on the verge of hysterics. What's the matter with you anyway? Don't you know women ain't like men and there's a limit to what they can stand?

"The kid simply don't want to go out with you tonight. She's going home. That's straight. Something's happened to her. She's in some trouble. I can tell it. I'll help her out of it, and I know you would, Vic Fleming, if she'd only tell us what it is. But she ain't ready yet. Understand, Vic? She ain't ready yet."

Vic's anger began to melt before the blazing eyes, the flow of her words.

"Maybe you're right," he said. He picked up his hat. "I'm sorry."

He put on his hat and walked to the door, then turned suddenly, and came back to where Nancy was standing, pale, and as still as though she was carved out of marble.

BUC TRAINER TEAMMATE OF GRANGE

GAMENESS, one of the first requisites to success in any sport, is rather difficult of discernment in certain branches of athletic activity in which little physical punishment is involved. Despite the fact that it plays a big part in links success, gameness seldom is mentioned in connection with golf; the almost constant bodily contact mirrors gameness on the gridiron, but in no sport is it so great a virtue, and its presence so obvious, as it is in hockey.

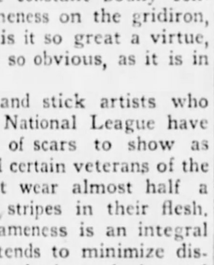
Frank Frederickson

Most skate and stick artists who graduate to the National League have a score or more of scars to show as "diplomas," and certain veterans of the major ice circuit wear almost half a hundred wound stripes in their flesh. The fact that gameness is an integral part of hockey tends to minimize displays of courage and grit on the ice, and proof of this is found in the case of Frank Frederickson, Pirate center, a hero almost unsung.

ON the night of January 20, Leo Reise of the Americans, slashed Frederickson with his stick in a game in New York. Five stitches were required to close the jagged gash in Frank's cheek, just below the cheek bone. After being sewed up by the Americans' club physician, Frederickson returned to Pittsburgh and three nights later he played through a gruelling battle with the Rangers here.

The stitches had not been removed from his cheek at that time, and the Buc center experienced difficulty in breathing, but the Pirates were enjoying a victory spurt and he insisted on taking his place in the lineup. On January 26, Frederickson played in Montreal and on February 2 he helped the Bucs hold the Maroons even here. In these games Frank opposed Nels Stewart, a skillful giant who spares no foeman, but he shook off the punishment which Nels meted out and more than held him even.

FREDERICKSON'S sniffing and gasping for breath was very noticeable in these games, but not until he visited a specialist, last Saturday, was it learned that his cheek bone had been fractured and that a blood clot had impeded his breathing. The tearing of the nerves, when his cheek was slashed, caused paralysis of the jaw—and it was under these handicaps that Frank played against the Rangers and Maroons.



Johnny Risko.

Frederickson submitted to an extremely painful operation last Saturday morning, and then played great hockey against Toronto here Saturday night. The surgeon described the injury as a "fracture of the inner wall of the antrum." He said it was one of the most unusual fractures he ever treated. Frederickson's case, and others like it, prompts the belief that gameness is the foundation on which hockey is built.

BUT for the rule prohibiting a boxer's manager or second from throwing a towel into the ring for the purpose of stopping a fight, the recent bout between Johnny Risko and Max Schmeling in New York would have ended before Referee Arthur Donovan called a halt in the ninth round. Danny Dunn, Risko's manager, was on the point of tossing in the towel in token of defeat, but an inspector caught his arm and warned him that he was out of order. Dunn is now loud in his criticism of the rule, and is backed up by other veteran handlers. "I believe the regulation should be wiped off the books," one of them said in discussing the rule with Wilbur Wood. "I don't hesitate to say that I have stopped more fights by throwing in the towel than have most referees.

"BY so doing I have protected my fighters from taking unnecessary punishment, and thus have prolonged their usefulness to themselves and to the boxing public. It is my opinion that I am a better judge of the condition that my man is in than a referee who may never have seen him before. There are indications of his condition perceptible to me that a referee misses.

"Some referees let a boxer take a beating too long before they step in. Others go to the opposite extreme and intervene before a

BILL'S STATUS TO BE KNOWN TONIGHT

BOSTON, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—The prediction that William (Big Bill) Tilden would be reinstated as an amateur in good standing was heard on all sides here as delegates assembled for today's meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

The general feeling among the delegates was that Tilden has been punished sufficiently for his infraction of the association's player-writer rule at Wimbledon last summer. It was said that Tilden's reinstatement was decided on several months ago by the tennis powers, but that the announcement was withheld pending the formal approval of the convention. His status will be made known tonight.

Another matter on the convention's program was the sanctioning of the national ranking list. These rankings, based on the 1928 play, were decided on several months ago, it was said.

It was freely predicted that Tilden would be ranked No. 1, Francis T. Hunter, No. 2; George M. Lott, No. 3, and John F. Hennessey, No. 4. No delegate cast any doubt on the prediction that Helen Wills again would head the ranking of the women tennis players.

The re-election of Samuel H. Collom, of Philadelphia, as president of the U. S. L. T. A. also is described as already settled, and the only uncertainties centered about the venues for the national championships.

Mrs. Francisco Wins Barnyard Golf Title

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Mrs. Mayme Francisco, of Columbus, O., won the women's world horse shoe pitching championship from a field of three here, with Mrs. George Brouillette, of Minneapolis, a close second. The winner won a 50-to-49 victory over Mrs. Brouillette to take the title.

Sharkey Signs For Bout With Dempsey

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 8.—Another indication that Jack Dempsey will return to the ring came yesterday.

Jack Sharkey signed to meet Dempsey in September if the current heavyweight situation should work out that way. This would seem to indicate that Dempsey will fight again. Or, again, it may be merely so much more publicity for the Sharkey-Stribling fight here February 27.

In any event it may mean a repetition of that memorable encounter between Dempsey and Sharkey at Yankee Stadium in the summer of 1927. Dempsey won on a knockout in the seventh round, but Sharkey went down claiming he had been fouled.

RODGERS LOSES TO ATHERTON

Jackie Rodgers, lacking in experience, was not good enough to beat Happy Atherton, of Indianapolis, in last night's main bout of the Majestic Club in the Palisades Rink, McKeesport. The district Negro fighter found in Atherton a master of ringmanship, and was at a disadvantage throughout.

In the semi-final Teddy Welch won the verdict over Sig Keppen, of Beaver Falls, in six rounds. It was a slugfest all the way, and the most interesting bout on the program.

Patsy Gallagher, of the North Side, got the decision over Tommy Heilman, of Donora, in their six-round setto, much to the displeasure of the fans, who loudly booed the verdict.

Joe Poole ended his bout quickly with Honey Kilvady, of Donora, whom he knocked out in one minute, 10 seconds of the first round with a right to the body.

Joe Abate, of Wilmerding, won two out of three falls from Joe Washington, of Connellsville, in a wrestling match added to the boxing card.

COMMISSION GAINS UPPER HAND IN BOXING WAR

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

WE may be wrong, but all signs indicate that the State Athletic Commission has triumphed in its fight with the A. A. U. authorities for the control of amateur boxing. Governor Fisher is said to have alligned himself solidly behind the commission and to be in favor of the Wheeler House bill, which offsets the Harris bill, which was introduced in the Senate to take amateur boxing out of the hands of the commission.

The Wheeler bill tightens the control of boxing of all descriptions, professional, amateur, semi-professional, collegiate and scholastic, by the commission. In other words, it makes all boxing answerable to the commission, which is as things should be. The Governor is wise in backing up the constituted state authorities, for only by enforcing the law for all can evasion be avoided.

One of the pet cries of the upholders of the good and pure amateur brand of boxing promotion has been that the framers of the McBride bill, which brought about legalized boxing under commission control in the state, never intended to have it include amateur boxing, and they have contested the commission's right to dominate the situation, precipitating the fight that has gone up to the Governor. As a matter of fact, the law clearly includes the amateurs, when it says, in Section 4 of the code: "Boxing, sparring and wrestling matches or exhibitions for purses or WHERE AN ADMISSION FEE IS RECEIVED are hereby allowed except on Sundays. The commission shall have, and hereby is vested with, the sole direction, management, control and jurisdiction over ALL SUCH boxing, sparring and wrestling matches or exhibitions to be conducted, held or given within this Commonwealth except in accordance with the provisions of this act."

(No exceptions that would bar control of amateur boxing where admissions are charged are set forth).

THE capital letters in the above quotation of the law are our own and are so set off to emphasize the commission's right to overade the conduct of amateur shows, whether or not this be to the liking of the A. A. U. authorities. However, inasmuch as this right has been challenged, the law is being changed to make it clearly understood that the professionals are not fish and the amateurs fowl. The amateur promoters will have to be licensed and use licensed officials and pay taxes to the state for shows to which they charge admissions the same as the professionals, and there is no apparent good reason why they should not.

"Oh," sighs our Jim McAfee, who used to travel with the Pirates, "for the good old days when a manager himself whipped his baseball team into condition for a season, when only an overdose of liquor caused high blood pressure and sinus trouble was not known to exist.

"I see," continues Jim, "where Donie Bush is to be accompanied by a whole flock of conditioners for the Pirates this year. In the first place, he will have three assistant coaches in Deyine, Hinchman and Fraser. Then he will have Stanage and Ens. For the physical well-being of the players he will have Dr. Marks. Mike Chambers, the new trainer from Ohio State, and George Asten, former trainer. Then there will be Sam Dreyfuss, the man with the check book, to help the manager along, a total of 10 men to run a baseball NINE. Of course, the 'nine' has been increased in recent years to about 25 players during the summer months. But what about the manager of 25 years ago, Fred Clarke, who, with only one Negro helper, Ed Enforce, hammered a team into shape to win three pennants in a row? Was it any harder then than now, or is the present-day manager so busy managing his assistants that he has no time to manage a baseball club?"

BOSTON, Feb. 8.—(INS.)—If Schmeling goes home to Germany without meeting Con O'Kelly, of Ireland, here February 15, he will never will enter this country again—take it from Eddie Mack, local fight promoter.

Mack said that tickets to the Schmeling-O'Kelly bout have been sold and that if Schmeling failed to appear, redress would be sought from the Massachusetts Boxing Commission, which has diplomatic relations with the New York Boxing Commission. Schmeling is under New York contract and, Mack said, if barred by Massachusetts, Schmeling automatically would be barred in New York.

Thus, according to Mack, Schmeling would get no further than Ellis Island on a return voyage, as he would have the status of a visitor without a business engagement and would come under the immigration quota law.

DEAL FOR BELL FALLS THROUGH

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—(INS.)—Local baseball fans who had hoped to see Lester Bell, of the Boston Braves, in a Cubs' uniform this season had their hopes blasted today when President William L. Veeck, back home from attending the National League meeting in New York, announced that overtures for the services of the Boston third sacker were definitely off.

The Braves are said to have wanted players for Bell, whereas the Cubs were willing to give his value in cash, but felt they had turned loose enough players in the deal for Rogers Hornsby.

Three Knockouts Mark Mitt Show

Three knockouts marked the amateur boxing show of the Pittsburgh Council, Knights of Columbus, held in the Elks' Club last night. Eight bouts were on the program. The summary:

Louis Santucci, Pennsylvania Railroad, knocked out (technical) Johnny Rooney, North Side, 3 rounds; Johnny Warner, Clairton, knocked out Val Bonart, St. Josephat's Lyceum, 1 round; Tod Murphy, Duke O'Hara Club, knocked out Bob Fratarella, Clairton, 2 rounds.

Pete D'Allesandro, Washington Y, defeated Buddy Ford, Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., 3 rounds; Mannie Lesh, Willow Club, defeated Bob Coleman, St. Josephat's Lyceum, 3 rounds.

Butler Armcos Top Lafayettes, 38-21

BUTLER, Pa., Feb. 8.—Butler Armcos won from the Duquesne Lafayettes of the Allegheny County League here last night, by a 38-21 score, in a hard-fought game. George Ramsey, who plays for both clubs, appeared in the local lineup.

Armco—38		Lafayette—21
Lytle	F.	Mitnick
Bernhoit	F.	Dreitel
Ramsay	C.	Gubby
Fleming	G.	A. Benedict
Lefevre	G.	Kline

Substitutions—Butler, Rose, Field goals—Rose, Lytle 2, Bernhoit 3, Fleming 3, Lefevre 2, Dreitler 2, Gubby, Benedict 2, Kline 3. Fouls—Armco, 12 out of 21; Lafayette, 5 out of 9. Referee—Leo Mackay.

TUNNEYS IN SECLUSION

RAGUSA, Jugoslavia, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tunney, who recently left Sebenico on the Dalmatian coast because of the curiosity of the local population, now are secluded in a small fishing village near this Adriatic port. They refuse to see newspapermen or local curiosity seekers.

South at Ralston.

SECTION II.

Langley at Carrick.
Oliver at Vocational.
Allegheny at Perry.

The important action in the City League cage race is confined to Section Two today, although there are three contests listed for both divisions. Fifth Avenue is intrenched so strongly in Section One that even a defeat today and a triumph for both rivals, Schenley and South, will not affect the poise of the Uptowners.

In the second division, however, where South Hills and Allegheny are tied for the lead, with Oliver

THIRTY — FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1929

LOCAL BOY ELECTED

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 8.—Charles P. Maclaughlin, of Pittsburgh, fullback on the Oglethorpe University football team last year, has been elected captain of the 1929 football team. He is a former Peabody High School boy, having played tackle there in 1921 and 1922.

TERRY IS SIGNED

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Receipt of the signed contract of Bill Terry, hard-hitting first baseman, has been announced by the New York Giants. All of the Giant regulars of 1928 now have signed. The World Champion New York Yankees have not announced receipt of any contracts, signed or unsigned.

WILLIE DAVIES BATTLES BRADLEY IN TORONTO

WILLIE DAVIES, the flyweight star of Charleroi, returns to Toronto, Canada, one of his favorite spots, tonight to engage in a bout in another of the many flyweight carnivals that are held there. The little fellows go over big in the Dominion, where Frenchy Belanger and Steve Rocco are contesting the championship.

Davies boxes Dark Cloud Bradley, Canadian Negro, in one of four six-round bouts. Marty Gold and Jimmy McCoy meet in another and Harry Hill and Willie LaMorte in another. Corp. Izzy Schwartz and Frenchy Belnager box the 10-round windup.

On Monday, February 18, Davies returns to Toronto to box Rocco in a 10-round windup. He defeated Marty Gold for the seventh time in a bout at Hamilton, Ont., last Monday night after having shortly before won over the same opponent at Oil City.

CEDER WITH BUCHANAN

Jim Buchanan, boxing manager of Davies, has matched his featherweight, Paddy Mabon, with Sailor Larson for the 10-round windup of a show at Wheeling, W. Va., tomorrow night. He also has Rudy Ceder, the Tarentum welterweight, under his management and has signed him to box Johnny Plot, of Oil City, at Oil City, February 15.

Ray Newton, of Mansfield, O., who boxes Battling Gizzy in the 10-round main bout at Washington, Pa., Monday, February 18, is said to have knocked out Terry Linko, the former star of the Washington arena, in a recent bout.

TAYLOR MEETS SINGER

Charley (Phil) Rosenberg, former bantamweight champion, meets Billy Kowalik in Buffalo, tonight. Myer Grace boxes Bobby Tracey. Mickey Donnell meets Joe Trippa and Benny Ross battles Art Weigand in preliminaries.

Dominick Proffo and Young Rudy, who recently fought a great battle in McKeesport, do their stuff again in the windup in the same ring next Thursday night.

Johnny Dunn, of New Kensington, will make his first appearance as a matchmaker in Pittsburgh in the Moose Club show at the Moose Temple, downtown, next Friday night. Promoter Francis Fiehn announced this morning. Dunn's opponent will be Jackie Rodgers, popular Negro bantam of the North Side, who last night lost a close bout to Happy Atherton at McKeesport. Dunn decisively defeated Joe Elrene in the semi-final at the Moose Temple last week.

WESTMINSTER, BISONS MEET TONIGHT

By JESS CARVER.

Furman Nuss' Green Bisons of Bethany, who are out to set some sort of an endurance record for the playing of touch basketball games in one week, will continue their invasion of the tri-state territory and the Conference by battling Westminster's Jeffarcie Titans at New Wilmington tonight.

Along with Penn State, which has played but one game, the Bisons are the only remaining undefeated club in the section. Combining a fair defense with a whirlwind attack, the team from the banks of Buffalo Creek has swept through five major contests without a defeat, and have won four Conference battles. Geneva and Thiel fell before on early this week and Westminster has a long, hard evening ahead for tonight.

Regardless of the outcome of tonight's battle, the worst the Bisons can get for their week of travel will be a tie for the Conference lead with Geneva. That is, if they lose tonight. If they win, they'll be given the preference over the other title contenders during the remaining weeks of the race.

PITT, DUKES TRAVEL

Pitt and Duquesne both take to the road today for invasions of the east and middle west. The Panthers entrained over the New York Central lines this morning for South Bend, Ind., where tomorrow night they'll meet Notre Dame in one of the foremost intersectional tussles of the season. The Dukes leave over the Pennsy tonight for New York, where tomorrow Nat Holman's College of the City of New York basketeers are to be met in the first game of the Dukes' four-day eastern jaunt.

Wash-Jeff continues its jaunt through the central part of the state, playing Bucknell at Lewisburg this evening. The Presidents opened their trip at Huntingdon last night against Juniata.

IRISH FIVE PRIMED

Pitt is up against a tough assignment in Notre Dame. George Keogan, the Irish coach, blamed the defeat of the Irish here last year on everything from officials to the red dress of a girl in the last row. He couldn't figure how any team could catch up to and then pass a Notre Dame five that held a seven point lead at half time.

Pitt is hitting as well as it will hit any time this year right now. The boys are all in good shape, with the possible exception of Charley Hyatt who has a badly blistered pair of hoofs. This won't bother Chipper Cholley very much and will hardly serve as a Pitt alibi should the Golden Cats lose.

Just one warning to the Irish. If they have built a defense for Hyatt, they'd better use an axe on Eddie Baker before the game starts or he'll make the territory directly under the basket his private grazing land.

Votel Brothers To Hold Tourney

Votel Brothers of East Pittsburgh will hold their fifth annual ten pin tournament on their alleys, 204 Electric avenue, East Pittsburgh, starting February 18, and running until March 3. There is no limit to the number of teams from Tarentum, Greensburg, Cleveland, Erie, Wheeling and surrounding towns entered, but there is still plenty of time to file entries. Entries should be addressed to Harry Votel, 204 Electric avenue, East Pittsburgh.

ALLEGHENY MAY DROP LEAD

running 28 points or half a game in the rear, there may be a decided shifting about of the leaders.

ALLEGHENY MEETS PERRY

The important contest of the day will be the Allegheny-Perry battle at Perry. In the event Allegheny scores a victory, the North Siders will go into the undisputed leadership of the section, with eight games won and two lost for a percentage of .800. But if Perry wins, and Oliver runs true to form and takes Vocations at South Hills will be tied for the lead and Allegheny will be in third place, just a step ahead of Perry.

The third Section Two contest tosses Langley and Carrick, neither destined to get anywhere in this year's race, together on Carrick's court.

Fifth Avenue, by repeating its early season triumph at the expense of Schenley, can just about clinch the honors in Section One this afternoon. If Briggs club takes Schenley again today, it will mean the virtual elimination of the Belleflelders. Peabody and Westinghouse will be cutting each others throats in a second Section One game and South, trailing third place contender by a second, by beating Ralston, which the Washabaughmen are more than likely to do.

BIG CARD IN W. P. I. A. L.

All 12 sections in the W. P. I. A. L. will see action tonight. There are few outstanding games listed, with most of the leaders and favorites carded for battle against mote or less weak opponents.

In Section Three, Evans City will make an attempt to stop New Brighton, a team fairly certain to take the sectional title. Beaver Falls and Elwood City are booked for a clash at Elwood.

Aliquippa, still away out in front in Section Four, has only Midland to get past on its home court. Al Wierman's inexperienced but scrappy Beaver High team can work up to a 50-50 rating by beating Leetsdale.

In Section Seven, Bill Campbell's Homestead potential champions expect little trouble from Munhall Waynesburg, playing without the services of Earl Sowitt, who suffered a broken ankle in the Trinity game Wednesday, plays South Brownsville.

Hectic Section Ten has three good games on the list. The Slaughterless Scottdale quintet will engage Connellsville, Greensburg and Latrobe meet at Latrobe and Uniontown plays West Newton at West Newton.

The complete schedule follows:

Scottdale at Arnold.
Parnassus at Har-Brack.
Oakmont at Freeport.
Verona at Tarentum.

SECTION II.

Bewickley at Assinwail.
Edgewood at Avalon.
Ben Avon at Bellevue.
Wilkinsburg at Salsavale.

Beaver Falls at Elwood City.
Butler at Zelienople.
Evans City at New Brighton.

Midland at Aliquippa.
Freedom at Ambridge.
Rochester at Monaca.
Beaver at Leetsdale.

SECTION V.

Monongahela at California.
Monessen at Charleroi.
Waynesburg at South Brownsville.

SECTION VI.

Apollo at Vandergrift.

ROWLEY NAMED GRID COACH AT THIEL

By JESS CARVER.

Robert (Tink) Rowley, former Dickinson College halfback star and coach at Thiel College during the seasons of 1914, 1915, 1916 and 1920, has been engaged to succeed Dr. Tommy Holleran as head football coach at Thiel for the coming season. This was announced today by Jack Stoeber, director of athletics at the Lutheran school.

Rowley played football, basketball and baseball at Dickinson, starring in the first and last mentioned sport. He joined the Harrisburg club of the New York-Pennsylvania League after graduating from college, playing throughout the 1914 season. He signed a one-year contract at Thiel in the fall of that year, and was re-engaged for 1915 and 1916.

During 1917 and 1918, while serving in the Army, Rowley coached soldier elevens, both in this country and in France.

GOLDENSONS TOP RAUHS

The Goldenson quintet increased its hold upon first place of the Allegheny County League last night when it handed an impressive 37-31 defeat to the Enoch Rauh's on the Columbus Temple floor.

Moon and Boots Klinzing were mainly responsible for the triumph; it was the fast pace they set that proved too much for the Rauhs. The Goldensons won from the outset, leading at the end of the first quarter, 15-3, after a whirlwind start. The Rauhs got going well in the second half, but not well enough to overtake their south Side opponent. The lineup:

Goldensons—37.		Rauhs—31.
C. Klinzing	F	Serbin
O. Klinzing	F	Demaria
McGuirk	G	Leaman
Seigel	G	W. Paris
McVicker	G	Miller

Score by periods:

Goldensons	15	9	5	8—37
Rauhs	3	12	11	5—31

Field goals—C. Klinzing 5, O. Klinzing 4, McGuirk 2, Seigel, McVicker 2, Serbin 2, Demaria, Rubenstein 3, W. Paris 2. Foals—Goldensons 9 out of 15, Rauhs 5 out of 16. Substitutions—Rubenstein for Demaria, M. Paris for Leaman, Leaman for Serbin, Serbin for Leaman, Demaria for W. Paris. Referee—Leo Carroll. Umpire—Al Sweet. Time of quarters—10 minutes.

HAGENLACHER, HOREMANS WIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Edouard Horemans, of Belgium, defending champion, and Eric Hagenlacher, of Germany, were the winners in yesterday's matches in the international "round robin" 18.2 billiard tourney in progress here.

CONLEYS ON TOP

The Conleys defeated the Jeannette Folders, 41-36, in a P. & O. League battle last night. The lineup:

Conleys—41.		Folders—36.
Mobill	F	Schumaker
Brenko	F	McCartney
Jacko	C	Baker

SPORT COMMENT

By JAMES J. LONG

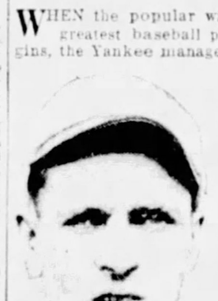
fighter is in bad enough shape to warrant such action. The manager is the better judge, not the referee."

WHEN the popular winter question, "Whom do you consider the greatest baseball player of all time?" was put to Miller Huggins, the Yankee manager declined to commit himself definitely. He said that an answer was impossible, and that no comparative valuation could be placed upon men who played under different conditions and attained greatness along different lines.



Bill Regan

"It would be better," he said, "to ask this question. Suppose Cobb, Ruth, Lajoie, Wagner and Speaker all were in their prime at the same time and were thrown on the open market, what one would command the greatest amount of money?' In my opinion it would be Cobb or Ruth."

IT'S old stuff in baseball to refer to a player in the early part of a year as being in such trim that he is likely to have the best season of his career, but that may be truthfully said right now of Bill Regan, the Brookline boy, who, since June 10, 1926, has been holding down second base for the Boston American League Club in such style that he has won a ranking among the leading second sackers in the big show. It would be hard to find a player more promisingly set for a new season than is Regan. In the first place his mental attitude is of the kind that delights the heart of a manager as he is "tickled to death" with his new contract, just signed, which brought a substantial voluntary raise in salary for the second year in succession, and on top of that he is in splendid physical trim.

REGAN will begin preparations to start on the training trip to Bradentown, Fla., on March 1, after he has attended the Pittsburgh sport writers' big dinner at the William Penn Hotel next Thursday night. He is very optimistic about the 1929 chances of the Redsox. "I am sure that our club will be much improved this year and will make a much better showing than in recent seasons," said Bill.

"We have a wonderful leader in Manager Carrigan, the kind that builds up always and one for whom a player will gladly work his head off, and with Rhyne, Reeves, Gillis and the other new material added since last year we just can't miss having a much improved club and a fine season."

BILL HINCHMAN, Pirate scout, who joined L. W. St. John, graduate manager of athletics at Ohio State University, in recommending Mike Chambers, the new trainer signed by the Pittsburgh club, sends word from Columbus, O., to Buccaneer headquarters that he believes the Rovers have picked up one of the best conditioning experts in the country.

In their praises of Chambers, Hinchman and St. John are backed up by the splendid record of Chambers and the high standing that he enjoys in the collegiate athletic ranks. Apart from his college record, Chambers last summer was one of the trainers of the American Olympic team in the games at Amsterdam, and the manner in which he helped to condition Uncle Sam's athletes was highly commended.

Bill Hinchman

CHAMBERS learned his game from the ground up, as he was an athlete himself in his college days, and holds the distinction of having played on the same football team with Red Grange at the University of Illinois. He also won the heavyweight boxing championship of the university. Upon his graduation at Illinois he was made assistant to Trainer Matt Bullock there. Chambers went to Ohio State from Iowa State College, with Sam Williaman, Ohio State's new head football coach, and has directed the training of the Scarlet and Gray athletes for three years. He resigned two weeks ago to accept an offer to become head trainer and boxing coach at Georgia Tech.

IN signing with Georgia Tech, the Pirates' new trainer tentatively agreed to report in Atlanta on September 1, but as his duties here will require that he remain with the Bucs until October he has arranged to send his assistant, Lee Jensen, to Georgia Tech to take charge until he arrives. Chambers is soon to be married, and in future will make his home in New Orleans.

The Pirates will be one of the few clubs in baseball to have their conditioning attended to by a college trainer. They have already employed Bert Munhall, of Carnegie Tech, in that capacity at various times, with splendid results.

CHAS. LEONARD TO LEAD BUCS TO TORONTO

By CARL W. SHATTO.

That isn't the battle cry of Pittsburgh's hockey Pirates, but it well might be their club anthem, for they will be under the leadership of their third manager in less than two weeks when they leave tonight to meet the Maple Leafs in a National League game at Toronto tomorrow. Manager Odie Cleghorn, stricken with a severe attack of grippe and tonsilitis 10 days ago, turned the managerial duties over to Owner Benny Leonard in the Montreal and Toronto games here and Benny, called to New York last Wednesday, has bequeathed the position of pilot to Charley Leonard, his brother and secretary of the club.

Charley has been traveling with the Bucs all season and is well qualified to serve as director. He had a taste of the managerial work when he supervised two workouts last week, and the locals probably will be well managed in their fight at Toronto tomorow.

CLEGHORN ON MEND

Manager Cleghorn, his strength sapped by a high fever, is on the mend and now is able to sit up for an hour or two each day. He is eager to get back in harness, and expects to be back at the helm when the Pirates meet Les Canadiens here next Tuesday.

Every member of the local squad is in top condition for the joust with the Leafs, and the outcome of the fray is reatoel as a tossup. Tomorrow's game will mark the close of the season series, and will decide the season series winner. In three previous frays Pittsburgh and Toronto each won one and the other resulted in a tie.

AMATEURS PLAY TONIGHT

"Amateur Hockey Night" is to be observed at Duquesne Garden this evening when the West Penn Amateur League will offer local ice fans the biggest consignment of hockey ever doled out at one place in one evening. Three league games and a variety of special entertainment are on the attractive program, and a big crowd is expected to attend.

The Hornets and Yellow Jackets, title favorites, are to meet in the feature battle, and other games will bring together Shady Side Academy and DeMolay Alumni and Philadelphia Company and Blawnox. The first game is to get under way at 7 o'clock, the second at 8:15 and the third at 9:30.

Members of the Pittsburgh National League squad, who do not leave for Toronto until 11 o'clock, will be special guests. Frederickson, Smith and Drury are to serve as referees.

Such renowned performers as Paddy Sullivan, Stuby Baker, Charley Mosseau, Dinny Manners, Terry McGovern, Silver McCrimmon, Roy Cooper and Joe Donnelly will be seen in action during the league competitions.

GENEVA TRIMS GROVE CITY

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Feb. 8.—Grove City was no match for Geneva here last night as Ken Loeffler's passers swamped the Crimson, 47-27, in a rough game. Grove City managed to hold on during the first few minutes, but after the score stood 6-6 after four minutes of play they were pushed into the background. At half time the score stood at 27-11. The lineup:

GENEVA—47.		GROVE CITY—27.

ARMCOS MEET COMMUNITY

By JULIUS LEVIN.

The Butler Armco team, one of the best professional clubs in Western Pennsylvania, will be the attraction of the Community House A. A. U. champs tomorrow night on the Community House floor. The Butler countians defeated the North Siders in a game at Butler earlier in the season and the locals will strive to turn the tables on them tomorrow night.

Included in the Butler lineup are Whitey Littell and George Ramsay, former stars of the Pittsburgh Morrys. This game is without doubt one of the best ever arranged for a Community House quintet and indications are that a large crowd will see the contest.

DRIBBLES

The Morrys of Braddock have decided to abandon the K. of C. Hall as their home quarters and will play their remaining games in the Braddock Falcon gymnasium.

Duquesne Light will be out to score its second County League victory tomorrow night when it clashes with the Goldensons at the South Side Market House. The Red McMahan Club, which has won 20 games to date, will meet a strong opponent in the preliminary game.

Nate Lippe, coach at Aliquippa High School, will lead a strong team against the Cleveland Rosenblum Colts in Aliquippa on March 5. The Rosies are scheduled to meet East Liverpool on March 6.

The Duquesne Blackhawks want games with boys' teams. Call Walnut 1845 and ask for Bill.

Ernie Vick Signs As Minor Loop Ump

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Henry J. (Ernie) Vick, former National League catcher, has signed a contract to umpire in the Piedmont League, he told friends here today.

Vick first became prominent in athletics as a member of University of Michigan football and baseball teams. He played baseball in the American Association for a time and later was a member of the St. Louis National League club.

CLARK, WALSH TO ATTEND DINNER

The city police and detective bureaus will be well represented at the testimonial banquet for John H. Gruber, veteran local scribe, to be held next Thursday night in the ball room of the William Penn Hotel, under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Public Safety Director James M. Clark and Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh will be among those present, and Bobby Burke and Frank Dolson, detectives in the homicide squad, will head a table at which also will be Greenfield Jimmy Smith, former big league player. Al Grayber, local boxing referee, who also is in the police department, will sit at a table set aside for the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission.

TABLE FOR OLD-TIMERS

That guests will come from far and wide, aside from the invited honor guests, is apparent from the reservations being received. J. J. Freund, Jr., reports that he is getting up an Old-Timers' Table in the basketball realm and already has assurances from Bill Powell, Charles (Zim) Zange and Watkins, of East Liverpool, O., that they will be on deck. If there are any other basketball veterans who would like to join this group they are requested to communicate with Freund.

The Western Union Telegraph Company, through W. William P. Mergen, has taken two tables. At one will be seated the members of the Hungry Club of the organization, while at the other will be officials, including P. M. Fulton, superintendent, and F. E. Hall, traffic manager. Ed Harlow, Western Union manager at the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, will be among those participating in the festivities, as will also Frank Pivarotti and Jim Sherridan, other Western

SCREW & BOLT TO CUT COSTS OF OPERATION

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE new Pittsburgh Screw & Bolt Company which has been formed to take over the stocks of the old Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt Corporation, the Colona Manufacturing Company, assets of the Graham Bolt and Nut Company and patent rights for the manufacture of new types of propeller blades and hubs for airplanes, is expected to be able to place substantial operating economies into effect.

The Screw and Bolt plant on the North Side, and the Graham plant on Neville Island, are adapted to the production of different types of products. Concentration of some of the operations at the plants which are most fitted for the work will greatly increase efficiency and will also reduce costs.

Complete ownership of the Graham plant has been secured. This includes the interest of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation.

THE new airplane propeller has been subjected to government tests which are said to have proved it possesses greater strength than any of the types being placed on the market at present. The blades are hollow and made of a high grade of alloy steel. They will be made at the North Side plant.

Each share of the stock of the old Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt Corporation may be exchanged for 3⅝ shares of stock in the new company. Each share of Colona Manufacturing Company will be entitled to 1½ shares of new stock.

ASSUMING that all of the old stock is acquired, the new company, after issuing stock for the Graham assets and for the patent rights, together with 73,500 shares to be sold for cash, will have a total of 1,482,771 shares without par value outstanding, of an authorized issue of 2,000,000 shares. The only funded debt will be $4,850,000 of 20-year 5½ per cent debentures of the Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt Corporation due June 1, 1947. Of these, $832,000 are held in the treasury.

The combined earnings of the three companies in 1928 were estimated at $2,318,432 or $1.56 a share on the new stock. This compares with $2,331,485 or $1.57 a share on the same capitalization in 1927.

The balance sheet of December 31, 1928, shows a strong position. Current assets were $18,506,302. They were 5½ times the current liabilities and 1½ times all liabilities, including the funded debt.

WILLIAM G. COSTIN will be chairman of the board of the new company and Charles R. Ferguson will be president. Included on the board of directors, will be Henry Lockhart, Jr., Taylor Allderdice, Van Lear P. Shriver and John A. Dillon.

Men active in the management of the original company will continue in an official capacity with the new organization. John P. Hoelzel, George H. Lee, Howard Keally, John M. Yahres, Frank B. Gordon, Harry C. Graham and Charles J. Graham will serve as vice presidents. John M. Auty will be secretary.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Call Money 9 Per Cent.

An advance in call money rates to 9 per cent as against the opening rate of 6 per cent and a 6 per cent charge all day yesterday caused further unsettlement on the exchange today and prices dropped back shortly after a display of strength in the early trading. Tightening of the money market was due to calling in of about $40,000,000 loans by the banks and the resultant scarcity caused active bidding for funds for stock market purposes. Several issues reached new lows for the movement as the trading element became increasingly apprehensive that the Federal Reserve authorities contemplated drastic measures to correct the credit conditions should the warning issued yesterday prove unavailing. Sales pressure was increased by week-end offerings from traders who did not desire to go over the three-day market suspension long of stocks with the situation so unsettled as it is at the moment. Professional bears took advantage of the conditions to feel out the list for air-pockets, but found little success in their efforts to bring about a drastic collapse in prices.

Exchanges Closed Tomorrow

The New York Stock Exchange, New York Curb, Pittsburgh Stock Exchange and principal securities markets throughout the country will be closed tomorrow for a special holiday. A nation wide closing follows the order of the New York Exchange authorities in suspending trading as a means of effecting relief to members and personnel who have been overtaxed by the recent heavy markets and by the ravages of the recent epidemic of influenza. All markets will be open at the usual hours on Monday, but there will be another financial holiday again on Tuesday, Lincoln's birthday. The principal commodity markets, Chicago Board of Trade and the Cotton Exchange will be open as usual tomorrow.

Chrysler Supported.

Chrysler's break to new low ground for the current reaction attracted buying by Detroit interests, who were bearish on the stock above 150, but feel that current levels have discounted the prospect of a poor report for the fourth quarter of 1928. This statement will show extensive write-offs in connection with the Dodge acquisition, with the result that the balance out of last year's earnings will be around $6.50 a share. However, it is felt that the company has greatly strengthened its financial position through conservative bookkeeping methods, and is prepared to score substantial improvement in earnings this year.

Westinghouse Air Brake.

Buying for the account of insiders is reported to be going on in Westinghouse Air Brake. It is pointed out that the company has a strong subsidiary in the railway signal field in Union Switch and Signal and with the contemplated electrification of some of the country's leading railroads some good sized contracts for automatic train control devices are expected to be received. Goss.p has it that one contract to be obtained from the Pennsylvania will be of sufficient size to keep this subsidiary going for a full year.

Loans Up $110,000,000.

Loans on stocks and bonds to dealers by reporting Federal Reserve member banks in New York City increased $110,000,000 during week ended February 6 to a new high record of $5,669,000,000. This compares with $5,559,000,000, the previous high record, on January 30, and $3,835,000,000 on February 8, 1928.

	Feb. 6 1929	Jan. 30 1929
For own account	$1,116	$1,091
For out-of-town banks	1,931	1,853
For others	2,621	2,615
Total	$5,669	$5,559

Detailed changes during the week were an increase of $26,000,000 in loans for own account, an increase of $78,000,000 in loans for out-of-town banks, and an increase of $6,000,000 in loans for others. Demand loans constituted $3,081,000,000 of the total, compared with $4,967,000,000 last week, while time loans were $588,000,000 against $592,000,000 the previous week.

Expect Tonnage Increase.

Indications are that unfilled orders of the U. S. Steel Corporation as of January 31, last, will show another good increase. Estimates in the trade are that the gain could be somewhere between 200,000 and 300,000 tons, without consideration of adjustments which might be made either way at the end of the month. In December the increase amounted to 503,712 tons. An increase of the highest figure in the estimate would bring the unfilled orders to about 4,275,000 tons.

Export Copper 18¼ Cents.

Owing to continued large sales of copper abroad and large demand in domestic market, the foreign price of copper has been advanced by Copper Exporters, Inc., to 18¼ cents c. i. f. Hamburg, Havre and London. Domestic producers are all asking 18 cents delivered to the end of May with sales made at that price. The American Brass Company has advanced copper wire ½ cent a pound to 19¾ cents.

Copper Dividends.

Anaconda has increased its dividend rate three times since the improvement in copper prices began and if the price of the metal shows no recession, that will not be the last increase. The same can be said of other copper companies. Increased production and high prices for the metal are making record earnings for the copper companies.

No Bear Market—Bache.

J. S. Bache & Co. wired A. E. Masten & Co. this morning: "We do not subscribe to the view that yesterday's setback marks the beginning of a sustained bear movement. With the business outlook favorable and numerous events of benefit to stockholders in prospect, we are more inclined to conclude that, following the establishment of sound resistance levels, the market will resume an upward course."

Glass Situation Unchanged.

The National Glass Budget says: "There is but little of a definite nature that may be said of the window glass industry this week. Production may be a trifle lower than it has been, due to needed repairs at some plants. The distributing phase of the business is more or less subject to complications, the result of which is rather uncertain. Plate glass, continuing the trend of past months, is showing satisfactory activity. Demand is holding up well, and forecasts covering the automobile and construction industries offer real encouragement for a year's satisfactory volume of business, with nothing on the horizon to change the feeling of optimism."

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—The bond market today displayed a firmer tone in the early trading following yesterday's sharp reaction. Trading, however, was on a small scale and the improvement in some of the speculative convertibles followed a rally in the stock market. Time money was in supply, although a shortage of call money was reported and the rate was expected to go higher.

American International 5½s and International Telephone 4½s rallied but Alleghany Corporation 5s sagged to 103 under selling pressure. The Anaconda 8saves failed to respond to the buoyancy in the stock. The 7s dropped 3 points on light trading and 6s were firm at 105 on good demand.

General Motors Acceptance 6s improved on the corporation's report of record sales for January. Dodge Brothers convertible 6s also improved. The rest of the industrial list was steady, with little activity.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

Reserve Board's Warning Chills Speculative Ardor.

—By B. C. FORBES—

WALL STREET was perhaps the only community in the country astonished and disappointed by the Federal Reserve Board's sharp warning against ever-expanding borrowing for speculative purposes.

Sentiment throughout the country unquestionably is that the stock market has been monopolizing too much credit as well as public attention.

THE New York Stock Exchange's own figures reveal that brokers' loans show an increase of no less than $2,300,000,000 over 12 months ago. This increase of over 50 per cent brings the current total to $6,735,000,000. In the last week alone the expansion neared $300,000,000. No such amount was ever before requisitioned for stock market operations.

THE Federal Reserve Board's compilation, which takes account only of loans made by its banking members, discloses expansion over a year ago of one-and-three-quarter billions.

This compilation reveals that New York banks have actually curtailed their loans to brokers as compared with 12 months ago. The reduction, $176,000,000, well expresses the increase in rediscounts at the New York Reserve Bank of less than $100,000,000 for the year.

The conspicuously significant feature is that loans for non-banking interests, meaning corporations, individuals, trusts, etc., account for more than a billion and a half of the total expansion.

THE Federal Reserve Board refers to this "extraordinary absorption of funds in speculative security loans" and declares that it "deserves particular attention lest it become a decisive factor working toward a still further firming of money rates to the prejudice of the country's commercial interests."

Recent call money rates ranging from 6 to 8 per cent and time rates of 7½ to 7¾ per cent have already raised the charge made to commercial borrowers. A year ago choice commercial paper in New York was quoted at 4 to 4¼ per cent. Today the rate is 5½ to 5¾ per cent, a very substantial difference.

THE view has been repeatedly expressed in this column that a continuation of dear money in Wall street would inevitably lead to dearer money for business purposes; also that this would inescapably have a restrictive influence upon enterprise, and, ultimately, upon general prosperity.

Following out this reasoning, it was entirely logical to take the stand that the ongoings in Wall Street had become detrimental to the best interests of all classes throughout the nation—except, perhaps, nimble speculators who were able to reap profits from very daring exploits. The writer has contended that the best interests of the country would be served were the unexampled speculative mania to die down, accompanied by the return to reasonable investment levels for stocks and contraction instead of further expansion in brokers' borrowings.

This clearly is what the Federal Reserve authorities are anxious to effect. If their very pointed warning should be ignored, as previous warnings have been ignored, it is certain that the official rediscount rate of 5 per cent would be raised at New York and elsewhere, a step which it were better not to render necessary.

THE stock market's first response to Washington's announcement was rather pronounced. Many stocks fell abruptly. Within two or three hours the decline was temporarily arrested by the powerful bull manipulators, but weakness again broke out and the market closed with many severe losses.

THE opinion has been given in this column oftener than once during the last two months that the leading bulls were determined to force the market to new heights after the year-end monetary settlements. This objective they rather easily attained. Average quotations for active stocks on the first day of this month were some 20 points higher than the peak reached last year, on December 31. And prices are still above the 1923 maximum.

Nothing has happened to cause the writer to modify his opinion that many speculative favorites are dangerously high and that prudence counsels the exercises of extreme caution.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Crumble — Witherow Steel Firm

STOCKS SLUMP AS LOAN RATE GOES UP

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—Further unsettlement developed in today's stock market when banks called $40,000,000 in loans, and sent the call money rate from 6 to 7 per cent. Early recoveries of 2 to 10 points in several of the high priced specialties were cut down, or wiped out, and a long list of issues sagged 1 to 8 points below yesterday's final quotations. Trading was only moderately heavy in volume.

Heavy calling of loans was believed to be for the account of out-of-town banks, and inspired by the Federal Reserve Board's recent criticism of the excessive use of credit for speculative purposes. Brokers' loans for the account of these institutions reached a new high total of $4,533,000,000 on February 6 and comprised a large proportion of the week's gain of $110,000,000 in brokers' borrowings. Some uneasiness also was apparent over the calling of a special meeting on Monday of directors of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, many observers fearing an increase in the rediscount rate at that time.

Copper shares showed conspicuous strength on buying influenced by the further rise in the price of domestic copper, American Smelting, American Metals, Kennecott and Calumet and Arizona all selling 6 or more points higher. Equipment shares also responded to the announcement of a gain in car and locomotive orders in January, Union Tank Car rising 6 points to a new high at 137.

International Combustion and Vanadium were pushed into new high ground on a revival of pool activity in those issues.

In the midday reaction, several of the generally accepted market leaders broke below the low levels established in yesterday's drastic shakeout. These included American Telephone, U. S Steel common, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Curtiss Aeroplane, Union Carbide, Atchison, Southern Railway and Chesapeake and Ohio.

Allied Chemical, which recently scored a spectacular advance on the prospects of an early stock split-up, fell back nearly 8 points below last night's close, and Otis Elevator, Adams Express, Goodrich Rubber, Chrysler, St. Joseph Lead and Safeway Stores sold down 3 to 5 points.

With a stock exchange holiday ordered for tomorrow to give the depleted staffs of brokerage houses a rest, week-end profit-taking was in unusually heavy volume today. Many traders closed out or reduced their commitments in order to take extended week-end holidays without market worries.

Fresh liquidation broke out when call money rose to 9 per cent in the final hour. United States Steel dipped to 171½, comparing with last month's record of 192⅝. Radio sold at 346, contrasting with the forenoon price of 361. Safeway Stores and Wright Aero slumped 7 points and a number of other important shares ruled materially under the previous close. The closing tone was weak. Total sales approximated 4,000,000 shares.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(AP.)—The curb market after rallying at the opening turned reactionary today and most of the earlier gains were either substantially reduced or wiped out by midday. Liquidation in a number of specialties reflected a continued uneasiness over the Federal Reserve Bank directors' special meeting Monday and the firmness of the call money market.

Goldman Sachs Trading (new stock) was admitted to trading at noon, opening at 112⅜. The old held steady around 222. New Borden stock brought 95 in its initial trade.

Activity was centered chiefly in the utility group, several issues rallying sharply from Thursday's declines. Electric Bond and Share shot up 14 points to above 237 and Associated Gas and Electric warrants climbed more than 7 points on announcement of its purchase of control of General Gas. American Superpower fell back 4 points after an early gain.

Airplane issues were reactionary, Boeing declining. Checkered Cab with a loss of 2 points was the weak spot in the automotives.

Further advances in copper prices sent Phelps Dodge common up 12 points to 313. Oils were generally higher, Standard of Indiana gaining 2 points.

OBITUARY

John R. Engemann

John R. Engemann, 40, McKees Rocks attorney, died last night in the home of his mother, Mrs. Catherine Engemann, 185 Lincoln avenue, Bellevue. He was born in Upper Sandusky, O., October 22, 1888, the son of Catherine and the late August H. Engemann. He came to Pittsburgh with his family as a child and matriculated at the University of Pittsburgh Law School, after preliminary work at Notre Dame. He was admitted to the Allegheny County bar in July, 1919. He married Eleanor C. Hackwelder in June, 1924. His mother, his wife, a three-year-old daughter, Jean Rose, and two sisters, Mrs. T. J. O'Brien and Helen C. Engemann, both of Pittsburgh, survive him. Burial will be Saturday morning from the Church of Assumption, Bellevue.

William J. Kane

Funeral services will be held today for William J. Kane, a life-long resident of Pittsburgh, who died Wednesday in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Leon Weisman, 615 Griffin street, Mt. Washington. The services will be in St. Justina Catholic Church and burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery. He leaves his wife, a son and three daughters.

Mrs. Hettie B. Bausman

ROCHESTER, Pa., Feb. 8.—Mrs. Hettie B. Bausman, 72, widow of the Rev. Dr. Joseph H. Bausman, died last night at her home, 439 Delaware avenue, of cerebral hemorrhage. She leaves three daughters, Mrs. O. P. McDaniel, Mrs. Charles R. Knowles and Mrs. William Frank, all of Rochester.

W. Keith Orris

CUMBERLAND, Md., Feb. 8.—W. Keith Orris, 36, prominent business man of the South End, died at Western Maryland Hospital after a brief illness. Mr. Orris was a member of the Republican State Central Committe for Allegany County. He was a Mason and a Shriner. His widow and daughter survive.

William A. Smith

George E. Long

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon for George E. Long, 58, a veteran employe of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, who died Wednesday night in his home, 1231 Franklin avenue, Wilkinsburg. Services will be held at 2:30 o'clock in the St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Wilkinsburg and burial will be in Homewood Cemetery. Mr. Long was born in England and came to this country when a boy. When aged 22, he entered the employ of the Westinghouse Company and remained with that concern until his death. He was for years, foreman of the box shop and later general foreman of the shipping department. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Sarah Paskin Long; two sons and a daughter.

Mrs. Sarah S. Poland

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Feb. 8.—Mrs. Sarah Scott Poland, 92, died at her home in Bristoria, Greene County, yesterday following a short illness. Mrs. Poland was born in Center Township and had spent her entire life in Greene County. Her husband, Edward Poland, died last December at the age of 91. She is survived by two sons, 15 grandchildren, 22 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

John Franklin

NEWARK, O., Feb. 8.—John Franklin, 62, of this city, a retired Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company coal agent, with headquarters in Columbus, O., dropped dead on the street while en route to his home yesterday from apoplexy. He leaves his widow. He was a native of Zanesville.

William McKee

GROVE CITY, Pa., Feb. 8.—William McKee, 69, well-known Bessemer Railroad employe, died at Conneaut, O., following a short illness. He took ill while on duty.

Weather Conditions.

A shallow low has developed over Indiana and is causing light snow in the Ohio valley, the upper lakes and the upper Mississippi valley. A trough extends from this center southeastward to Southern Texas, 29.82 inches, at Corpus Christi, and thence northeastward to another center at El Paso, 29.78. High pressure covers the plains, the northern Rocky Mountains and North Pacific states. East of the Mississippi temperatures have changed but little, while a further fall in temperature occurred in the southern and eastern Plains states and the far Southwest. It is warmer in Montana and Wyoming.

River Conditions.

BUGS BAER Says

THERE WASN'T A WET EYE IN THE HOUSE.

Arthur "Bugs" Baer

THE fight for the $24,000,000 prohibition fund is one of the fiercest combats in the history of civilized antagonism.

It seems that Secretary Mellon is opposed to spending that much money in a five-and-ten cent political store.

We interviewed Secretary Mellon yesterday over a national hook-up of 48 Weejee Boards.

His remarks on prohibition are worth recording for the benefit of future students of the label industry.

"I have been in public life many years, man and boy. And even the boy was a Republican.

"And I want to state that even $24,000,000 will not make a sun parlor out of a damp cellar."

"I am running the United States Treasury. And there is no night bell on the front door.

"I intend to keep the books. And red ink is not my idea of refreshments."

"Yes, sir, my lad, the watch-dog of the treasury is a water spaniel now."

Truer words were never spoken by man or beast.

We have reached a crucial spark in our nation's system of fireless cooking.

If the prohibitionists do not get that $24,000,000, the country is liable to go dry.

The struggle is about even. But expensive. For every saloon closed, the prohibs open up a new office.

Which makes a total of 194 Republicans.

The next bill before the House will be a request for $56,000,000 worth of blotting paper to stuff up Niagara Falls.

TOT CRIES FOR PAPA FRISBY!

Wife Confident Congressman Will Attain Hidden Goal.

WASHINGTON—While Congressman Frisby walks the streets to establish a non-stop record, Mrs. Frisby and her tiny tot sit on the bed, confident that "Daddy" will soon have another feather in his cap.

On the first night, when Mr. Frisby did not return home, Mrs. Frisby was a little confused. Then the neighbors kindly explained the purpose of his protracted absence.

"Isn't that just like him!" laughed Mrs. Frisby. "Always on the go for something bigger and better. Never thinking of himself and loved ones. I hope he succeeds. And he will, too, if he just keeps walking. But I wish he would tell me when he's going to be away all night. I always worry when I don't know exactly when he'll get home."

Strong Support Is Seen For Liberal Sunday Bill

Col. A. W. Wykoff, president of the Association for the Modification of the Blue Law of 1794, has received assurance that more than a majority of the members of the Allegheny County delegation in the General Assembly are in favor of the Wettach bill providing for more liberal Sunday observance. The information came from Wilmer M. Jacoby, member of the association sponsoring the bill, as a denial of published statements that only two members of the delegation were in favor of the bill.

Further encouragement for those who demand sensible Sunday law in Pennsylvania has been found by Mr. Jacoby in Philadelphia, where sentiment that indicates support for the reform initiated in Pittsburgh is said to be very strong. The Association looks for endorsement of the Wettach bill to become general as its provisions become more widely understood by the people of the state.

This bill can be passed if the people want it. The association of men and women who give the bill their organized support can be aided by individuals. Our representatives and state senators are your delegates in Harrisburg. They will do as their constituents demand. But they must know what is wanted. We believe the majority of the people in every legislative district in the county favors innocent Sunday amusements and recreation. If that be true, all of the Allegheny delegation in Harrisburg, not a mere majority, should support the Wettach bill. They will do so if you, as an individual, will let your representative know your desire. You and your neighbors, in the aggregate, have a mighty voice.

Make use of it now in your own behalf. Even if you know your representative be for the bill, confirm his conviction by letting him know YOU stand behind him.

All of Us Together Saved Fourteen Kiddies in 1928

We did not kill so many children last year as we did the year previous. That sentence has a harsh sound, as, if our habit were to slay children and that we were making comment in a matter-of-fact way on the score. Of course we do not kill children deliberately. Only accidentally. But the effect in heartbreak and anguish is the same.

So we may take pride, as Mayor Kline does, in the report of the Better Traffic Committee that in 1928 fatalities among children of school age and under were diminished by 14, compared to the previous year. This means that there were 14 less homes—including, perhaps, your own—in which there was not heartbreak and anguish because a little loved one had met death in traffic.

So we really did not kill so many children, and this we regard as an accomplishment. Let us make the record still better this year. It really seems heartless to speak of the prolonging of young life in such material terms "saving" and of the destruction of it as "waste," as if the subject were of economic importance only. Yet aside from love of the child, the tie that makes home life, which is the economic basis of all our existence, the child is our most valuable asset. We know what we are, but who knows what the child will become? In every one of them is a possible future Lincoln, Shakespeare, Edison, Lindbergh.

So let us go on this year educating our children to be careful and to be careful ourselves, especially as our conduct effects the safety of children. If the Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph's "Just Kids" Safety Club has been a contributing cause in the fine result of last year, the editors are pleased, not just because it played a little part, but because the kiddies themselves did their part as well.

A Statue and a Noble Inscription

Europe Should Reproduce It.

Since early days of Christianity, millions of pictures and statues have been made portraying Christ at different periods of His life, from His babyhood in the stable at Bethlehem, with kings bowing before Him, to the last dreadful day on the cross.

Of all statues and pictures made to honor Christ's name, none, perhaps excepting Michael Angelo's "Pieta," is more impressive, more nobly planned, than one Mr. Hoover saw crossing the Andes Mountains from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

Twenty-six years ago two South American countries, Chile and the Argentine Republic, were almost at war because of a boundary dispute.

By good fortune the quarrel was settled by arbitration.

The great sums a war would have cost were used to build roads, including roads over the mountains, and other public works.

And the women of Argentina and Chile raised a large sum to build a collosal statue of Christ on the highest spot on the territory in dispute.

At the base of the statue stands this inscription:

> Sooner shall these mountains crumble into dust than Argentines and Chileans break the peace to which they have pledged themselves at the feet of Christ the Redeemer.

It would have been a fortunate thing for the nations of Europe if they, in 1914, could have imitated the course taken by Chile and the Argentines 12 years earlier.

Arbitration, and a fine statue of "The Prince of Peace," erected on each of the great national boundaries, would have been better than 10,000,000 men killed in war, 8,000,000 killed by influenza born of the war, $250,000,000,000 squandered, hundreds of thousands of children and women half starved and international hatred bitterly increased.

Tales That Are Told

He Knew That!

THE new assistant at the seed shop was having a harassing time. Someone had ordered a packet of potato seeds, and he had spent two hours looking for one, but without success. At last he went and asked the boss about it.

"You idiot!" roared the good man. "Potatoes don't have seeds."

The assistant returned to the counter, feeling a little discomfited. Ten minutes later a customer entered the shop and asked for some bird seed. To his surprise, the assistant leaned over and waggled a finger at him.

"Go on," he said. "I can't be fooled twice. Birds are hatched out of eggs!"

Carried It Out

HAVING been married three years, the couple were quarrelling while waiting for their lunch at rather a modest restaurant.

She was grumbling because he would never take her now to the luxurious restaurants which had been a feature of their honeymoon.

"I never thought I'd be taken to a place like this," she said.

"You can't have a brass band wherever you go," answered her husband angrily.

"Oh, yes I can," snapped his wife. "I've got it with me now—on my finger."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

SOME guys like to make a fuss in a restaurant about the food, and then again in some restaurants you've pretty near got to make a fuss. So I don't know which it was.

But anyhow the guy that made the fuss came in with a big pack slung over his shoulder; a kind of a kit in a leather case.

He ordered his dinner, but he was in a kind of a corner near a window, and he was neglected, while other people got waited on.

After while the manager seen a lot of activity going on by the window, and he come running. This customer had a big camera set up, and a lot of apparatus spread out on the table.

"But what then? This ain't a photograph gallery, is it?"

"No, but you see the plate? I'm a big detective from Scotland Yard, you see. I got the big thumb-prints on the plate all dusted and colored, and I photograph them. There, see, that's the finished photo. Now, you take it and identify the waiter that took my order, and fire him. None of them will admit that they took it, but now you can prove it on him."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

THE older I grow the less use I have for caution.

As a philosophy for white mice it's probably 100 per cent, but if you aim to hang up a record as a Human it certainly cramps your style.

I admit that foresight may at times be necessary and valuable, but, in the main, if you want to put over something big you've got to cast caution to the winds and MAKE WHOOPEE!

I have never forgotten something Fremont Older once said to me. We had been speaking of the rash things he had done in his turbulent, radical career and the good that had somehow come out of it all. Suddenly he said, with a great grin—

"I HAVE NEVER LOOKED BEFORE I LEAPED!"

As a leaper, Fremont Older has had few equals and some of his leaps have yanked the spiritual standards of America along with him. But I am sure he never made any standing jumps—any cool, considered advances. Always, I am sure, he went at things with a rush—full steam ahead—red hot with an uproarious disregard for consequences.

"But didn't he get into a lot of trouble?

Of course he did.

He lost a lot of money rocketing about like that, and many a job—

He was laughed at and hated and reviled—

He was at one time actually kidnaped an scheduled for death—

And he must often have awakened the next morning feeling like 30 cents—

But he went right on leaping before he looked—

Any snail can ooze along, feeling its way, slipping around obstacles, avoiding pitfalls, being safe. And, for a snail, safety is success.

But man must have more than safety if life is to pay. He must somehow feel a touch of the divine fire—

HE MUST FLAME!

And you'll never flame if you hang back thinking of the high cost of blisters.

We call fanatics and geniuses nuts—

We grow impatient with their excited yammering—

But they really have found the secret of life—

They do not live in a fat, cautious contentment. They hear a vast uproar and see a great light and shake with a mighty tide.

Their bodies may live in poverty and pain and ignominy, BUT THEIR SOULS ARE FREE.

They take their chances as recklessly as Christ took His cross—as Socrates took his hemlock—as Joan took her stake. And because they are quite willing to lose their lives, they find them.

If you want to get anything worth while out of this business of life, that's the way to do it.

Laugh—Flame! Leap before you look!

THE ICE AGES

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Though our sphere is billions of years old, is it not a fact that life, with its refinements, etc., is all limited by the Ice Age, 24,000 years ago or so? Does not the creeping of the ice every 24,000 years destroy all life and all that has been produced? How many thousands of times has life been started, developed and put an end to! I can't imagine that life could exist after each complete ice development; therefore present life is limited by the 24,000 years or so since the last conquest of the ice. Please say something about this.—John Jacobson, New York."

IT is a large subject, and one beset with theories, contradictions and incomplete facts. Yet it is irresistibly charming to a mind not satisfied by the attractions of the table and the bed.

As to the limitation of life in its highest aspects to the period elapsed since the last ice invasion, it can only be said that the facts thus far ascertained favor that view. Man seems to have taken an upward start in evolution within the last hundred thousand years that lifted him rapidly above the level of his mammal relations. He developed the beginnings of his wonderful advance during intervals in which there were temporary or partial retreats of the ice. Several different periods are included in the latest known Ice Age, and during the intervals, which we may roughly estimate at about 25,000 years each, man advanced in mechanical skill and art. But the truly marvelous things, as far as we know, have all been done within the last few thousand years.

It does not appear that life was wiped out everywhere by the invasions of the ice. During none of them was anything like the whole earth covered with ice. There must always have been abundant room for refuge for living things if they could only reach it. But the frigid periods were far longer than the open intervals; they acted as brakes on progress, particularly in the case of man. But the mere cold, when not too severe, was stimulating. Those regions of the earth where winter shares the year with summer have always been the stages on which human activity has attained its maximum efficiency. The very ground feels the benefit, and in these regions the grains and fruits are superior while they contain all the great cities.

The ice periods might be likened in their effects upon the planet as a whole to the succession of the seasons as related to the life of a particular time. But we have learned a great deal in recent years about other Ice Ages in the far past. The Ice Age to which I have been referring, although it comprises at least four successive periods, belongs only to the last geologic epoch, that which we may call the present, since it blends directly into the times that saw the glaciers. Its latest period began perhaps 100,000 years ago.

But far back of that, we now know, there were Ice Ages affecting different parts of the earth and leaving their mark in some cases even within what are now the tropical regions of the planet.

Bible Passages

"Thou Art My God"

(Psalm 63)

O GOD, thou art my God; early will I seek thee: my soul thirsteth for thee, my flesh longeth for three in a dry and thirsty land, where no water is;

To see thy power and thy glory, so as I have seen thee in the sanctuary.

Thus I will bless thee while I live: I will lift up my hands in thy name.

My soul shall be satisfied as with marrow and fatness; and my mouth shall praise thee with joyful lips:

When I remember thee upon my bed, and meditate on thee in the night watches.

But those that seek my soul to destroy it, shall go into the lower parts of the earth.

They shall fall by the sword: they shall be a portion for foxes.

But the king shall rejoice in God; every one that sweareth by him shall glory: but the mouth of them that speak lies shall be stopped.

The Little Songs

GREAT songs must have great themes; but oh!
It is so sweet to write
Of homely things all lives would know
Of love and hearth fires bright!

Though sometimes tragic shadows fall,
Their shades are far apart,
While little triumphs come to all,
Fleet joys stir every heart.

Great songs must touch the depths and heights
Of misery and bliss,
But lesser lyrics tell delights
No pilgrim sould would miss.

They tell of childhood's sunny days,
Of mother's lullabies,
Of mysteries that lie always
Within a lover's eyes.

Great songs are for the few who dwell
Amid the world's fierce strife;
But men hold dearest songs that tell
The little joys of life.

The Lobster Trail

By Herbert Kaufman

TRADITION, like a lobster, leads backward.

There are few fixed and inviolate rules—merely memoranda of other men's faulty methods, measures and minds.

The sanest philosophy of each cycle is regulated by its lights—and those lights are always varying.

So long as the earth is subject to unremitting changes, ideas and ideals must be as regularly revised.

Peer ahead. The sunrise is golden with revelation. Hereafter, an inexhaustible bag of secrets.

The potentialities of the future are beyond the estimate of mortal intuition, calculation or logic.

We are still comparative savages—the skull of the last caveman has not yet moldered into dust—the primitive epochs are but a few thousand years behind.

We have learned to employ only a fraction of our instincts. Our senses are semi-somnolent—half numb and dumb—purblindly groping for unattained truths.

Imagination, most venturesome of our powers, is a pulling force feebly flapping on its pin-feather wings.

The greater works of humanity are unplanned—civilization is, at best, served by fumbling brains and stumbling feet.

But we have progressed sufficiently to appreciate the extent of our inefficiencies, and therein lies the promise of betterment.

Inspiration does not root in arid ages.

Most of its monuments have metamorphosed into the tombstones of failures.

As we swing through the orbit of eternity, we slowly but surely find that dreams are the heralds of fact—that hope is not a rainbow, but an arch to span the stars.

And where we now endeavor, confident that we have dared to the limit of courage and intelligence, our children will stand and deride our cowardice and ignorance.

O. O. McINTYRE

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The Brighter London movement has made headway in spots. Regent street, long a sedate and aristocratic thoroughfare, now resembles the back drop of a flashy revue. Landsdowne passage has become a passage instead of a dank and charming mystery. Cinema palaces offer a Paramount gingerbreadiness.

Many of those glamorous old homes so close to the business section with ancient walls of ivy and schools of frail gnats dancing about the hedgerows have given away to fancy fronted shops. And London, I believe, has the most glittering galaxy of motor cars to be found anywhere.

The chauffeurs, too, are the sprucest in their form-fitting great coats with brass buttons, astrakhan collars and velvet caps to match. Each well-turned-out motor also has a liveried footman. There are many new and gaudy hotels and cafes, opened during the year, to add a touch of brilliance.

And the electric sign dazzle at night approaches the effulgence of our own Times Square. The two most popular current plays are Jack Buchanon's "That's a Good Girl" and "Show Boat." The Savoy remains the high spot for tea and Claridge's top role in put-on-the-dog for dinner.

Night clubs play the same hide-and-seek game of Broadway. They are closed one night for violating the liquor regulations and open up the next just around the corner. Although this is the season, few are doing anything like a normal business. Night clubs are picking at the coverlets all over the world.

At tea—you take to it here like a duck to water—today a lone gentleman at a near table featuring a set of Savile Row tweeds, an expansive vowel and a copy of the Tatler was so annoyed by the hilarity of our party the big thus-and-so had the head waiter move him to the other side of the room.

As he passed us he hissed a benediction through elegant buck teeth. There is something about Americans that disturbs the natural English reserve. Still at that there was no particular sense in a gentleman in our party trying to imitate the croak of an Ohio River bullfrog at a London tea—the vulgar person.

There was an unhappy experience trying to purchase theater seats last evening. I approached an antique mahogany desk bearing a brass plate "Theater Reservations" and at which sat a silver haired gentleman of extraordinary dignity. He wore a frock coat and a red carnation rested in his buttonhole.

I explained my wants in a well modulated voice. He merely cleared his throat and glared. Edging closer, I tried again feeling like an American in the Louvre hunting a place to throw an apple core. He turned his back and continued to read. I don't know what was the matter, but I know I could never become his buddy.

But all London is not so uppish. There is a friendly warmth among the so-called middle classes, especially store clerks. They never try to press a sale and appear eager and willing to show you everything. One who did not have an article I desired put on his hat and coat and piloted me three squares away to a rival shop that had it, proffering a cigaret enroute. Chomming pipple!

The well-bred English maid is usually an out door girl. She has a mannish swing and is accompanied everywhere by a Sealyham, wire-haired fox or those tired bloodhounds that somehow suggest the talented Wilton Lackaye. She is a good golfer, adept at tennis and often accompanies her husband on big game shoots in Africa. There are few clinging vines. Complexions, due to the muggy climate, are the worst in the world. But oddly enough the beauty parlor does not thrive. Ladies have learned by long experience there is no help.

England admits no dogs without a six months' quarantine and yet there are the most comical looking canines in the world here—wooly and shaggy with dead button eyes. About as handy knitting as tuning up a kettled rum. I'll still wager a full blown native adenoid that with sufficient yarn I can crochet a better pooch than most of the fluffy specimens hereabouts.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

HAVE you acknowledged the gifts you received this holiday season?

Have you exclaimed with delight at each thoughtful remembrance, and then promptly forgotten to write that little note of thanks which is due?

Of course, your neglect is not intentional.

But the season is full of festivities and in your gay happiness it is easy to let the time slip by without penning the lines to show that you received, enjoyed and appreciated the gifts of a friend.

Perhaps you did take the time to write the more formal notes.

But when it came to the folks back home, you just couldn't manage to get time enough to sit down and write.

You are sure they know how it is with you.

Dad and mother will excuse you.

Brother and sister want you to be popular and it is so hard to be quiet with all the young people around, all the time, in your city home.

So you are sure that they will understand if it takes a month or two for you to get settled down to routine and show your gratefulness. But will they?

The ones nearest and dearest are the ones who most appreciate little kind, thoughtful acts on your part.
